Scramble Is On For 4th Judgeship!

Three Hopefuls Declare; Two Wait In Wings

With a fourth circuit judge for Berrien county approved by the state Senate Thursday and the governor's signature assured, a race to occupy the new place on the bench had three declared candidates today.

And several more possible candidates would have to make up their minds before the June 1 deadline to file petitions for the contest.

Berrien County Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz declared herself in the non-partisan race for the new seat this morning. She joined Berrien District Judge Ronald J. Taylor and Benton Harbor Atty. Yvonne Hughes as declared candidates. Taylor announced his plans to run several weeks ago, provided the judgeship was established, and Attorney Hughes said last week she intends to run.

The bill establishing nine new judgeships in various counties of the state also will give Allegan county and two other counties new district judges. The Senate passed the bill at mid-afternoon Thursday 32-4, after the bill was held "hostage" for a day by Senate Democrats hoping to get enough GOP support for some appropriation bills. The House had approved the bill last week.

Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said late Thursday the judges bill was to be hand-delivered to the governor's office for signature probably this morning. Zollar said Governor Milliken had indicated he had no objections to it. The governor was expected back from out of state sometime this morning.

In addition to the declarations by Taylor, Hughes and Burkholz, at least two other attorneys in the county are reportedly considering getting into the race. Reports have indicated Atty. Donald Dick of Berrien Springs and John Spelman of St. Joseph were turning thoughts of judicial robes over in their minds.

Provided three or more candidates qualify for the contest for the six-year term, there will be a non-partisan runoff in the Aug. 3 primary, with the two top vote-getters going to the Nov. 2 general election.

In addition to the Berrien position, the bill would create new circuit judgeships in Chippewa, Midland, Genesee, Saginaw, Washtenaw, Calhoun, Lenawee and Macomb counties.

The new district judges would go to Allegan, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, and Macomb counties.

Probate Judge Burkholz in announcing her candidacy said she was elected to the probate bench in 1972, and has also served as an acting circuit judge since appointment by the Michigan Supreme Court administrator on Jan. 2, 1974.

Court records show, she said, that she conducted 1,952 judicial hearings in 1975, with 244 of those being circuit court matters. In 1974 she conducted 2,366 judicial hearings, 851 of them circuit court matters. In 1973 she conducted 1,644 judicial hearings. She said these matters involve the full range of criminal type offenses, the full range of family disputes and required application of the same criminal and family law applicable to circuit court.

Prior to ascending the bench, Mrs. Burkholz practiced law for 25 years in Berrien county and was active in civic affairs of the county.

"I believe this involvement, my probate and circuit court bench experience, my proven capacity for work, my demonstrated fairness and impartiality, my professional training and practice, my temperament and my desire to serve uniquely qualify me for a full circuit

Ford Mulls New Ways To Limit School Busing

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, denying that his offensive against court-ordered school busing is connected with upcoming primary elections, is considering ways to use federal money to help school districts avoid extensive busing, administration sources say.

Ford also is considering seeking new legislation as part of "a whole range of approaches" to limit the use of busing as a desegregation tool, according to a White House source.

The source declined to give details on how federal funds could be used to reduce busing ordered by federal courts.

Though officials are reviewing administrative and legislative proposals to curb busing, the first action in the Ford campaign will come on the judicial front if Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides to use the Boston school case as a vehicle for seeking new Supreme Court guidelines on busing.

Levi was to explain his views on government intervention in the Boston case at a meeting with Ford this afternoon. Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said Levi had reached no decision as of late Thursday and that he may not do so until after the session with Ford.

Meeting with a group of visiting reporters from Kentucky on Thursday, Ford suggested the test case could even be made in Louisville, where busing orders led to racial unrest last fall.

Ford's decision to seek alternatives to busing became known as he prepared for a Republican primary campaign in Kentucky where he is considered to be well behind challenger Ronald Reagan in the drive for the state's 37 delegates.

But Ford denied he was scratching for political gains in the Kentucky primary, telling the Kentucky newsmen he had asked Levi and HEW Secretary David Mathews last November "to find a better answer, a better remedy to quality education, because court-ordered forced busing is not the answer."

He said he could have released the information about the possibility of government intervention in a busing case months ago.

"If I had wanted to, for political purposes, I could have gotten the attorney general, perhaps before the Massachusetts primary, to intervene, or he might have decided to intervene prior to the Michigan primary," Ford said.

Ford won a big victory in Michigan's primary and was unopposed in the Massachusetts primary.

The President told the Kentucky visitors he is considering three alternatives to busing, suggested several months ago by the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Ford declined to discuss details, but administration sources said the proposals include both the use of increased federal funds and new legislation strengthening a federal law which requires that busing be imposed only as a last resort.

Ford said Levi had not told him "whether he will or he won't" intervene in a school desegregation case. But Ford suggested to the Kentuckians that "he might do so in Louisville. I don't know."

But Havel said Boston "is the only case being considered right now."

Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis expressed no enthusiasm at the prospect of the Justice Department entering the Boston case, suggesting it would make more sense for Levi to look at school districts just beginning to desegregate.

"Nothing the Justice Department does can affect the opening of schools next September," Dukakis said.

New Buffalo Post To Be Substation

By LARRY MACINTYRE

Staff Writer

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo state police post will become a substation of the Benton Harbor post after June 13, according to present plans for the cutback in services at the New Buffalo post.

A team of one sergeant and nine troopers will remain working out of the New Buffalo post after June 13, but it will no longer take emergency calls nor be open for walk-in traffic, according to its present commander, Lt. Neil Bement.

Phone calls into the post will be transferred to the Benton Harbor post which will dispatch cars 24 hours a day in the New Buffalo area, Lt. Bement said, describing the plans for closing the New Buffalo post.

It was announced Wednesday that the post would be open only from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays after June 13.

Lt. Bement said the post is to be used for office space by the remaining officers, but will not dispatch emergency calls even in the daytime.

He said the six local fire departments which are now dispatched by the New Buffalo post will have to decide for themselves if they want to transfer their lines into the Benton Harbor post.

The six fire departments now dispatched by the New Buffalo post are those of New Buffalo city and township, Chikaming township, Lakeside, Riverside, Three Oaks and Sawyer.

Lt. Bement, who is being transferred to the South Haven post May 30, said there are now 14 troopers at the post, but only 10 are assigned to road patrol.

All nine remaining troopers will be on road patrol, so there will be no significant loss of police protection to the area, Lt. Bement said.

He said the change-over is

Closing of the post is one of several "belt-tightening" measures being undertaken by the state police to comply with required budget cuts.

The governing boards of the city and township of New Buf-

Mayor Carol Bond of New Buffalo said this morning she was still attempting to set up a meeting with state police officials to discuss the closing.

Police Have No New Leads In Shooting

HARTFORD — Police said this morning they have no new information on the shotgun slaying of an 11-year-old Bangor girl here Wednesday night.

The child, Lady Day Hughes, 411 Cass street, Bangor, was struck in the head by a shotgun blast as she stepped between her brother, Roosevelt Sutton, 101 East Linden, Hartford, and a man pointing the gun at him. The assailant, described by police only as a white male and about six foot tall, fled the Sutton home.

Police said they were told he had threatened Sutton before the girl stepped into the line of fire.

Police say they know of no motive for the threat on Sutton's life and the slaying of the child.

Officer's Hearing To Continue

By NICK SMITH

Staff Writer

The preliminary examination of a Niles police captain indicted by the Berrien citizens' grand jury was adjourned yesterday after seven witnesses testified in Berrien Fifth District court.

The examination of Det. Capt. Paul Winquist, 48, charged with receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100 and perjury before the grand jury, will continue June 8.

According to the indictment, Winquist is charged with receiving and concealing a Royal manual typewriter allegedly "taken from" the property room of the Niles police department during the first week of March. The perjury charge involves answers he allegedly gave to grand jury questions on March 18 concerning the typewriter.

Testimony yesterday revolved around a typewriter that was Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger's first exhibit.

Elizabeth Winquist, of Niles, the policeman's daughter-in-law, testified that she and her husband borrowed a typewriter, similar to the one introduced as evidence, from Det. Capt. Winquist. They first borrowed it in 1972 and used it to type tax returns, she testified.

The defendant's son, Timothy H. Winquist, 24, testified that he returned the borrowed machine to Det. Capt. Winquist in late February of this year.

James Leonard, a Berrien sheriff's detective, told the court that he first saw the exhibit typewriter on March 24, when he took a grand jury subpoena to the Niles police department and picked up the machine.

The origin of the typewriter in evidence was not mentioned during the preliminary examination.

An expert witness from the Michigan State Police crime laboratory in Holland testified that papers provided by Elizabeth Winquist had apparently been typed by the machine in evidence. The characters "J," "P," "T" and "U" were apparently identical on the machine and papers, Det. Robert Kullman testified.

Elizabeth Winquist had told the court that the papers — duplicate tax returns and a 4-11 membership list — were typed on the machine borrowed from the indicted policeman.

Schillinger told District Judge William Buhl, visiting on the bench from Van Buren, that he will call three more witnesses in the case against Winquist, a 19-year veteran of the Niles police force.

Winquist during the hearing was represented by Atty. Daniel French of Cassopolis.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Elderly Often Get Little Understanding

"On Feb. 11, 1974, Frank Tugend, age 81, removed his false teeth and announced that he was no longer going to eat or drink. Three weeks later, to the day, he died." That quotation is from a book titled Grump, by Mark and Daniel Jury, in which they recount the final days of their grandfather's life. It is the story of an old Pennsylvania coal miner who invents a fantasy world of friends, who adopts bizarre dressing habits and who, in the end, loses control of almost everything, including his bowels. The narrative is startling and should provoke many questions about the subject of senility.

If gerontologist Robert N. Butler had his way, the term "senility" would be permanently expunged from the language and replaced with the broader phrase — "emotional and mental disorders in old age." According to Butler, in his Pulitzer Prize-winning book, Why Survive? Being Old in America, about half of all mental disorders among the elderly are caused by irreversible brain damage, such as cerebral arteriosclerosis. But many other cases are prompted by emotional problems of physical ailments that go unrecognized and untreated. "It is all too easy to blame age and brain damage when accounting for the mental problems and emotional concerns of later life," Butler wrote.

The elderly population experiences more emotional stress than any other age group. Often they must endure a conglomeration of problems at once — the loss of a spouse, the loss of a job, and a deterioration of bodily functions. While males aged 85 and over have the highest suicide rate in the United States.

The elderly are in need of good mental health care, just like everyone else, but often they are hard pressed to find it. "Because medical schools do not prepare physicians to treat elderly patients... too many doctors approach this group with faulty skills and an unreadiness to handle their problems," Michael B. Miller, medical director of a nursing home in White Plains, N.Y., has written. Physicians seem to be growing more aware of the problem, however, and the mental health of the aged is scheduled to be discussed at an Anglo-American conference on "Care of the Elderly" in Washington, D.C., May 17-19. Perhaps a greater understanding of the plight of the elderly will be forthcoming.

If A Democrat Wins, Oil Firms May Shrink

Fortune magazine, in publishing its latest annual rankings of the 500 biggest U.S. corporations, comments somewhat ruefully that the oil industry's "unconcealable bigness" becomes an "irresistible invitation to dismemberment." Oil companies, Fortune notes, "dominate the very highest reaches of American industry," constituting five of the country's largest business concern and eight of the top fifteen.

In the first place among all industrial companies in 1975, far outdistancing runner-up General Motors, was Exxon with $44.8-billion in sales, $32.8-billion in assets and $2.5-billion in net profits. Texaco moved into third place, displacing the Ford Motor Co., while Mobil followed in fifth, Standard Oil of California sixth, and Gulf eighth, just behind International Business Machines (IBM).

Interestingly, three of the oil companies just mentioned — Exxon, Mobil and Socal — are among the offspring of the Supreme Court's 1911 decision breaking up John D. Rockefeller's original Standard Oil Co. Strictly in dollar terms, all three are bigger than was the parent company at the time of the breakup.

Today, 65 years later, there is another move to break up Big Oil. This time it arises in Congress. Senate Bill 2387 seeks to compel 18 leading companies — any that produces more than 1.4 per cent of the nation's crude oil — to divest themselves of refining, marketing and pipeline interests. The reasoning is that a "vertically integrated" company — one that engages in all phases of business from production to retailing — is monopolistic if it is of sufficient size.

The industry answers that the sales of no company account for as much as 10 per cent of any phase of the oil business — in contrast to Standard Oil's 90 per cent control back in 1911. M. A. Adelman, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology who writes about oil economics, tends to agree. He says that even in refining where the concentration of ownership is greatest, the top four companies make only one-third of the sales — about on par with the average for all manufacturing.

Congressional foes of the oil industry argue that such figures disguise the suppression of competition. They say the major oil companies manage to keep most of the crude oil supply among themselves, making the independent refiners and retailers beholden to the majors and unable to engage them in real price competition.

The argument carried sufficient weight in the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee for it to approve the divestiture bill on April 1. The parent Judiciary Committee has agreed to act on the bill by June 15, sending it to the Senate floor or killing it. In a Senate vote last fall, a similar measure lost by the surprisingly narrow margin of 54 to 45.

Quite likely some of the 45 votes reflected a desire to appease anti-oil sentiment back home rather than any real intent to bring about divestiture. But the oil companies have indicated they feel anything but complacent in this election year. Democratic presidential candidates Henry M. Jackson and Morris K. Udall — along with Hubert H. Humphrey — have endorsed the bill while Jimmy Carter has said he favors some aspects of divestiture. President Ford, on the other hand, has said he would veto a divestiture bill.

AMERICANS UNAWARE OF COMMITMENTS

Editor,

Most of the people of the United States have been kept blissfully unaware of the fact that our policy makers have committed us to a phased unilateral disarmament program. Most of the people of the United States depend too heavily upon distorted, heavily biased news coverage such as the TV networks, and have been kept in the dark about the fact that we have held our defense forces down while permitting the Soviets to greatly expand their strike forces.

When our government signed the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty with Russia (under the guidance of Dr. Kissinger) we made an agreement not to defend our civilian population. Thanks to the ostentatious head-in-sand euphoria generated by "Detente" our anti-ballistic missile defenses have been almost entirely shut down. The military balance has been changed so much that Dr. Malcolm Currie, director of Department of Defense research and engineering said on Feb. 19, 1976 "One way to grasp our relative capabilities is to note that by 1977 the Soviets could theoretically initiate a strike against the U.S. absorb a U.S. counterforce response, and then still have sufficient forces to attack Chinese and NATO nuclear capability, attack U.S. population and military targets and then still have a remaining throw weight larger than ours."

In mid 1975 the USSR had 1300 intercontinental ballistic missiles to our 1054. They had 805 sub launched ballistic missiles as compared to our 950. They had 825 strategic and medium bombers as compared to our 421. In addition it should be added that most of our bomber force is the 25-year-old B-52, in addition to this the Russian navy has grown to some 550 new combat ships while our fleet has declined to some 300 mostly older ships. The Russians today have some 42,000 tanks and we have about 9000. The only thing in which we outnumber them is in helicopters.

Three successive administrations in this country have bargained and negotiated and talked with the Russians while our defense force was allowed to remain at a stable or declining force. Theoretically we were doing this to keep good faith with the Communists. But they laugh behind backs at "good faith". They have always said that treaties were like pie crusts — to be broken. We have talked about building bridges of peace. All we have done is strengthen the enemies of freedom. Asia is gone and Africa will be next, and what will we do when we are all alone in the world — with no friends to stand and fight beside us?

Three Benton Harbor business firms sustained heavy damage last night when fire hit a two-story brick building at 720-724 East Main street. All Benton Harbor equipment and available personnel fought the stubborn blaze detected at 7:56 p.m. in the building occupied by Paxson Advertising, Inc., R.A. Benton Harbor's traffic signal light system was out of order this morning for the first time since it was installed two years ago. A trolley wire, carrying 500 volts of electricity, fell when the guy wire supporting it was broken in the strong wind at 7 o'clock this morning. The trolley fell across the line to the traffic lights, burning out the fuses and fuse block.

The annual sales campaign of the Benton Harbor high school annual, "The Greyfriar," started this morning. Contests are being held between the four classes, the winning class to get a pennant, in its class colors. This year's annual will sell for $1.50, if purchased during the campaign.

Persons who have not visited Higman's Michigan park since last fall will not know the place when they make a trip to what has long been known as L.L. gap. First Momma Finds Someone To Talk To WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — When "First Momma" Betty Ford tried out her new Citizens Band radio last month in Texas, she had trouble finding someone to talk to. Her problems could be over.

The "First Lady's" name is on the exchange list of the Evergreen QSL (Quick, Send Letter) Club.

Club president Dana Bowen said he's "in seventh heaven" since he and his wife, Lenna, got a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ford for extending her an honorary membership in the 600-member CB group. The club swaps call-letter cards containing the air names of "handlers" of the members.

Military Violates Women's Rights

WASHINGTON — The Army, Navy and Marine Corps officials — and flagrantly discriminate against women in their enlistment practices.

Only the Air Force admits women recruits on an equal qualifying basis with men.

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, saying, "I want to be certain discrimination does not exist," recently ordered Army Secretary Martin Hoffman and Navy Secretary J. William Middendorf to review the standards for recruiting. But resistance to equalizing the treatment of men and women in the male-dominated military is strong.

Last year, Congress eliminated differences in the minimum age for enlistment of men and women in the armed forces and required that all military academies open their doors to women. Sex discrimination in employment practices in the private sector has been illegal since 1964 and, although the law does not specifically embrace the Federal government, it is clear the government, including the military, has an obligation to set strict standards for equal opportunity.

Yet the three military services have official regulations which require that women cannot enlist without graduating from high school, although men can do so. In addition, they impose higher "mental requirement" criteria on women than on men.

The Army, for instance, requires women recruits to achieve written test scores up to 40 points higher than men on equivalent written tests and women may not qualify by supplementary testing criteria, although men can do so (contained in Army regulation 601-210).

On Feb. 10, Sen. Birch Bayh (D, Ind.) introduced a bill to require the qualifications for enlistment in the armed forces be the same for males and females. He protested the double standard and noted that over 35 per cent of the Army's male non-prior service enlistees this year had not obtained a high school degree, as required of women.

On Feb. 26, this columnist asked Rumsfeld during an interview in his office if he would order enlistment discrimination stopped. He replied that he didn't think there was any such discrimination and challenged me to prove it.

I sent a copy of the relevant Army regulations to Assistant Secretary William Greener, who responded with alacrity. "I think it's wrong," he said, and promised to try to do something about it.

It turned out to be a difficult task. The Pentagon's Manpower and Reserve Affairs section offered up a selection of bureaucratic excuses. Officials said the regulations weren't really regulations, but merely guidelines. They said there was no official policy, despite their own written regulations, but merely a question of supply and demand. They got so many more higher-qualified women than men that they could impose higher standards upon them.

One official even volunteered that a court case had upheld the differing requirements, but he was conveniently unable to remember the name of the plaintiffs.

With a fourth circuit judge for Berrien county approved by the state Senate Thursday and the governor's signature assured, a race to occupy the new place on the bench had three declared candidates today.

And several more possible candidates would have to make up their minds before the June 1 deadline to file petitions for the contest.

Berrien County Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz declared herself in the non-partisan race for the new seat this morning. She joined Berrien District Judge Ronald J. Taylor and Benton Harbor Atty. Yvonne Hughes as declared candidates. Taylor announced his plans to run several weeks ago, provided the judgeship was established, and Attorney Hughes said last week she intends to run.

The bill establishing nine new judgeships in various counties of the state also will give Allegan county and two other counties new district judges. The Senate passed the bill at mid-afternoon Thursday 32-4, after the bill was held "hostage" for a day by Senate Democrats hoping to get enough GOP support for some appropriation bills. The House had approved the bill last week.

Sen. Charles Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said late Thursday the judges bill was to be hand-delivered to the governor's office for signature probably this morning. Zollar said Governor Milliken had indicated he had no objections to it. The governor was expected back from out of state sometime this morning.

In addition to the declarations by Taylor, Hughes and Burkholz, at least two other attorneys in the county are reported considering getting into the race. Reports have indicated Atty. Donald Dick of Berrien Springs and John Spelman of St. Joseph were turning thoughts of judicial robes over in their minds.

Provided three or more candidates qualify for the contest for the six-year term, there will be a non-partisan runoff in the Aug. 3 primary, with the two top vote-getters going to the Nov. 2 general election.

In addition to the Berrien position, the bill would create new circuit judgeships in Chippewa, Midland, Genesee, Saginaw, Washtenaw, Calhoun, Lenawee and Mecosta-Oshtemo counties.

The new district judges would go to Allegan, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, and Macomb counties.

Probate Judge Burkholz in announcing her candidacy said she was elected to the probate bench in 1972, and has also served as an acting circuit judge since appointment by the Michigan Supreme Court administrator on Jan. 2, 1974.

Court records show, she said, that she conducted 1,982 judicial hearings in 1975, with 244 of those being circuit court matters. In 1974 she conducted 2,366 judicial hearings, 851 of them circuit court matters. In 1973 she conducted 1,644 judicial hearings. She said these matters involve the full range of criminal type offenses, the full range of family disputes and required application of the same criminal and family law applicable to circuit court.

Prior to ascending the bench, Mrs. Burkholz practiced law for 25 years in Berrien county and was active in civic affairs of the county.

Ford Mulls New Ways To Limit School Busing

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, denying that his offensive against court-ordered school busing is connected with upcoming primary elections, is considering ways to use federal money to help school districts avoid extensive busing, administration sources say.

Ford also is considering seeking new legislation as part of "a whole range of approaches" to limit the use of busing as a desegregation tool, according to a White House source.

The source declined to give details on how federal funds could be used to reduce busing ordered by federal courts.

Though officials are reviewing administrative and legislative proposals to curb busing, the first action in the Ford campaign will come on the judicial front if Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides to use the Boston school case as a vehicle for seeking new Supreme Court guidelines on busing.

Levi was to explain his views on government intervention in the Boston case at a meeting with Ford this afternoon. Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said Levi had reached no decision as of late Thursday and that he may not do so until after the session with Ford.

Meeting with a group of visiting reporters from Kentucky on Thursday, Ford suggested the test case could even be made in Louisville, where busing orders led to racial unrest last fall.

Ford's decision to seek alternatives to busing became known as he prepared for a Republican primary campaign in Kentucky where he is considered to be well behind challenger Ronald Reagan in the drive for the state's 37 delegates.

But Ford denied he was scratching for political gains in the Kentucky primary, telling the Kentucky newsmen he had asked Levi and HEW Secretary David Mathews last November "to find a better answer, a better remedy to quality education, because court-ordered forced busing is not the answer."

He said he could have released the information about the possibility of government intervention in a busing case months ago.

"If I had wanted to, for political purposes, I could have gotten the attorney general, perhaps before the Massachusetts primary, to intervene, or he might have decided to intervene prior to the Michigan primary," Ford said.

Ford won a big victory in Michigan's primary and was unopposed in the Massachusetts primary.

The President told the Kentucky visitors he is considering three alternatives to busing, suggested several months ago by the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Ford declined to discuss details, but administration sources said the proposals include both the use of increased federal funds and new legislation strengthening a federal law which requires that busing be imposed only as a last resort.

Ford said Levi had not told him "whether he will or he won't" intervene in a school desegregation case. But Ford suggested to the Kentuckians that "he might do so in Louisville, I don't know."

But Havel said Boston "is the only case being considered right now."

Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis expressed no enthusiasm at the prospect of the Justice Department entering the Boston case, suggesting it would make more sense for Levi to look at school districts just beginning to desegregate.

"Nothing the Justice Department does can affect the opening of schools next September," Dukakis said.

Officer's Hearing To Continue

By NICK SMITH

The preliminary examination of a Niles police captain indicted by the Berrien citizens' grand jury was adjourned yesterday after seven witnesses testified in Berrien Fifth District court.

The examination of Det. Capt. Paul Winquist, 48, charged with receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100 and perjury before the grand jury, will continue June 8.

According to the indictment, Winquist is charged with receiving and concealing a Royal manual typewriter allegedly taken from the property room of the Niles police department during the first week of March. The perjury charge involves answers he allegedly gave to grand jury questions on March 18 concerning the typewriter.

Testimony yesterday revolved around a typewriter that was Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger's first exhibit.

Elizabeth Winquist, of Niles, the policeman's daughter-in-law, testified that she and her husband borrowed a typewriter, similar to the one introduced as evidence, from Det. Capt. Winquist. They first borrowed it in 1972 and used it to type tax returns, she testified.

The defendant's son, Timothy H. Winquist, 24, testified that he returned the borrowed machine to Det. Capt. Winquist in late February of this year.

James Leonard, a Berrien sheriff's detective, told the court that he first saw the exhibit typewriter on March 24, when he took a grand jury subpoena to the Niles police department and picked up the machine.

The origin of the typewriter in evidence was not mentioned during the preliminary examination.

An expert witness from the Michigan State Police crime laboratory in Holland testified that papers provided by Elizabeth Winquist had apparently been typed by the machine in evidence. The characters "3," "r," "t" and "u" were apparently identical on the machine and papers, Det. Robert Kullman testified.

Elizabeth Winquist had told the court that the papers — duplicate tax returns and a 4-H membership list — were typed on the machine borrowed from the indicted policeman.

Schillinger told District Judge William Buhl, visiting on the bench from Van Buren, that he will call three more witnesses in the case against Winquist, a 19-year veteran of the Niles police force.

Winquist during the hearing was represented by Atty. Daniel French of Cassopolis.

New Buffalo Post To Be Substation

By LARRY MacINTYRE

Staff Writer

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo state police post will become a substation of the Benton Harbor post after June 13, according to present plans for the cutback in services at the New Buffalo post.

A team of one sergeant and nine troopers will remain working out of the New Buffalo post after June 13, but it will no longer take emergency calls nor be open for walk-in traffic, according to its present commander, Lt. Neil Bement.

Phone calls into the post will be transferred to the Benton Harbor post which will dispatch cars 24 hours a day in the New Buffalo area, Lt. Bement said, describing the plans for closing the New Buffalo post.

It was announced Wednesday that the post would be open only from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays after June 13.

Lt. Bement said the post is to be used for office space by the remaining officers, but will not dispatch emergency calls even in the daytime.

He said the six local fire departments which are now dispatched by the New Buffalo post will have to decide for themselves if they want to transfer their lines into the Benton Harbor post.

The six fire departments now dispatched by the New Buffalo post are those of New Buffalo city and township, Clikaming township, Lakeside, Riverside, Three Oaks and Sawyer.

Lt. Bement, who is being transferred to the South Haven post May 30, said there are now 13 troopers at the post, but only 10 are assigned to road patrol.

All nine remaining troopers will be on road patrol, so there will be no significant loss of police protection to the area, Lt. Bement said.

He said the change-over is being planned so there will be no interruption of service.

Closing of the post is one of several "belt-tightening" measures being undertaken by the state police to comply with required budget cuts.

The governing boards of the city and township of New Buffalo, village of Three Oaks and Clikaming township have gone on record opposing the shut-down.

Mayor Carol Bond of New Buffalo said this morning she was still attempting to set up a meeting with state police officials to discuss the closing.

Police Have No New Leads In Shooting

HARTFORD — Police said this morning they have no new information on the shotgun slaying of an 11-year-old Bangor girl here Wednesday night.

The child, Lady Day Hughes, 411 Cass street, Bangor, was struck in the head by a shotgun blast as she stepped between her brother, Roosevelt Sutton, 101 East Linden, Hartford, and a man pointing the gun at him.

The assailant, described by police only as a white male and about six foot tall, fled the Sutton home.

Police said they were told he had threatened Sutton before the girl stepped into the line of fire.

Police say they know of no motive for the threat on Sutton's life and the slaying of the child.

BH Asks 'What's A Quorum?'

Benton Harbor City Manager James Peoples Jr. said this morning he was trying to obtain a fast opinion from the attorney general on what actions the city commission may take, now that four seats have been declared officially vacant.

The Berrien county board of canvassers Thursday certified the results of Tuesday's election, confirming that Charles F. Joseph has been recalled as mayor and three other seats vacated by recall.

That leaves five city commissioners which the city charter says constitutes a quorum.

Peoples said he wants to know what happens if one commissioner is absent at a regular meeting, leaving only four.

"I want to know just what a quorum is," Peoples said. "Is it five of the regular membership of nine, or is it a majority of the commissioners left after recall?"

Peoples said this morning he would ask help from State Rep. Ray Mitten (R-Niles) to attempt to get an immediate opinion from the attorney general. Opinions from the attorney general sometimes take months.

If the commission lacks a quorum at Monday's meeting, Peoples said bills and payroll could still be met by his office. But, "I wouldn't pay anything over which there could be a question."

Peoples said he intends to hold a "workshop" with remaining commissioners before Monday's regular meeting. He said this morning he had been able to notify all remaining commissioners except Mrs. Helen Ford.

Benjamin Logan, of Grand Rapids, one of two lawyers retained by Benton Harbor as city attorneys, was asked by The Herald-Palladium if three or five commissioners now constitute a forum. "That definitely would be a question," Logan replied and said he would look it up. Vacant commission seats are to be filled by appointment until an election is held to fill the balance of the unexpired terms of the recalled commissioners. The temporary appointments could be made by either remaining commissioners or the governor, depending whether remaining commissioners have the power.

A meeting of the former city commission of nine members had been called by Joseph as mayor for Wednesday evening, but Peoples said that was called off by Joseph.

The recall in Benton Harbor was canvassed by the Berrien county board of canvassers instead of the city board of canvassers. Berrien county Clerk Forrest Kesterke explained a recent change in law provides that recalls at any level below the county must be canvassed by the county board.

The change was made for recall elections because boards of canvassers are appointed by officials who could be recalled.

The board's canvass of Tuesday's election showed no change in the vote total from unofficial returns. Recalled were Joseph and former Commissioners Barbara Huckaby, Charles Shepherd, and Winston Minott. The official canvass also showed Alfred Williams survived the recall and retains his seat.

The county board's certification showed Joseph was recalled by a vote of 1,171 to 833; Mrs. Huckaby 1,123 to 646; Shepherd 220 to 128; and Minott 420 to 270. Williams retained his seat with 110 votes for recall and 169 against.

Recall Group Will Continue To Work

Maurice Bishop, leader of a successful recall campaign which unseated Charles Joseph as mayor of Benton Harbor and three city commissioners, has pledged to keep the committee working "for the betterment of the city."

Bishop, in a letter to this newspaper which thanked citizens for their support of the recall campaign, stressed that "our job in Benton Harbor has just started" and "we must select some good commissioners and a mayor" and "support city hall."

Joseph was ousted in Tuesday's recall election, along with former Commissioners Winston Minott, Barbara Huckaby, and Charles Shepherd.

The complete text of Bishop's letter follows.

Citizens,

We, the recall committee found it necessary to send thanks to everyone that was involved on May 18. I would like to personally state I've never had the opportunity to work with a finer group of people than I have had with the recall committee and I'd like to say thanks again.

Our job in Benton Harbor has just started, we must select some good commissioners and a mayor. We all must support city hall and work together. We must have some short range goals and many long range goals in order to rebuild our city.

There must be a way to put our policemen and firemen back on the job. There's one other thing—I urge everyone who has a senior citizen living next door to them to watch their home and check on them each day to see if everything is okay.

The recall committee has decided to keep working together for the betterment of the city. So we urge everyone to become conscious of their responsibility and join with us on a united front.

We will not meet next week, our next meeting will be announced. Again, our most sincere thanks. (Signed) Maurice Bishop, recall chairman.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Elderly Often Get Little Understanding

"On Feb. 11, 1974, Frank Tugend, age 81, removed his false teeth and announced that he was no longer going to eat or drink. Three weeks later, to the day, he died." That quotation is from a book titled Gramp, by Mark and Daniel Jury, in which they recount the final days of their grandfather's life. It is the story of an old Pennsylvania coal miner who invents a fantasy world of friends, who adopts bizarre dressing habits and who, in the end, loses control of almost everything, including his bowels. The narrative is startling and should provoke many questions about the subject of senility.

If gerontologist Robert N. Butler had his way, the term "senility" would be permanently expunged from the language and replaced with the broader phrase — "emotional and mental disorders in old age." According to Butler, in his Pulitzer Prize-winning book, Why Survive? Being Old in America, about half of all mental disorders among the elderly are caused by irreversible brain damage, such as cerebral arteriosclerosis. But many other cases are prompted by emotional problems of physical ailments that go unrecognized and untreated. "It is all too easy to blame age and brain damage when accounting for the mental problems and emotional concerns of later life," Butler wrote.

The elderly population experiences more emotional stress than any other age group. Often they must endure a conglomeration of problems at once — the loss of a spouse, the loss of a job, and a deterioration of bodily functions. White males aged 85 and over have the highest suicide rate in the United States.

The elderly are in need of good mental health care, just like everyone else, but often they are hard pressed to find it. "Because medical schools do not prepare physicians to treat elderly patients...too many doctors approach this group with faulty skills and an unreadiness to handle their problems," Michael B. Miller, medical director of a nursing home in White Plains, N.Y., has written. Physicians seem to be growing more aware of the problem, however, and the mental health of the aged is scheduled to be discussed at an Anglo-American conference on "Care of the Elderly" in Washington, D.C., May 17-19. Perhaps a greater understanding of the plight of the elderly will be forthcoming.

If A Democrat Wins, Oil Firms May Shrink

Fortune magazine, in publishing its latest annual rankings of the 500 biggest U.S. corporations, comments somewhat ruefully that the oil industry's "unconcealable bigness" becomes an "irresistible invitation to dismemberment." Oil companies, Fortune notes, "dominate the very highest reaches of American industry," constituting five of the country's largest business concern and eight of the top fifteen.

In the first place among all industrial companies in 1975, far outdistancing runner-up General Motors, was Exxon with $44.8-billion in sales, $32.8-billion in assets and $2.5-billion in net profits. Texaco moved into third place, displacing the Ford Motor Co., while Mobil followed in fifth, Standard Oil of California sixth, and Gulf eighth, just behind International Business Machines (IBM).

Interestingly, three of the oil companies just mentioned — Exxon, Mobil and Socal — are among the offspring of the Supreme Court's 1911 decision breaking up John D. Rockefeller's original Standard Oil Co. Strictly in dollar terms, all three are bigger than was the parent company at the time of the breakup.

Today, 65 years later, there is another move to break up Big Oil. This time it arises in Congress. Senate Bill 2387 seeks to compel 18 leading companies — any that produces more than 1.4 per cent of the nation's crude oil — to divest themselves of refining, marketing and pipeline interests. The reasoning is that a "vertically integrated" company — one that engages in all phases of business from production to retailing — is monopolistic if it is of sufficient size.

The industry answers that the sales of no company account for as much as 10 per cent of any phase of the oil business — in contrast to Standard Oil's 90 per cent control back in 1911. M. A. Adelman, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology who writes about oil economics, tends to agree. He says that even in refining where the concentration of ownership is greatest, the top four companies make only one-third of the sales — about on par with the average for all manufacturing.

Congressional foes of the oil industry argue that such figures disguise the suppression of competition. They say the major oil companies manage to keep most of the crude oil supply among themselves, making the independent refiners and retailers beholden to the majors and unable to engage them in real price competition.

The argument carried sufficient weight in the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee for it to approve the divestiture bill on April 1. The parent Judiciary Committee has agreed to act on the bill by June 15, sending it to the Senate floor or killing it. In a Senate vote last fall, a similar measure lost by the surprisingly narrow margin of 54 to 45.

Quite likely some of the 45 votes reflected a desire to appease anti-oil sentiment back home rather than any real intent to bring about divestiture. But the oil companies have indicated they feel anything but complacent in this election year. Democratic presidential candidates Henry M. Jackson and Morris K. Udall — along with Hubert H. Humphrey — have endorsed the bill while Jimmy Carter has said he favors some aspects of divestiture. President Ford, on the other hand, has said he would veto a divestiture bill.

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

AMERICANS UNAWARE OF COMMITMENTS

Editor, Most of the people of the United States have been kept blissfully unaware of the fact that our policy makers have committed us to a phased unilateral disarmament program. Most of the people of the United States depend too heavily upon distorted, heavily biased news coverage such as the TV networks, and have been kept in the dark about the fact that we have held our defense forces down while permitting the Soviets to greatly expand their strike forces.

When our government signed the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty with Russia (under the guidance of Dr. Kissinger) we made an agreement not to defend our civilian population. Thanks to the ostrich head-in-sand euphoria generated by "Detente" our anti-ballistic missile defenses have been almost entirely shut down. The military balance has been changed so much that Dr. Malcolm Currie, director of Department of Defense research and engineering said on Feb. 19, 1976 "One way to grasp our relative capabilities is to note that by 1977 the Soviets could theoretically initiate a strike against the U.S., absorb a U.S. counterforce response, and then still have sufficient forces to attack Chinese and NATO nuclear capability, attack U.S. population and military targets and then still have a remaining throw weight larger than ours."

In mid 1975 the USSR had 1500 intercontinental ballistic missiles to our 1054. They had 865 sub launched ballistic missiles as compared to our 656. They had 825 strategic and medium bombers as compared to our 421. In addition it should be added that most of our bomber force is the 25-year-old B-52. In addition to this the Russian navy has grown to some 550 new combat ships while our fleet has declined to some 300 mostly older ships. The Russians today have some 42,000 tanks and we have about 9000. The only thing in which we outnumber them is in helicopters.

Three successive administrations in this country have bargained and negotiated and talked with the Russians while our defense force was allowed to remain at a stable or declining force. Theoretically we were doing this to keep good faith with the Communists. But they laugh behind backs at "good faith". They have always said that treaties were like pie crusts — to be broken. We have talked about building bridges of peace. All we have done is strengthen the enemies of freedom. Asia is gone and Africa will be next, and what will we do when we are all alone in the world — with no friends to stand and fight beside us?

Three Benton Harbor business firms sustained heavy damage last night when fire hit a two-story brick building at 720-724 East Main street. All Benton Harbor equipment and available personnel fought the stubborn blaze detected at 7:56 p.m. in the building occupied by Paxson Advertising, Inc., R.A. Mort Plumbing Supplies and Twin City Printers. The brick building was left standing but its contents were severely damaged by fire, water and smoke.

Benton Harbor's traffic signal light system was out of order this morning for the first time since it was installed two years ago. A trolley wire, carrying 550 volts of electricity, fell when the guy wire supporting it was broken in the strong wind at 7 o'clock this morning. The trolley fell across the line to the traffic lights, burning out the fuses and fuse block.

The annual sales campaign of the Benton Harbor high school annual, "The Greybriar," started this morning. Contests are being held between the four classes, the winning class to get a pennant, in its class colors. This year's annual will sell for $1.50, if purchased during the campaign.

Persons who have not visited Hignman's Michigan park since last fall will not know the place when they make a trip to what has long been known as LL gap. Streets over and under and about the many wooded mounds have been laid out and improved and before the summer is over it is predicted that the drives through the new park will be rival to the far-famed Lake Shore drive in St. Joseph which has long been the popular place for driving.

The First Lady's name is on the exchange list of the Evergreen QSL (Quick, Send Letter) Club.

Club president Dana Bowen said he's "in seventh heaven" since he and his wife, Leona, got a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ford for extending her an honorary membership in the 600-member CB group. The club swaps call-letter cards containing the air names or "handles" of the members.

Mount Weather And Politics

BLUEMONT, VA. — None of the presidential candidates has yet visited this tiny village on the edge of the Shenandoah Valley. And that's too bad. A nation serious about politics might rightly require that Jerry, Mo, Ron, Frank and Jimmy schedule pilgrimages to this place and then give their impressions to the people.

For Bluemont is the gateway to Mount Weather, a hill of granite that is the exclamation point to both man's brilliance and his shame. Officially known as the Western Virginia Office of Controlled Conflict Operations, Mount Weather is more accurately the underground White House. It is the place to which the Administration would retire in the event of nuclear, chemical or biological calamity — so that, one supposes, taxes could still be collected from surviving mutants.

The candidates could not of course get inside Mount Weather. This is the most secret and sacred of the nearly 100 "Federal Relocation Centers" now existing in five Eastern states. When it was constructed in the 1950s the local people and local papers were told by the generals to look the other way, and even now the natives speak of it only in whispers. To the best of anyone's knowledge not even members of Congress have access to the facility. It has no known charter and no published budget; not even its function has been made public.

It is no great secret, however. Tourists drive by with regularity, taking photographs of the signs that warn them not to take photographs. Russian diplomats tried some years ago to buy a nearby "vacation retreat" (nice try Leonid, but it was no soap). And every spring the pot generation comes up in Volkswagen buses to spray-paint "Peace!" on the rocks and cackle grimly over the nonsense of their fathers. "All men," says one, "can now be cremated equal."

To be sure there is nothing but implication to see here. The eight-foot barbed-wire fencing is decorated with red, white and blue "Keep Out" posters. There is a small helicopter landing pad visible from the road. And some buildings sit where the land slopes away toward the splendid Shenandoah. Everything else is inside the earth, protected from the reason for its existence: violence.

According to rumors and information accumulated over the years, the underground White House is in essence an underground city. Some 500,000 cubic yards of dirt and stone were removed to make way for an installation which in an emergency could reportedly support 6,000 people. There are many-roomed structures, streets, sidewalks, hospitals, cafeterias and vaults. Electric vehicles provide transportation. There is supposed to be a subterranean lake big enough for water skiing. There is a power source and food reserves. There are even Strangelovian facilities for the birth of children.

Allegedly, some 400 people staff Mount Weather, many of them playing the roles of the President or cabinet members in a continuing series of routine war (or civil defense) "games." Last week the surrogates may have worked through a Soviet bombing of Montana, this week they may be coping with a massive attack on the U.S. by food hungry nations, next week the idea may be to straighten out an America gone riotous over plutonium — poisoned water. Never a dull moment.

Apparently the substitute leaders are not working only for the benefit of the official authorities either. This side of it is fuzzy, but the Mount Weather staff is said also to be preparing for a holocaust in which the president and his 14 successors are killed and thus the surrogates have to assume command. Someone named John Smith, in other words may in time of disaster become our next unelected chief, and thereby assure us that while Houston may be gone, HEW will never die.

Military Violates Women's Rights

WASHINGTON — The Army, Navy and Marine Corps officially and flagrantly discriminate against women in their enlistment practices.

Only the Air Force admits women recruits on an equal qualifying basis with men.

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, saying, "I want to be certain discrimination does not exist," recently ordered Army Secretary Martin Hoffman and Navy Secretary J. William Middendorf to review the standards for recruiting. But resistance to equalizing the treatment of men and women in the male-dominated military is strong.

Last year, Congress eliminated differences in the minimum age for enlistment of men and women in the armed forces and required that all military academies open their doors to women. Sex discrimination in employment practices in the private sector has been illegal since 1964 and, although the law does not specifically embrace the Federal government, it is clear the government, including the military, has an obligation to set strict standards for equal opportunity.

Yet the three military services have official regulations which require that women cannot enlist without graduating from high school, although men can do so. In addition, they impose higher "mental requirement" criteria on women than on men.

The Army, for instance, requires women recruits to achieve written test scores up to 40 points higher than men on equivalent written tests and women may not qualify by supplementary testing criteria, although men can do so (contained in Army regulation 601-210).

On Feb. 19, Sen. Birch Bayh (D. Ind.) introduced a bill to require the qualifications for enlistment in the armed forces be the same for males and females. He protested the double standard and noted that over 35 per cent of the Army's male non-prior service enlistees this year had not obtained a high school degree, as required of women.

On Feb. 26, this columnist asked Rumsfeld during an interview in his office if he would order enlistment discrimination stopped. He replied that he didn't think there was any such discrimination and challenged me to prove it.

I sent a copy of the relevant Army regulations to Assistant Secretary William Greener, who responded with alacrity. "I think it's wrong," he said, and promised to try to do something about it.

It turned out to be a difficult task. The Pentagon's Manpower and Reserve Affairs section offered up a selection of bureaucratic excuses. Officials said the regulations weren't really regulations, but merely guidelines. They said there was no official policy, despite their own written regulations, but merely a question of supply and demand: They got so many more higher-qualified women than men that they could impose higher standards upon them.

One official even volunteered that a court case had upheld the differing requirements, but he was conveniently unable to remember the name of the plaintiffs.

Mrs. Jerome (Sue) Warren was re-elected president of the board of the Twin Cities Symphony Society, Inc., at its annual meeting May 19, at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Serving with her for the 1976-77 year will be Frederick Schultz, first vice president; Mrs. H.W. (Marjorie) Fowler, second vice president; Mrs. Edwin (Jeanne) Dwan, third vice president; Peter J. Johnson, secretary, and Mrs. Stanley O. (Phyllis) Miller, treasurer.

Re-elected to a new three-year term on the board of directors were Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Miller, and Robert O'Neill.

New directors elected include Theodore Troff, Mrs. Ray (Doris) Parr, Mrs. Albert (Sandra) Levin, Stuart Stebert, and Cole Tyrrell.

Mrs. Warren said aims for the coming year for the society are to enlarge the orchestra, organize a symphony chorus, print larger program with advertisements, form chamber ensembles from the orchestra, increase the pay scale for orchestra members, hire a full time orchestra manager and honor past members of the board who have served the symphony faithfully for many years with honorary memberships.

Robert Vodnoy, musical director, reported that last season the orchestra rehearsed 44 times, played 13 concerts (five membership concerts, five in-school, a Sunday young people's concert, one in South Haven, and one for the First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph).

The orchestra utilized nearly 200 musicians during the season, the listening audience included approximately 9,000 and over 3,000 school children, and the orchestra performed in five cities — St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Stevensville, South Haven, and Walerville.

Vodnoy and Mrs. Ray (Kath) Hansen, retiring orchestra manager, were presented honorariums from the board.

Memberships are still available for the 1976-77 season which will begin Oct. 24 at St. Joseph high school with a concert by internationally known pianist Robert Hamilton.

Membership and patron information may be secured from Mrs. James H. (Barbara) Born, campaign chairman, or any member of the board.

BH Asks 'What's A Quorum?'

Benton Harbor City Manager James Peeples Jr. said this morning he was trying to obtain a fast opinion from the attorney general on what actions the city commission may take, now that four seats have been declared officially vacant.

The Berrien county board of canvassers Thursday certified the results of Tuesday's election, confirming that Charles F. Joseph has been recalled as mayor and three other seats vacated by recall.

That leaves five city commissioners which the city charter says constitutes a quorum.

Peeples said he wants to know what happens if one commissioner is absent at a regular meeting, leaving only four.

"I want to know just what a quorum is," Peeples said. "Is it five of the regular membership of nine, or is it a majority of the commissioners left after recall?"

Peeples said this morning he would ask help from State Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) to attempt to get an immediate opinion from the attorney general. Opinions from the attorney general sometimes take months.

If the commission lacks a quorum at Monday's meeting, Peeples said bills and payroll could still be met by his office. But, "I wouldn't pay anything over which there could be a question."

Peeples said he intends to hold a "workshop" with remaining commissioners before Monday's regular meeting. He said this morning he had been able to notify all remaining commissioners except Mrs. Helen Ford.

Benjamin Logan, of Grand Rapids, one of two lawyers retained by Benton Harbor as city attorneys, was asked by The Herald-Palladium if three or five commissioners now constitute a forum. "That definitely would be a question," Logan replied and said he would look it up.

Vacant commission seats are to be filled by appointment until an election is held to fill the balance of the unexpired terms of the recalled commissioners. The temporary appointments could be made by either remaining commissioners or the governor, depending whether remaining commissioners have the power.

A meeting of the former city commission of nine members had been called by Joseph as mayor for Wednesday evening, but Peeples said that was called off by Joseph.

The recall in Benton Harbor was canvassed by the Berrien county board of canvassers instead of the city board of canvassers. Berrien county Clerk Forrest Kesterke explained a recent change in law provides that recalls at any level below the county must be canvassed by the county board.

The change was made for recall elections because boards of canvassers are appointed by officials who could be recalled.

The board's canvass of Tuesday's election showed no change in the vote total from unofficial returns. Recalled were Joseph and former Commissioners Barbara Huckaby, Charles Shepherd, and Winston Minott. The official canvass also showed Alfred Williams survived the recall and retains his seat.

The county board's certification showed Joseph was recalled by a vote of 1,171 to 833; Mrs. Huckaby 1,123 to 646; Shepherd 220 to 126; and Minott 420 to 270. Williams retained his seat with 110 votes for recall and 169 against.

Recall Group Will Continue To Work

Maurice Bishop, leader of a successful recall campaign which unseated Charles Joseph as mayor of Benton Harbor and three city commissioners, has pledged to keep the committee working "for the betterment of the city."

Bishop, in a letter to this newspaper which thanked citizens for their support of the

Joseph was ousted in Tuesday's recall election, along with former Commissioners Winston Minott, Barbara Huckaby, and Charles Shepherd.

The complete text of Bishop's letter follows.

Citizens,

We, the recall committee found it necessary to send thanks to everyone that was involved on May 18. I would like to personally state I've never had the opportunity to work with a finer group of people than I have had with the recall committee and I'd like to say thanks again.

Our job in Benton Harbor has just started, we must select some good commissioners and a mayor. We all must support city hall and work together. We must have some short range goals and many long range goals in order to rebuild our city.

There must be a way to put our policemen and firemen back on the job. There's one other thing—I urge everyone who has a senior citizen living next door to them to watch their home and check on them each day to see if everything is okay.

The recall committee has decided to keep working together for the betterment of the city. So we urge everyone to become conscious of their responsibility and join with us on a united front.

We will not meet next week, our next meeting will be announced. Again, our most sincere thanks. (Signed) Maurice Bishop, recall chairman.

Consumer Has The Options To Save Household Energy

NEW YORK, N.Y. — In conserving household energy, the consumer has the options, according to Wes K. Davis, Director of Retail Marketing for Whirlpool Corporation.

"Neither merchants, manufacturers nor legislators can dictate how she should spend her own precious time, how she should spend her own hard-earned money, how she should feel about saving electric energy vs. human energy," he said.

The appliance marketing spokesman told 200 home furnishings merchandising executives that America's standard of living is an often overlooked factor in the energy controversies.

His luncheon address at the National Retail Merchants association meeting at the Essex House covered "The merchandising implications of the energy shortage." This necessarily related with demand for new and replacement appliances "with whatever energy compromises are necessary."

Davis stressed that the energy situation is serious indeed, but that shortages cannot be traced to consumer appliance usage. One estimate quoted was that we may have as little as 12 years' supply of United States oil production. But he also pointed out that appliances consume only two per cent of total domestic energy, that even if all water-heating is included — for washing clothes and dishes — appliance usage is only 4.3 per cent of total.

The Whirlpool executive delineated the energy consumption of several major appliances.

Example: Refrigerators use 5 per cent of the United States energy — this could be saved. "If we all put our milk on the windowsill and chopped ice from the lake!" His concern was that the conservationists are applying the most pressure, where the least amount of energy savings can be achieved.

Davis covered, briefly, the "Energy Policy and Conservation Act" of 1975 and its "Title 3, Part B" on "Consumer Products other than Automobiles." He described the difficulties for the National Bureau of Standards, now working on test procedures (several due June 30, 1976) that must facilitate labels on "estimated annual operating costs." Among the "selling of standards" complications faced by NBS is the consumer-usage factor. Davis said, "In refrigerators, for instance, this (law) calls for technical evaluations of various brands, sizes, models. Also of features, ranging from defrost mechanisms to door-seals to ice-makers. Then of families — how many kids — how many soft drinks they consume — whether they eat frozen pizza or fresh vegetables must often."

Can the appliance industry reduce energy consumption with new features, new models? Davis said, "Yes! The technology exists!" One remaining question, however, is whether consumers will buy the energy-saving models — because the more "energy-efficient" appliances usually cost more originally. Another question is whether total United States energy consumption can be reduced via new "energy-efficient" models — because these may use up more energy in production than consumers can save in their homes.

The merchandising implications of the energy shortage go far beyond the products sold, according to Davis. Department stores (and others) have new operational cost concerns — and options, ranging from choice of energy, or fuel used, to store hours. Most important, the Whirlpool executive said, "As professional merchants, there are many selling opportunities in the energy-conscious years ahead...we cannot afford to hide our heads in the sand and ignore the energy crisis. Nor can we be opportunistic and take advantage of the situation...we cannot appeal to money-saving alone. Our customers still want — and are willing to pay for things like big-car comfort and ice-maker refrigerators."

1976-77 Symphony Election

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's Editor

Mrs. Jerome (Sue) Warren was re-elected president of the board of the Twin Cities Symphonic Society, Inc., at its annual meeting May 19 at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Serving with her for the 1976-77 year will be Frederick Schultz, first vice president; Mrs. H.W. (Marjorie) Fowler, second vice president; Mrs. Edwin (Jeanne) Dwan, third vice president; Peter J. Johnson, secretary, and Mrs. Stanley O. (Phyllis) Miller, treasurer.

Re-elected to a new three-year term on the board of directors were Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Miller, and Robert O'Neill.

New directors elected include Theodore Troff, Mrs. Roy (Doris) Parr, Mrs. Albert (Sandra) Levin, Stuart Siebert, and Cole Tyrrell.

Mrs. Warren said aims for the coming year for the society are to enlarge the orchestra, organize a symphony chorus, print larger program with advertisements, form chamber ensembles from the orchestra, increase the pay scale for orchestra members, hire a full time orchestra manager and honor past members of the board who have served the symphony faithfully for many years with honorary memberships.

Robert Vodnoy, musical director, reported that last season the orchestra rehearsed 44 times, played 13 concerts (five membership concerts, five in-school, a Sunday young people's concert, one in South Haven, and one for the First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph).

The orchestra listed nearly 200 musicians during the season, the listening audience included approximately 9,000 and over 3,000 school children, and the orchestra performed in five cities — St. Joseph, Benton Harbor, Stevensville, South Haven, and Watervliet.

Vodnoy and Mrs. Ray (Ruth) Hansen, retiring orchestra manager, were presented honorariums from the board.

Memberships are still available for the 1976-77 season which will begin Oct. 24 at St. Joseph high school with a concert by internationally known pianist Robert Hamilton.

Membership and patron information may be secured from Mrs. James H. (Barbara) Born, campaign chairman, or any member of the board.

The Twin Cities Symphony received a support grant from the Michigan Council of the Arts for the 1975-76 season. It is a member of the Twin Cities Arts Council, the Michigan Orchestra association, the American Symphony Orchestra League, and ASCAP.

New Law For Labels

A comparatively recent federal law requires ice cream manufacturers to indicate whether they are using pure or imitation flavor. If the label says simply "Vanilla Ice Cream," it must be flavored completely with real vanilla, either bean or pure extract. If the label says "imitation flavor" then you know it's not pure vanilla.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Your Children Aren't Yours

Kuhli Gibran said it best:

"Your children are not your children. They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself. They come THROUGH you but not FROM you. And though they are with you yet they belong not to you. You may give them your love but not your thoughts, for they have their own thoughts. You may house their bodies but not their souls. Their souls dwell in the house of Tomorrow which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams. You may strive to be like them but seek not to make them like you. Life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday."

Dear Grandmother: Thank you for the beautiful response. I recognize the essay from "The Prophet," which I have not reread in many years. I shall do so for sure — tonight.

Slow Witted

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with me? My head feels like it's numb. Sometimes I think I'm in a trance. People can talk to me and even though I hear them, it doesn't register.

When I try to read a newspaper or a book I can't concentrate. I have to go over the same sentence four or five times before it makes any sense.

The other evening a small gathering of friends was having a political discussion. There was a marked difference in opinion. One woman became upset and started to yell at me. I didn't realize I had been insulted until 20 minutes later when I began to recall what she said.

I'm worried that I can't respond fast enough to defend myself. No wonder people take advantage of me. What should I do? — Perplexed

Dear P.: The first thing you should do is have a complete physical — including a neurological examination.

If you get a clean bill of health, the problem must be emotional. If you can't afford a therapist, check with your local mental health center and ask for an evaluation. And please don't put it off. Time is of the essence.

Heavy Load

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what are the duties of a clergyman's wife? I am expected to serve on every committee in town and I am sick of it. Last night I was given a list of 60 people to telephone. I got ill thinking about the time I'll be spending on a project that doesn't interest me.

My home responsibilities are heavy (four children, big house, sick mother) and I have no time to do the things that are essential. I feel I am being used because of my husband's position. I need some solid advice before I have a nervous breakdown. — Frate In Illinois

Dear I.: Stand up for your rights, dear. But first, talk this one over with your clergyman. Dear Ann Landers: This morning I received in the mail a very fancy engraved announcement of the adoption of a baby girl. I was stunned.

The adoption of a child is a highly personal thing. Isn't it poor taste for parents to send out announcements? I'd like your opinion. — Flatbergsgast In Medicine Hat, Canada

Dear Hat: I see nothing wrong with sending announcements to close friends and relatives when a baby is added to the family. The fact that the child is adopted should make no difference whatever.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Erma Bombeck

Hand-Me-Downs

A father of four in Pelham, N.H., wants to know how I handled the problem of hand-me-downs.

He writes: "The girls, 10, 12 and 14, are still growing in varying degrees. They haven't worn anything that 'fits' in eight years. Twelve is just an inch shy of 14 and 10 wears tight. All three have an obsession about their height. They spent a week around the TV set watching the Winter Olympics waiting for someone over 5-3 to win a medal."

Well Pelham, N.H., you're not going to believe this, but on Feb. 10, 1969, at 8 a.m., a rare phenomenon took place in the Bombeck kitchen.

I looked at the kids as they readied for school. Something was weird. I could feel it. Then it hit me. Everything fit.

I can only compare it to a religious experience. The jacket sleeves broke just below the wristbones. The hems swirled at just the proper height at the knee. The darts in the dresses creased at just the right angle. The shoes hung snugly to the heel and not one kid had a safety pin on him!

"Something's wrong with this skirt," said my daughter irritably.

"What's the matter?" I asked. "The waistband. It's smooth. I feel funny without a roll around my waist."

"I hate these gym shoes," said my son. "I can't get used to wearing one pair of socks. I liked it better when I wore three pairs to get them to fit."

"Are my shoulders really this small?" said another son as he fingered the shoulder seam in the sweater.

"Children!" I said excitedly. "You are experiencing a manifestation that occurs with the regularity of Halley's Comet. All the hand-me-downs today are hand-me-fits!"

That day they were miserable. After all, kids like to look like all the other kids.

On Feb. 17, 1969, they once again appeared in the kitchen. During the night, the 10-year-old's arms had grown two inches, forcing him to wear the 12-year-old's sweater. The 10-year-old's feet had grown into a pair of boots that unfortunately had Snow White's castle on them, and the 15-year-old rolled up the sleeves on Daddy's shirt 18 times and the only gloves that fit him were black leather crissled to the elbow.

Oh well, I have the year 2569 to look forward to.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have never had any symptoms of a heart attack. Recently, during an insurance examination, scar tissue was found in my heart. The doctor insisted that I must have had a heart attack.

Mr. G.W., Tex.
Your experience is not an unusual one. A great many people, especially those with a high tolerance for pain, will completely ignore mild, temporary symptoms, including pain.

A transient episode of chest discomfort and pain may sometimes be considered to be insignificant. Then the episode is completely forgotten and rarely even mentioned to the doctor.

Later, a routine electrocardiogram (EKG) may show small areas of scar tissue in the heart that are evidence of that overlooked tiny heart attack.

The lesson that must be learned is that even transient episodes of chest pain should be noted and called to the attention of a doctor. By recognizing these "small" heart attacks, there is a greater chance of preventing a severe coronary.

Reorientation of patterns of living, weight reduction and elimination of tobacco following a small heart attack may turn out to be of eventual life-saving value.

At 40 I have just learned that I was born with an extra rib. If it is not removed can I expect that it will cause me to have trouble in the neck when I get older?

Mr. B.Y., W.Va.

Dear Mr. Y.:
An extra cervical rib is sometimes seen during a routine X-ray of the chest. Occasionally, pain in the neck or the shoulder can be traced to this extra rib near the neck.

In most instances, it is unnecessary to remove the rib. This somewhat rare birth defect is attacked surgically only when painful neuralgic symptoms are directly attributed to it.

In the absence of any symptoms there is no reason you should live in dread that you will eventually be bothered by this condition.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH. Do you know anyone who actually expects to fall asleep with a lit cigarette in his hand? Yet it does happen. And then both the smoker and those around him pay an enormous penalty for such carelessness.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has a special eye-care booklet available called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Eye booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Receive State Award Berrien County Women's auxiliary to the Michigan State Medical Society was one of the units receiving an award at the 50th annual convention of WAMSMS held in Troy May 3-5.

The award recognized the auxiliary's raising the fourth largest amount of money per capita of the organized counties in the state for the American Medical Association Education and Research Foundation (AMARF) during the past year.

Berrien AMARF chairmen, Mrs. Gerald (Eileen) Beal and Mrs. William (Pat) Schetter report that the state auxiliary contributed $34,199.30 and the MSMS $8,735 for a total of $42,934.30 to AMARF.

In turn three universities in Michigan received a total of $29,694.27 from AMARF for their medical schools: University of Michigan, $15,219.95; Wayne State university, $8,705.04, and Michigan State university, $5,769.28.

The state auxiliary raised $2900 for AMARF through a quilt members made, each county working a block representing their area. The Berrien county block included the St. Joseph river, an apple tree, and an Indian tepee in stitchery.

Guests of honor at the convention were Mrs. Erle Wilkison, Nashville, Tenn., and the president and the president-elects from Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ontario, Canada.

Among past state presidents honored was Mrs. Robert (Agnes) Reagan of the Berrien unit.

Also representing Berrien county were Mrs. Charles (Esther) Boonstra, state recording secretary; Mrs. J.C. (Dorothy) Grove, Mrs. Warren (Irma) Wise, and Mrs. John (Jan) McLellan.

Governor milliken by executive proclamation designated May 2-8, 1976, as WAMSMS week in honor of the auxiliary's support of essential medical services to the citizens of Michigan.

Consumer Has The Options To Save Household Energy

NEW YORK, N.Y. — In conserving household energy, the consumer has the options, according to Wes K. Davis, Director of Retail Marketing for Whirlpool Corporation.

"Neither merchants, manufacturers nor legislators can dictate how she should spend her own precious time, how she should spend her own hard-earned money, how she should feel about saving electric energy vs. human energy," he said.

The appliance marketing spokesman told 200 home furnishings merchandising executives that America's standard of living is an often overlooked factor in the energy controversy.

His luncheon address at the National Retail Merchants association meeting at the Essex House covered "The merchandising implications of the energy shortage." This necessarily related with demand for new and replacement appliances "with whatever energy compromises are necessary."

Davis stressed that the energy situation is serious indeed, but that shortages cannot be traced to consumer appliance usage. One estimate quoted was that we may have as little as 12 years' supply of United States oil production. But he also pointed out that appliances consume only two per cent of total domestic energy, that even if all water-heating is included — for washing clothes and dishes — appliance usage is only 4.3 per cent of total.

The Whirlpool executive delineated the energy consumption of several major appliances.

Example: Refrigerators use 5 per cent of the United States energy — this could be saved, "If we all put our milk on the windowsill and chopped ice from the lake!" His concern was that the conservationists are applying the most pressure where the least amount of energy savings can be achieved.

Davis covered, briefly, the "Energy Policy and Conservation Act" of 1975 and its "Title 3, Part B" on "Consumer Products other than Automobiles." He described the difficulties for the National Bureau of Standards, now working on test procedures (several due June 30, 1976) that must facilitate labels on "estimated annual operating costs." Among the "setting of standards" complications faced by NBS is the consumer-usage factor. Davis said, "In refrigerators, for instance, this (law) calls for technical evaluations of various brands, sizes, models. Also of features, ranging from defrost-mechanisms to door-seals to ice-makers. Then of families — how many kids — how many soft drinks they consume — whether they eat frozen pizza or fresh vegetables most often."

Can the appliance industry reduce energy consumption with new features, new models? Davis said, "Yes! The technology exists!" One remaining question, however, is whether consumers will buy the energy-saving models — because the more "energy-efficient" appliances usually cost more originally. Another question is whether total United States energy consumption can be reduced via new "energy-efficient" models — because these may use up more energy in production than consumers can save in their homes.

The merchandising implications of the energy shortage go far beyond the products sold, according to Davis. Department stores (and others) have new operational cost concerns — and options, ranging from choice of energy, or fuel used, to store hours. Most important, the Whirlpool executive said, "As professional merchants, there are many selling opportunities in the energy-conscious years ahead...we cannot afford to hide our heads in the sand and ignore the energy crisis. Nor can we be opportunists and take advantage of the situation...we cannot appeal to money-saving alone. Our customers still want — and are willing to pay for things like big-car comfort and ice-maker refrigerators."

KISSINGER: U.S. WANTS INDEPENDENT EUROPE

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
OSLO, Norway (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger has told Washington's European allies that America supports the independence of Eastern Europe from Soviet domination and will never accept the sphere-of-influence concept for Europe.

U.S. officials said the secretary of state told North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) foreign ministers in a closed meeting Thursday that America is committed to encouraging the independence of Eastern Europe and has taken positive steps in this direction.

But they said Kissinger cautioned the NATO ministers that any alliance action should be within the limits of what is possible. This meant, they said, that there should be no effort to encourage revolt or a major shift away from Moscow by Eastern European nations.

About 20 youths demonstrated outside the NATO ministers' meeting hall Thursday while 5,000 leftists marched in the streets. One group shouted "Out with the war criminal Kissinger" near the U.S. Embassy.

Youths booed delegates headed for a dinner party given by the Norwegian government but there were no incidents.

The demonstrators carried signs denouncing both NATO and Moscow's domination of the Warsaw Pact nations.

The U.S. officials told reporters that Kissinger reviewed the U.S. program of challenging Soviet efforts to impose its ideology on the non-Communist world while still seeking détente. He asked if this was still NATO policy, and the other 14 ministers confirmed Kissinger's analysis, the officials reported.

They said Kissinger told the session that the use of Soviet military supplies and Cuban troops to help the pro-Moscow Popular Movement in Angola's civil war violated the concept of coexistence and was an example of ideological aggression. The Popular Movement group defeated two Western-backed factions this spring.

Before today's closing session, Kissinger scheduled a breakfast meeting with Turkish Foreign Minister Isihan Caglayangil on Cyprus.

The secretary met Thursday with Dimitri Bilsios, the Greek foreign minister, on the Cyprus stalemate.

Turkish troops occupy 40 per cent of the Mediterranean island which they invaded nearly two years ago after a pro-Greek coup.

Kissinger also scheduled a talk with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland. The two will have more extensive meetings next week when Kissinger goes to London.

U.S. officials said the NATO ministers were united behind Kissinger's view on East-West relations. Diplomatic sources said the conference communiqué, drafted after Kissinger's statements, strongly reflected his views.

Fifteen Burglaries

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — Wexford County authorities said today the arrest of three men Wednesday may have solved a string of 15 burglaries in the county. Sheriff's deputies said they recovered about $3,000 worth of loot. Two trucks were needed to cart it away. The loot ranged from an electric chord organ to blankets. Deputies reported they found the stolen goods in the Manton area while investigating theft of a citizens band radio.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Your Children Aren't Yours

Kahlil Gibran said it best:

"Your children are not your children. They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself. They come THROUGH you but not FROM you. And though they are with you yet they belong not to you. You may give them your love but not your thoughts, for they have their own thoughts. You may house their bodies but not their souls. Their souls dwell in the house of Tomorrow which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams. You may strive to be like them but seek not to make them like you. Life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday." — Grandmother.

Dear Grandmother: Thank you for the beautiful response. I recognize the essay from "The Prophet," which I have not reread in many years. I shall do so for sure — tonight.

Slow Witted

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with me? My head feels like it's numb. Sometimes I think I'm in a trance. People can talk to me and even though I hear them, it doesn't register.

When I try to read a newspaper or a book I can't concentrate. I have to go over the same sentence four or five times before it makes any sense.

The other evening a small gathering of friends was having a political discussion. There was a marked difference in opinion. One woman became upset and started to yell at me. I didn't realize I had been insulted until 20 minutes later when I began to recall what she said.

I'm worried that I can't respond fast enough to defend myself. No wonder people take advantage of me. What should I do? — Perplexed

Dear P.: The first thing you should do is have a complete physical — including a neurological examination.

If you get a clean bill of health, the problem must be emotional. If you can't afford a therapist, check with your local mental health center and ask for an evaluation. And please don't put it off. Time is of the essence.

Heavy Load

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what are the duties of a clergyman's wife? I am expected to serve on every committee in town and I am sick of it. Last night I was given a list of 60 people to telephone. I get ill thinking about the time I'll be spending on a project that doesn't interest me.

My home responsibilities are heavy (four children, big house, sick mother) and I have no time to do the things that are essential. I feel I am being used because of my husband's position. I need some solid advice before I have a nervous breakdown. — Irene in Illinois

one over with your clergyman.

Dear Ann Landers: This morning I received in the mail a very fancy engraved announcement of the adoption of a baby girl. I was stunned.

The adoption of a child is a highly personal thing. Isn't it poor taste for parents to send out announcements? I'd like your opinion. — Flabbergasted in Medicine Hat, Canada

Dear Hat: I see nothing wrong with sending announcements to close friends and relatives when a baby is added to the family. The fact that the child is adopted should make no difference whatever.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Erma Bombeck

Hand-Me-Downs

A father of four in Pelham, N.H., wants to know how I handled the problem of hand-me-downs.

He writes, "The girls, 10, 12 and 14, are still growing in varying degrees. They haven't worn anything that 'fits' in eight years. Twelve is just an inch shy of 14 and 10 wears tight. All three have an obsession about their height. They spent a week around the TV set watching the Winter Olympics waiting for someone over 5-3 to win a medal."

Well Pelham, N.H., you're not going to believe this, but on Feb. 16, 1969, at 8 a.m., a rare phenomenon took place in the Bombeck kitchen.

I looked at the kids as they readied for school. Something was weird. I could feel it. Then it hit me. Everything fit.

I can only compare it to a religious experience. The jacket sleeves broke just below the wristbones. The hems swirled at just the proper height at the knee. The darts in the dresses crested at just the right angle. The shoes clung snugly to the heel and not one kid had a safety pin on him!

"Something's wrong with this skirt," said my daughter irritably.

"What's the matter?" I asked. "The waistband. It's smooth. I feel funny without a roll around my waist."

"I hate these gym shoes," said my son. "I can't get used to wearing one pair of socks. I liked it better when I wore three pairs to get them to fit."

"Are my shoulders really this small?" said another son as he fingered the shoulder seam in the sweater.

"Children!" I said excitedly. "You are experiencing a manifestation that occurs with the regularity of Halley's Comet. All the hand-me-downs today are hand-me-fits!"

That day they were miserable. After all, kids like to look like all the other kids.

On Feb. 17, 1969, they once again appeared in the kitchen. During the night, the 10-year-old's arms had grown two inches, forcing him to wear the 12-year-old's sweater. The 10-year-old's feet had grown into a pair of boots that unfortunately had Snow White's castle on them, and the 15-year-old rolled up the sleeves on Daddy's shirt 18 times and the only gloves that fit him were black leather crushed to the elbow.

Oh well, I have the year 2969 to look forward to.

THREE OAKS — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis of Normal, Ill., announce the birth of a five pound, four ounce daughter, Carrie Ann, May 15, in Bloomington, Ill. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Francis of Three Oaks.

it will cause me to have trouble in the neck when I get older?

Mr. B.Y., W.Va.

Dear Mr. Y.: An extra cervical rib is sometimes seen during a routine X-ray of the chest. Occasionally, pain in the neck or the shoulder can be traced to this extra rib near the neck.

In most instances, it is unnecessary to remove the rib. This somewhat rare birth defect is attacked surgically only when painful neuralgic symptoms are directly attributed to it.

In the absence of any symptoms there is no reason you should live in dread that you will eventually be bothered by this condition.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH. Do you know anyone who actually expects to fall asleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand? Yet it does happen. And then both the smoker and those around him pay an enormous penalty for such carelessness.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has a special eye-care booklet available called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Eye booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have never had any symptoms of a heart attack. Recently, during an insurance examination, scar tissue was found in my heart. The doctor insisted that I must have had a heart attack.

Mr. G.W., Tex.

Dear Mr. W.: Your experience is not an unusual one. A great many people, especially those with a high tolerance for pain, will completely ignore mild, temporary symptoms, including pain.

A transient episode of chest discomfort and pain may sometimes be considered to be indigestion. Then the episode is completely forgotten and rarely even mentioned to the doctor.

Later, a routine electrocardiogram (EKG) may show small areas of scar tissue in the heart that are evidence of that overlooked tiny heart attack.

The lesson that must be learned is that even transient episodes of chest pain should be noted and called to the attention of a doctor. By recognizing these "small" heart attacks, there is a greater chance of preventing a severe coronary.

Reorientation of patterns of living, weight reduction and elimination of tobacco following a small heart attack may turn out to be of eventual life-saving value.

At 40 I have just learned that I was born with an extra rib. If it is not removed can I expect that another club. South won in dummy and proceeded to run off five diamond tricks. This forced him to make a total of five discards and get himself right into a suicide squeeze.

Four discards were easy. They were three spades and a heart. The fifth discard was a second heart. Meanwhile, West had managed to hang on to all three of his hearts. So, when South led a spade, East was able to hop up with the ace, lead a heart and give his partner three heart tricks.

South complained about bad luck and it was bad luck. East had to hold to ace of spades and West both ace-queen of hearts, but those things do happen. On the other hand if South had led a spade honor at trick two he would have come to nine tricks without getting himself squeezed.

Udall Backer Says Final Tally Will Give Him Win

By JUDITH RUSKIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Morris Udall's state campaign coordinator says the Arizona congressman will be declared the winner of Tuesday's presidential primary when the vote is certified.

But Dene Lengyel failed in several telephone interviews Tuesday to provide any evidence that the vote would swing in Udall's favor once the statewide canvass is completed.

Ms. Lengyel said Udall would not request a recount in the election. "We've decided to go with the standard operational procedure of the state. We are confident we will be declared the winner," she said.

Computer mixups plus hundreds of uncounted absentee ballots in Detroit will make up the difference for Udall, she said.

Unofficial vote totals released early Wednesday by the National Elections Service (NES) gave former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter a 2,004-vote edge over Udall, with both carrying about 43 per cent.

The state election division Wednesday night said its unofficial tally gave Carter a 1,820-vote lead. NES figures came directly from the precincts, the state figures from the 81 county clerks.

State election officials said the official canvass of the vote will not be complete until May 28.

Detroit City Clerk James Bradley said 502 of the absentee ballots delivered to his office Tuesday did not reach precincts in time to be counted.

Although the ballots have not been counted, Bradley said he believed it would still be possible to include them in the final vote totals.

Another 182 absentee ballot-stare also in question, he said. An election official was sent to the post office at 5 p.m. election day to pick up any additional ballots. But Bradley said the post office refused to turn over the ballots because the official did not have a post office box number.

Assassination Plot Files To Be Bared

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee is to receive documents from the FBI showing that the bureau knew a CIA plot to kill Fidel Castro was in progress on the same day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

The documents, which the FBI apparently never gave to the Warren Commission, are expected to be turned over to the intelligence committee today, according to Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Kennedy slaying.

Schweiker said the new documents "could be very vital" in determining who in the FBI ordered the information about CIA attempts against Castro withheld from the Warren Commission, which investigated Kennedy's Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

He said the information about the CIA plot against Castro may also have been withheld even from the FBI agents assigned to investigate the Kennedy slaying.

David W. Belin, who was an assistant counsel for the Warren Commission, said, "The fact that they would withhold information from an investigation of this kind has rather chilling implications. One of the things we were looking at was whether there was any Castro involvement in the Kennedy assassination."

Meanwhile, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, has been named as ranking Democrat and likely chairman of the new Senate panel set up to monitor and control future spy activities. Eight of the 13 members, including Inouye, also serve on committees that have been responsible for monitoring the intelligence agencies in the past.

In another development, the committee released a report showing the CIA opened nearly a quarter-million private letters, even though senior officials knew the program was illegal and of little value. The FBI also opened mail on a smaller but "more intrusive" scale, the staff report said.

"All of these mail-opening programs were initiated by agency officials acting without prior authorization from a president, attorney general or postmaster general," the report stated. In one instance, former CIA director Richard Helms, either "through design or negligence," gave former President Richard M. Nixon "false and misleading information" about the existence of mail-opening programs, the report said.

Schweiker released a copy of a May 5 letter to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi stating that "recently received materials reveal that the FBI, in 1964, had knowledge of the CIA's AM LASHI plot and that there even exists an FBI file captioned 'Plans to Assassinate Cuban Leaders.'"

AM LASHI was the code name of a highly placed Cuban official who met with a CIA officer in Paris the same day Kennedy was killed and received a poison pen device to be used in killing Castro.

Firm Cited For PBB Leak

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Chemical Co. is violating its 1974 wastewater discharge permit by discharging the toxic chemical polychlorinated biphenyl into the Pine River, the state Water Resources Commission said Thursday.

The commission ordered the company and the commission staff to try to negotiate a settlement of the PBB discharge problem, and also of the company's failure to meet deadlines for compliance with pollution limits.

But it also ordered hearings to be held on the problems, which could result in recommendations the company be punished, said Roy Schrameck of the state Department of Natural Resources' Water Quality Division.

A complaint filed earlier this month by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley alleged Michigan Chemical, one of two companies involved in the PBB poisoning of Michigan livestock, is discharging as much as three parts per million into the river in Gratiot County.

The company stopped manufacturing the toxic chemical about three years ago, but pollution officials suspect its pipes may still be contaminated with PBB.

A permit issued to the company in December 1974 prohibited any discharge of PBB into the river, but the company has not yet cleared up the problem, according to state officials.

Kelley's complaint included an allegation that Michigan Chemical failed to construct required pollution control facilities. Schrameck said it also failed to submit plans for correcting its discharge problems.

KISSINGER: U.S. WANTS INDEPENDENT EUROPE

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
OSLO, Norway (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger has told Washington's European allies that America supports the independence of Eastern Europe from Soviet domination and will never accept the sphere-of-influence concept for Europe.

U.S. officials said the secretary of state told North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) foreign ministers in a closed meeting Thursday that America is committed to encouraging the independence of Eastern Europe and has taken positive steps in this direction.

But they said Kissinger cautioned the NATO ministers that any alliance action should be within the limits of what is possible. This meant, they said, that there should be no effort to encourage revolt or a major shift away from Moscow by Eastern European nations.

About 20 youths demonstrated outside the heavily guarded meeting hall Thursday while 5,000 leftists marched in the streets. One group shouted "Out with the war criminal Kissinger" near the U.S. Embassy.

Youths booed delegates headed for a dinner party given by the Norwegian government but there were no incidents.

The demonstrators carried signs denouncing both NATO and Moscow's domination of the Warsaw Pact nations.

The U.S. officials told reporters that Kissinger reviewed the U.S. program of challenging Soviet efforts to impose its ideology on the non-Communist world while still seeking détente. He asked if this was still NATO policy, and the other 14 ministers confirmed Kissinger's analysis, the officials reported.

They said Kissinger told the session that the use of Soviet military supplies and Cuban troops to help the pro-Moscow Popular Movement in Angola's civil war violated the concept of coexistence and was an example of ideological aggression. The Popular Movement group defeated two Western-backed factions this spring.

Before today's closing session, Kissinger scheduled a breakfast meeting with Turkish Foreign Minister Isihan Caglayangil on Cyprus.

The secretary met Thursday with Dimitri Bitsios, the Greek foreign minister, on the Cyprus stalemate.

Turkish troops occupy 40 percent of the Mediterranean island which they invaded nearly two years ago after a pro-Greek coup.

Kissinger also scheduled a talk with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crossland. The two will have more extensive meetings next week when Kissinger goes to London.

U.S. officials said the NATO ministers were united behind Kissinger's view on East-West relations. Diplomatic sources said the conference communiqué, drafted after Kissinger's statements, strongly reflected his views.

Udall Backer Says Final Tally Will Give Him Win

By JUDITH RUSKIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Morris Udall's state campaign coordinator says the Arizona congressman will be declared the winner of Tuesday's presidential primary when the vote is certified.

But Ilene Lengyel failed in several telephone interviews Tuesday to provide any evidence that the vote would swing in Udall's favor once the statewide canvass is completed.

Ms. Lengyel said Udall would not request a recount in the election. "We've decided to go with the standard operational procedure of the state. We are confident we will be declared the winner," she said.

Computer mixups plus hundreds of uncounted absentee ballots in Detroit will make up the difference for Udall, she said.

Unofficial vote totals released early Wednesday by the National Elections Service (NES) gave former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter a 2,004-vote edge over Udall, with both carrying about 43 per cent.

The state election division Wednesday night said its unofficial tally gave Carter a 1,820-vote lead. NES figures came directly from the precincts, the state figures from the 83 county clerks.

State election officials said the official canvass of the vote will not be complete until May 28.

Detroit City Clerk James Bradley said 502 of the absentee ballots delivered to his office Tuesday did not reach precincts in time to be counted.

Although the ballots have not been counted, Bradley said he believed it would still be possible to include them in the final vote totals.

Another 192 absentee ballots were also in question, he said. An election official was sent to the post office at 6 p.m. election day to pick up any additional ballots. But Bradley said the post office refused to turn over the ballots because the official did not have a post office box number.

Assassination Plot Files To Be Bared

By DAVID C. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee is to receive documents from the FBI showing that the bureau knew a CIA plot to kill Fidel Castro was in progress on the same day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

The documents, which the FBI apparently never gave to the Warren Commission, are expected to be turned over to the intelligence committee today, according to Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Kennedy slaying.

Schweiker said the new documents "could be very vital" in determining who in the FBI ordered the information about CIA attempts against Castro withheld from the Warren Commission, which investigated Kennedy's Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

He said the information about the CIA plot against Castro may also have been withheld even from the FBI agents assigned to investigate the Kennedy slaying.

David W. Belin, who was an assistant counsel for the Warren Commission, said, "The fact that they would withhold information from an investigation of this kind has rather chilling implications. One of the things we were looking at was whether there was any Castro involvement in the Kennedy assassination."

Meanwhile, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, has been named as ranking Democrat and likely chairman of the new Senate panel set up to monitor and control future spy activities. Eight of the 15 members, including Inouye, also serve on committees that have been responsible for monitoring the intelligence agencies in the past.

In another development, the committee released a report showing the CIA opened nearly a quarter-million private letters, even though senior officials knew the program was illegal and of little value. The FBI also opened mail on a smaller but "more intrusive" scale, the staff report said.

"All of these mail-opening programs were initiated by agency officials acting without prior authorization from a president, attorney general or postmaster general," the report stated. In one instance, former CIA director Richard Helms, either "through design or negligence," gave former President Richard M. Nixon "false and misleading information" about the existence of mail-opening programs, the report said.

Schweiker released a copy of a May 6 letter to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi stating that "recently received materials reveal that the FBI, in 1964, had knowledge of the CIA's AM LASH plot and that there even exists an FBI file captioned 'Plans to Assassinate Cuban Leaders.'"

AM LASH was the code name of a highly placed Cuban official who met with a CIA officer in Paris the same day Kennedy was killed and received a poison pen device to be used in killing Castro.

Firm Cited For PBB Leak

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Chemical Co. is violating its 1974 wastewater discharge permit by discharging the toxic chemical polybrominated biphenyl into the Pine River, the state Water Resources Commission said Thursday.

The commission ordered the company and the commission staff to try to negotiate a settlement of the PBB discharge problem, and also of the company's failure to meet deadlines for compliance with pollution limits.

But it also ordered hearings to be held on the problems, which could result in recommendations the company be punished, said Roy Schrameck of the state Department of Natural Resources' Water Quality Division.

A complaint filed earlier this month by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley alleged Michigan Chemical, one of two companies involved in the PBB poisoning of Michigan livestock, is discharging as much as three parts per million into the river in Grafton County.

The company stopped manufacturing the toxic chemical about three years ago, but pollution officials suspect its pipes may still be contaminated with PBB.

A permit issued to the company in December 1974 prohibited any discharge of PBB into the river, but the company has not yet cleared up the problem, according to state officials.

Kelley's complaint included an allegation that Michigan Chemical failed to construct required pollution control facilities. Schrameck said it also failed to submit plans for correcting its discharge problems.

Mass Killer's Girlfriend Due For June Parole

By ERIC KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Caril Fugate, who at 14 accompanied mass murderer Charles Starkweather on a rampage that shocked the nation, gets a chance for parole next month after spending more than half her life in prison.

Miss Fugate, 32, will be considered for release June 21 by the five-member state Parole Board. Her freedom could come then.

Relatives of some of the victims have fought against Miss

Fugate's release, and Parole Board sources say a new identity and residence have been prepared for Miss Fugate in another Midwestern state.

She accompanied Starkweather on a 1958 killing spree that claimed 10 victims. Starkweather, who was executed in 1959, also was implicated in a gas station robbery which left one man dead.

Miss Fugate went to prison in 1959 — she was tried as an adult — and a series of unsuccessful appeals followed. She has never received a disciplinary citation in her years at the York Women's Reformatory, where she has studied to be a geriatrics nurse's aide.

Despite protests from victims' families, Nebraska's Pardon Board — composed of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state — commuted her life sentence in 1973, making her eligible for parole. The murders started in Miss Fugate's home. Her mother and stepfather were shot, her 2-year-old sister clubbed to death. It was right after Miss Fugate's mother told Starkweather she didn't think he was a good influence on her daughter.

Their bodies were found on Monday, Jan. 27, 1958, and the body of a bachelor farmer, August Meyer, was discovered the next afternoon at his farm near Lincoln.

That same day — Tuesday — Starkweather's car became stuck in the mud on a rural road, and Robert Jensen and his girlfriend, Caril King, stopped to give Starkweather and Miss Fugate a ride. Their bodies were found later that day in the storm cellar of an abandoned school house near Lincoln.

It was for Jensen's killing that Miss Fugate was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison.

When the bodies of C.L. Ward, his wife, Clara, and their maid, Lillian Penceel, were found in their Lincoln home on Wednesday, the governor called out the National Guard.

A search of the frightened city failed to turn up Starkweather, who was on his way to Wyoming. He killed a salesman on a rural road there before a citizen and a police officer captured him near the town of Douglas. Joe Sprinkle, a Casper, Wyo., geologist, wrestled a rifle from Starkweather after it jammed.

As Starkweather was captured, Miss Fugate ran to authorities saying, "He's going to kill me. He's crazy. He just killed a man."

She said Starkweather would have killed her if she had tried to escape. But Starkweather told a different story — he said Miss Fugate was a willing accomplice.

Flint Man Plans Big Ocean Hop

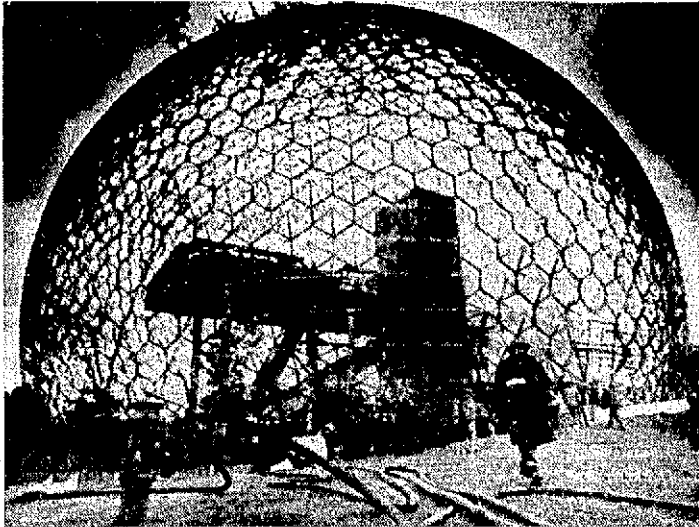

NEW YORK (AP) — Karl Thomas wants to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a star-spangled red, white and blue balloon.

Thomas, a 27-year-old German-born airport operator from Flint, Mich., said he plans to take off from an undisclosed site in New Jersey sometime before Aug. 1.

He said Thursday he hopes it will be a three-to-seven day flight ending in Paris, "but it could be a thousand miles north or south."

The expedition is the ninth known attempt at a manned-balloon Atlantic crossing. Thomas said the aim of his flight is "to be first — that's it, plus the enjoyment of taking on a task and succeeding at it."

The 10-story helium-filled balloon will be attached to a 14-foot gondola which is fitted with a soil. In case the solo air trip turns into a solo sea trip.

Warning Shots, Tear Gas Daily Rituals In Jerusalem

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli troops man the castle-like walls of Jerusalem, firing tear gas at roving demonstrators. Black smoke hangs over Arab towns, where swarms of children fight protest bonfires of oil-soaked tires.

Soldiers patrol in armored cars, firing warning shots skyward. Arab students pelt them with stones and chant: "In blood and fire we will redeem our land."

Arab demonstrations and clashes with Israeli troops have become almost daily rituals in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

Ten Palestinian Arabs have died in four months of riots, and Israel is worried about the backlash.

To reduce the bloodshed, the Israeli Ministry of Defense has issued tear gas to troops accustomed to only live ammunition and is considering the use of rubber bullets.

Israeli officials admit that the clashes have stirred growing sympathy for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) among the West Bank's 670,000 Arabs. "If King Hussein of Jordan were running for election as a mayor on the West Bank, he would have to pose as a gentleman from the PLO," said one senior Israeli official.

But authoritative sources concede there is no sign that the demonstrations have been fomented by the PLO. "We have not been able to discover any organized body controlling these disturbances," said a Defense Ministry official.

The demonstrations began last autumn and intensified in February when a court ruling, later repealed, permitted Jews to worship at religious sites revered by both Moslems and Jews but in Moslem zones.

Arabs accuse the Jews of trying to take over their mosques on the holy Temple Mount in Jerusalem, and they are angry at Jewish settlements being built on the West Bank.

The Israeli government is sensitive about the demonstrations.

15-Cent Rides Lure 'Em Back

By DEAN LOKKEN
Associated Press Writer
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — As other cities raise fares to keep mass transit systems going, the Utah Transit Authority says its 15-cent rides, backed by a sales tax, have lured riders back to its buses.

The secret of the UTA success lies in taxpayer approval in late 1974 of a 1/4-cent sales tax and an infusion, in less than two years, of about $20 million in federal funds.

The rise in ridership follows the lowering of fares to 15 cents for adults, which UTA officials say is the lowest general bus fare they know about anywhere in the United States.

One transportation planner who has had a hand in the growth says arrival of 203 more buses in the coming weeks will relieve the crowded, standing-room-only conditions of commuter hours. "During the peak riding time now, a lot of people are sticking with their cars because there is standing room only on the buses," he says.

The new popularity of riding the bus in Salt Lake, Weber and Davis counties — with total population of about 760,000 — wasn't an overnight affair.

Two years ago, the bus system was limping along with an annual ridership of 4.4 million, higher than some previous years, but below the 5 million of 1966. The UTA's budget then received a subsidy from a state liquor tax fund.

By contrast, ridership last year was up to 8 million and estimates this year are for 14 million.

UTA general manager John A. Rankin points to long-range planning, the sales-tax subsidy and the low fares for saving the transportation line he's headed since 1970.

"The day of a bus system making it on its own is over in this country and probably everywhere in the world," says Rankin, known to his associates as a no-nonsense administrator who frequently hops a bus to check flaws in scheduling and other irritants to customers.

When he took over the UTA, the system covered only half of Salt Lake County and had 63 vehicles. When new buses, purchased with federal grants and local matching funds, are put on the route this summer, there will be 360 buses.

The routes will cover a distance, north to south, of about 65 miles, and a passenger can cover that distance for 60 cents, although most rides in the system are only 15 cents.

A ride within two of the system's five zones will cost you only 15 cents, if you're an adult. Children, the elderly and the handicapped ride for a dime, but the elderly can ride free during off-peak hours.

A study indicates one of four elderly riders still pays 10 cents at all hours.

Low fares weren't accepted immediately in all three counties. Salt Lake and Weber voters adopted the sales tax beginning in 1975 and in exchange got fares dropped from 25 cents to the new 15 cents, with an additional 10-cent zone charge eliminated for most riders. That proved so popular that Davis County residents went along this year.

With a guaranteed income from the sales tax, the system went to the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and obtained about $20 million on an 80-to-20 matching basis.

Wife Will Spend $200,000

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Carl Helmreich, a 42-year-old press operator from Bay City, won the $200,000 top prize Thursday in the Michigan lottery weekly drawing.

Helmreich said his wife, Julia, purchased the ticket and promised him all the beer he could drink if he appeared on the lottery's weekly television show for her.

He said he would let her decide how to spend the money.

Maxime Strychar, 34, a plumber and pipe fitter from New Hudson won the $25,000 prize.

Maria Tisch, a 41-year-old Clawson baker won $15,000. The four-member Moore and One Lottery Club from Lansing won $12,500, while the 10 members of Persistent 10 Club in Detroit won $10,000. Edward Saltinski, 60, of Detroit, was the $5,000 comeback winner.

JOHN P. ROCHE A Word Edgewise

If you have ever wondered why the course of justice in the United States is so slow and dockets are so packed with impending litigation, perhaps a recent Supreme Court decision — Kelley V. Johnson — will clarify the matter. Before going into the substance of the opinion, let's examine the history of the case. It began with a decision by the Federal District Court, Eastern District of New York (one of the busiest tribunals in the country) in favor of Kelley. The U.S. Court of Appeals, Second Circuit (also overwhelmed with work) reversed the district judge and sent the case back for a rehearing.

Presumably getting the message, the District court tossed the other way, and (to no one's surprise) this time the Court of Appeals affirmed the lower court. An appeal was requested from the Supreme Court, granted, and the high court reversed the circuit and, in essence, sustained the district judge's first holding.

Obviously with all this judicial scrutiny the issue must have been world-shaking — the right of a community to bar anyone worth less than $50,000 from residence, the validity of cross-country busing for integration, or some criminal cause celebre.

Well, maybe some will think it momentous, but the point at issue was the right of the Suffolk county, N.Y., police commissioner to enforce the following regulation. "HAIR: Hair shall be neat, clean, trimmed, and present a groomed appearance. Hair will not touch the ears or the collar except the closely cut hair on the back of the neck. Hair in front will be groomed so that it does not fall below the band or properly worn headgear. In no case will the bulk or length of hair interfere with the proper wear of any authorized headgear."

There were other, similar instructions on sideburns, mustaches, wigs, beards were banned "except for medical reasons" and ponytails absolutely outlawed.

Johnson, a policeman affronted by these regulations, brought suit under the U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1871 on the ground that they violated his right to free expression under the First and Fourteenth Amendments. Police Commissioner Kelley replied that uniformity of grooming was part "of the department's 'esprit de corps,'" and that — in essence — the good people of Suffolk county did not want their cops to look like hippies.

The issue here is not really hair-styling, a matter on which tastes vary from one subculture to another (and from one nation to another: the Swedish Army has hairnets as government issue, presumably to keep the curls out of the rifleman's eyes).

It is the right of a democratic community to establish certain standards for public officials.

We should not forget that the role the police play in our society is largely symbolic. In a free society most of the policing is done by citizens who accept the laws and abide by them. (Doomsday Druids complain about the breakdown of law and order but they omit the scale factor from consideration: if 1 percent of our population is criminally insane, the net amounts to 2.1 million people. If 2 percent are crooks, you're up to 4.2 million, and the police and armed forces are outnumbered.)

The role of the police, in short, is exemplary: They are the incarnation of Public order. As such, it seems to me that certain reasonable rules are in order regarding dress, grooming, alcoholic intake on duty, and the like.

Again, circumstances differ: Our friendly neighborhood policeman on Martha's Vineyard can certainly guard the beach barefoot without offense, but a barefoot cop in Queens, N.Y., could understandably generate some uproar. Above all, commonsense should be applied. We hardly need the example of an Italian carabinieri dolled up like a peacock, but on the other hand we should avoid Abbie Hoffman's deked out in blue.

Finally, why should it take trips to five federal courtrooms to confirm the obvious?

Soupy To Headline Own Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — I've always been a fan of Soupy Sales. His old nighttime TV show always struck me as a nifty blend of Marx Brothers, Brother Dave "Rejoice, Dear Hearts" Gardner, Ernie Kovacs and flying cream pies.

So it was good news to hear that after too many years spent battling about on game shows and appearing on others' variety shows, Soupy will be back in September headlining his own show for ABC.

No matter that it's a Saturday morning kid show called "Jr. Almost Anything Goes," a pee-wee version of a flop nighttime series that featured citizens participating in outlandish sports contests.

Weird things always happen when Sales runs a show. In fact, weird things were happening this week when he was the-oretically being interviewed about the new show at a chow hall theatrical folks flavor.

Nearly diners appeared to be looking for the man with the butterfly net as Sales spoke of a new movie he plans to film at his apartment building, where garbage is piling up because of a strike by Fun City's apartment workers.

"It's going to be a musical sequel to 'Ben,'" he said, his voice rising with the thrill of the project. "Right now, we're looking for a rat who can sing." Sales, a North Carolina boy raised in Huntington, W. Va., hit it big on television in Detroit in 1953. But greater fame came in later years when celebrities started appearing on his shows — Frank Sinatra, among them — for the sole purpose of getting hit in the puss by a pie.

Pie-throwing and receiving is a Sales legend. For historians of the art, he was asked about the first time a pie flew on one of his shows.

Soupy said it happened in Cleveland, in 1950, at WEXI-TV, where he did a live show with a wee budget. The studio was in the country. It was there he happened to meet a farmer with a horse.

"He said, 'Whah doan yew use mah horse on your show?'" Soupy recalled. "I says, 'Okay.' And the director says, 'What are you going to do with a horse?'"

"I say, 'Get me a loin cloth and a feather and a sign that says 'Son of Cochine,' because in those days 'Broken Arrow' with Jeff Chandler and Michael An-sara was a very big movie. "So we set the camera up, we put the farmer in a U.S. cavalry uniform, and me and my loin cloth and feather come galloping over the hill on his horse, me hanging on for dear life. I got to where he was standing and I fell off."

"Then I said, 'White man come take away Indian country, take away buffalo, take away squaw, take away happy hunting ground. What is left for Indian?' And the guy hit me with a pie."

Although most people think of Soupy as a pie-thrower, he says he's the one who usually gets hit, "because throwing 'em makes you a heavy. They usually come at the tag line of a joke."

"Like a guy comes to the door, says, 'Would you give ten dollars to help the Old Ladies' Home,' and I say, 'Why, are they out again?' And BLAM!"

For the record, Soupy's lunch during the interview consisted of the swordfish platter and two glasses of wine. But no pie.

State Plans To Fight Rate Hike For Edison

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state plans to seek an emergency court order barring Detroit Edison Co. from immediately raising its rates by $13.8 million.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Rick Coy said Thursday a request for an order will be filed, probably on Monday, in the Michigan Court of Appeals to halt collections of the money.

Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Donald Reisig on Wednesday said Edison could collect the extra rates because the state Public Service Commission erred in handling Edison's $178 million rate request.

The PSC granted Edison a $12.4 million rate hike on March 30, almost a year after Edison filed its case. An interim rate increase, to tide the company over until the final decision, was denied by the PSC on Feb. 9. "This is the type of precedent-setting decision that is just made for great appellate battles," said Coy.

Under Reisig's order, the money could be collected only on bills in 1976. Though Edison has not yet calculated how much this would mean for its 1.7 million customers, the average residential customer would probably pay an about 20 cents extra each month this year, on top of increases from the $62.4 million hike.

The heart of Edison's suit, which seeks a total $107.4 million, will most likely not be heard for several months.

Edison has alleged that the PSC's rate award was "unlawful and arbitrary" and that the rates set were, in effect, a confiscation of shareholders' properly. It has warned that brownouts and blackouts will occur by 1978 without higher rates to help attract construction capital.

PSC Chairman Daniel Denlow was in New York Thursday and could not comment on the unexpected turn of events in the Edison case. The PSC is, however, expected to join the attorney general in appealing the Reisig order.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall and Frank Church have signaled they will not make massive efforts fighting California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in the June 8 California primary because of Brown's home-state power.

Udall and Church bowed out of a televised debate with Brown in Los Angeles next week, spokesmen said Thursday.

Carter said he would concentrate on New Jersey and Ohio, which also have June 8 primaries.

Udall also indicated he will make major efforts in those two states — and did mention California — while Church is concentrating on the smaller primary states before June 8 to seek momentum for the California voting.

Meanwhile, the candidates were seeking votes in some of the states that are holding their primaries this Tuesday, in addition to states voting on June 8.

Both Carter and Church were scheduled to campaign in Oregon, but the former Georgia governor planned to fly later to San Francisco. Brown's schedule took him to Nevada, while Udall, who spent Thursday campaigning in Kentucky and New Jersey, listed a day in Washington, D.C., on his agenda. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was in his home state.

President Ford was scheduled to spend the day in Washington, too, while Ronald Reagan, challenging Ford for the Republican nomination, planned campaign stops in Tennessee and Arkansas.

About 18 per cent of all Democratic convention delegates will be chosen June 8, making it the biggest primary day in terms of numbers.

Delegates in New Jersey and Ohio will be selected on a winner-take-all basis at the district level, while California's delegation will be selected proportionally.

Carter, admitting Brown will get many of California's delegates, told an Oregon news conference Wednesday. "He will have to fight me for every one," Carter aides said he planned to spend at least $300,000 in the California fight. Udall said in a New Jersey campaign appearance Thursday that he plans to spend $150,000 to $200,000 of the federal matching funds he is due in that state. He added he would spend as many days seeking the 108 Jersey delegates as in search of the 152 Ohio delegates.

Rate Of Inflation Trending Upward?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite recent price fluctuations, government economists are holding to their prediction that over-all inflation this year will be near 6 per cent.

Although consumer prices so far have increased at a rate much less than 6 per cent, most economists think the inflation indices will begin showing a rising trend in months ahead.

The consumer price index for April was to be released today by the Labor Department, and several economists said it could show a small increase over the two-tenths of 1 per cent gained in March.

During the first three months of the year, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 2.8 per cent, a low rate that most economists believe could not be maintained for long.

Food prices actually declined by 2 per cent during the January-March period. The Agriculture Department this week had additional good news for consumers, saying the overall increase for food prices this year might be between 2 to 5 per cent, which would be the smallest annual increase in four years.

Mass Killer's Girlfriend Due For June Parole

By ERIC KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Caril Fugate, who at 14 accompanied mass murderer Charles Starkweather on a rampage that shocked the nation, gets a chance for parole next month after spending more than half her life in prison.

Flint Man Plans Big Ocean Hop

NEW YORK (AP) — Karl Thomas wants to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a star-spangled red, white and blue balloon.

Thomas, a 27-year-old German-born airport operator from Flint, Mich., said he plans to take off from an undisclosed site in New Jersey sometime before Aug. 1.

He said Thursday he hopes it will be a three-to-seven day flight ending in Paris, "but it could be a thousand miles north or south."

The expedition is the ninth known attempt at a manned-balloon Atlantic crossing. Thomas said the aim of his flight is "to be first — that's it, plus the enjoyment of taking on a task and succeeding at it."

The 10-story helium-filled balloon will be attached to a 14-foot gondola which is fitted with a sail, in case the solo air trip turns into a solo sea trip.

Fugate's release, and Parole Board sources say a new identity and residence have been prepared for Miss Fugate in another Midwestern state.

She accompanied Starkweather on a 1958 killing spree that claimed 10 victims. Starkweather, who was executed in 1959, also was implicated in a gas station robbery which left one man dead.

Miss Fugate went to prison in 1959 — she was tried as an adult — and a series of unsuccessful appeals followed. She has never received a disciplinary citation in her years at the York Women's Reformatory, where she has studied to be a geriatrics nurse's aide.

Despite protests from victims' families, Nebraska's Pardon Board — composed of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state — commuted her life sentence in 1973, making her eligible for parole.

The murders started in Miss Fugate's home. Her mother and stepfather were shot, her 2-year-old sister clubbed to death. It was right after Miss Fugate's mother told Starkweather she didn't think he was a good influence on her daughter.

Their bodies were found on Monday, Jan. 27, 1958, and the body of a bachelor farmer, August Meyer, was discovered the next afternoon at his farm near Lincoln.

That same day — Tuesday — Starkweather's car became stuck in the mud on a rural road, and Robert Jensen and his girlfriend, Carol King, stopped to give Starkweather and Miss Fugate a ride. Their bodies were found later that day in the storm cellar of an abandoned school house near Lincoln.

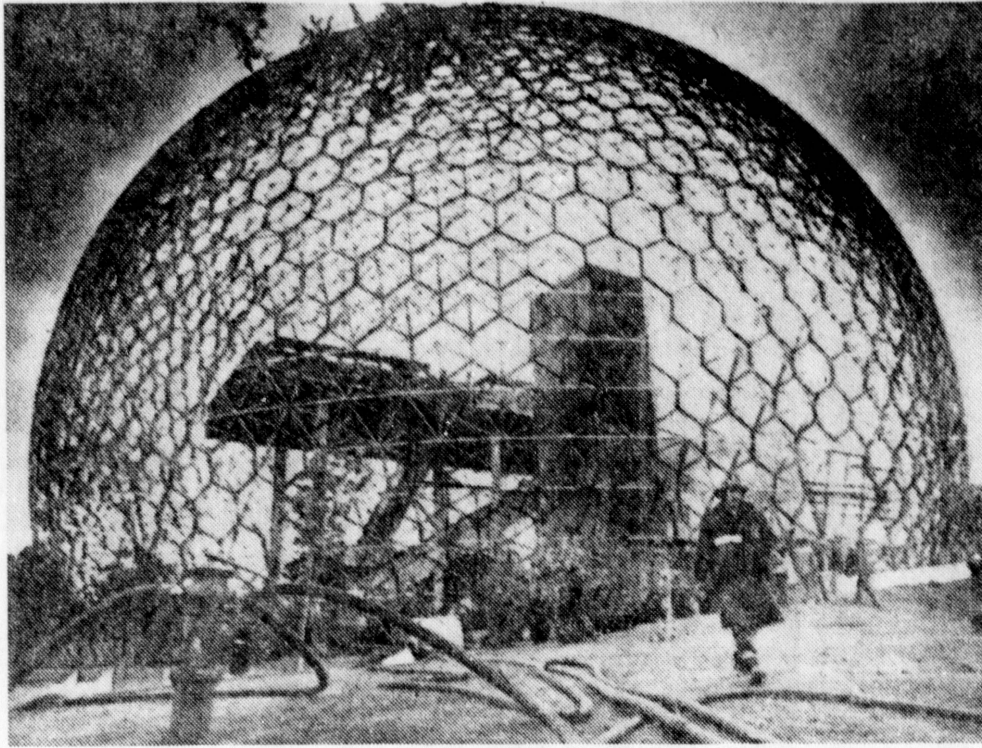

It was for Jensen's killing that Miss Fugate was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison.

When the bodies of C.L. Ward, his wife, Clara, and their maid, Lillian Fencel, were found in their Lincoln home on Wednesday, the governor called out the National Guard.

A search of the frightened city failed to turn up Starkweather, who was on his way to Wyoming. He killed a salesman on a rural road there before a citizen and a police officer captured him near the town of Douglas. Joe Sprinkle, a Casper, Wyo., geologist, wrestled a rifle from Starkweather after it jammed.

As Starkweather was captured, Miss Fugate ran to authorities saying, "He's going to kill me. He's crazy. He just killed a man."

She said Starkweather would have killed her if she had tried to escape. But Starkweather told a different story — he said Miss Fugate was a willing accomplice.

Warning Shots, Tear Gas Daily Rituals In Jerusalem

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli troops man the castle-like walls of Jerusalem, firing tear gas at roving demonstrators. Black smoke hangs over Arab towns, where swarms of children light protest bonfires of oil-soaked tires.

Soldiers patrol in armored cars, firing warning shots skyward. Arab students pelt them with stones and chant: "In blood and fire we will redeem our land."

Arab demonstrations and clashes with Israeli troops have become almost daily rituals in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

Ten Palestinian Arabs have died in four months of riots, and Israel is worried about the backlash.

To reduce the bloodshed, the Israeli Ministry of Defense has issued tear gas to troops accustomed to only live ammunition and is considering the use of rubber bullets.

Israeli officials admit that the clashes have stirred growing sympathy for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) among the West Bank's 670,000 Arabs. "If King Hussein of Jordan were running for election as a mayor on the West Bank, he would have to pose as a gentleman from the PLO," said one senior Israeli official.

But authoritative sources concede there is no sign that the demonstrations have been fomented by the PLO. "We have not been able to discover any organized body controlling these disturbances," said a Defense Ministry official.

The demonstrations began last autumn and intensified in February when a court ruling, later repealed, permitted Jews to worship at religious sites revered by both Moslems and Jews but in Moslem zones.

Arabs accuse the Jews of trying to take over their mosques on the holy Temple Mount in Jerusalem, and they are angry at Jewish settlements being built on the West Bank.

The Israeli government is sensitive about the demonstrations.

Dad, Sons Saved From SJ River

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — Two employees of a marina just north of here rescued an Indiana man and his two small children after their boat overturned on the St. Joseph river yesterday. Buchanan police credited the quick action of Neil Coulston, 25, of Niles, and Gary Holstein, 21, of 114 Hamilton street, Buchanan, with saving the lives of the trio.

Police said Geordin Johnson, 53, of Valparaiso, Ind., was unable explain why his small motor boat overturned on the river just north of Buchanan shortly before noon yesterday. Johnson said he, and his two sons Jimmy, 8, and Geordin IV, age 4, floated down river for over half a city block before Coulston and Holstein came to their rescue.

Johnson said he and his younger son were hanging on to one of the boat's floatable cushions, but the older boy had to swim. None of the three wore life jackets.

Coulston and Holstein are employees of Smitty's Marine, located off of Red Bud Trail just north of Buchanan.

Holstein said he and Coulston heard the two boys' cries for help and jumped into a boat to reach the trio floating down the river. He said Coulston jumped into the water to help Johnson get the two boys aboard the marina boat.

Police said Johnson and the two boys were shaken and chilled by the experience, but were not injured and did not require treatment. While the two boys huddled under blankets in a Buchanan police car, Holstein and Coulston retrieved Johnson's overturned boat and fishing tackle from the river.

Johnson said he and his two sons were on a fishing vacation and that he has fished and boated on the river for the past 30 years without incident. The three returned to a camper near the river where they are staying during their vacation.

Kesterke noted the new law also provides that petitions for recall of municipal officials are now to be filed with the county clerk's office. They were previously filed with the clerk where the recall was to take place.

Memorial, Mercy Spared Borrowing As Bill Passes

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor Mercy hospital will not have to borrow money to avoid a cash-flow shortage anticipated by hospital officials because of a State Senate bill passed Thursday which releases Medicaid payments.

C.T. Loftus, executive vice president, noted Mercy had not been paid Medicaid payments by the state for three weeks, resulting in a $160,000 deficit. Loftus said about 30 per cent of Mercy's revenue comes from Medicaid payments.

St. Joseph Memorial hospital was not in as tight a situation as Mercy since only about 10 per cent of its revenue comes from Medicaid, according to Robert Bradburn, hospital administrator. He said the state owes Memorial about $30,000 in Medicaid payments.

Both officials conceded that had the payments been held up much longer the hospitals may have been forced to borrow money to solve the cash-flow problem.

The bill, passed 32-4 by the Senate, allows the state to resume Medicaid reimbursements as part of a $99.9 million supplemental social services appropriation. The bill would fund programs at hospitals, nursing homes, doctors' offices, and home health care centers through June 30.

Passage of the bill gives the Department of Social Services the go-ahead to issue some $25 million in payments which had backed up as the legislature stalled the measure.

Earlier this week, several medical associations said some hospitals which serve the poor

Her family is well known in farming circles and for many years has been engaged in the wholesale purchase of fruit both on the old and new Benton Harbor markets, and at Eau Claire and Bangor as D.R. (Bud) Shaffer Co., CBS and Triple S Orchards & Produce.

The woman judge was graduated from Benton Harbor high school in 1942, and received a bachelor's degree with honors in 1945 from the University of Michigan. She earned her law degree from the U. of M. law school. Upon graduation from law school she began the general practice of law in Benton Harbor with Atty. Robert P. Small under her maiden name of Shaffer. In 1952, she became a member of the law firm of Small, Zick and Shaffer, later Small & Shaffer.

Judge Burkholz is active in the Michigan Probate and Juvenile Court Judges' association, and has served on several state organizations under appointment by the governor. She has been chairman of the State Board of Canners, an which she served from 1955 until 1972.

She has been active in numerous local civic and service organizations. In 1975, Lake Michigan college awarded her an honorary degree and gave her a Woman of the Year award. She is married to R.J. Burkholz, Realtor and member of the Berrien county board of commissioners. They have two children, ages 19 and 15.

District Judge Taylor today confirmed his earlier public indication of his intentions to seek the new circuit seat.

Taylor, 49, was elected district judge in 1974. He previously served two terms as Benton township clerk and was elected to two terms as Berrien county prosecuting attorney. He has practiced law in St. Joseph since 1962, and has served as a state and national consultant on court and prosecution management under the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of Washington, D.C.

"As a legal management specialist, a practicing lawyer, a prosecutor, defender and judge, I have had an opportunity to view the judicial system from all aspects. As a result, I am convinced that the future of the courts lies in the application of modern management principles to court operation. I hope my background will assist the circuit court in streamlining its procedures, while at the same time maintaining the same high standards of justice which have always characterized that court."

A graduate of St. Joseph high school and Western Michigan university, Taylor holds a law degree from Wayne State university and is a diplomate of the National College of the State Judiciary. He has been a lecturer and author for the National College of District Attorneys and the National District Attorneys' association since 1972, and has held several national and state offices in prosecution and judicial fields, he said. As a lawyer, he has practiced before all state and federal level courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court.

Judge Taylor and his wife, Nancy, and their two sons, ages 11 and 10, are members of St. Paul's Episcopal church in St. Joseph. They reside in Benton township.

State Plans To Fight Rate Hike For Edison

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state plans to seek an emergency court order barring Detroit Edison Co. from immediately raising its rates by $13.8 million.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Rick Coy said Thursday a request for an order will be filed, probably on Monday, in the Michigan Court of Appeals to halt collections of the money.

Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Donald Reisig on Wednesday said Edison could collect the extra rates because the state Public Service Commission erred in handling Edison's $178 million rate request.

The PSC granted Edison a $62.4 million rate hike on March 30, almost a year after Edison filed its case. An interim rate increase, to tide the company over until the final decision, was denied by the PSC on Feb. 9. "This is the type of precedent-setting decision that is just made for great appellate battles," said Coy.

Under Reisig's order, the money could be collected only on bills in 1976. Though Edison has not yet calculated how much this would mean for its 1.7 million customers, the average residential customer would probably pay an about 20 cents extra each month this year, on top of increases from the $62.4 million hike.

The heart of Edison's suit, which seeks a total $107.4 million, will most likely not be heard for several months.

Edison has alleged that the PSC's rate award was "unlawful and arbitrary" and that the rates set were, in effect, a confiscation of shareholders' property. It has warned that brownouts and blackouts will occur by 1978 without higher rates to help attract construction capital.

PSC Chairman Daniel Demlow was in New York Thursday and could not comment on the unexpected turn of events in the Edison case. The PSC is, however, expected to join the attorney general in appealing the Reisig order.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall and Frank Church have signaled they will not make massive efforts fighting California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in the June 8 California primary because of Brown's home-state power.

Udall and Church bowed out of a televised debate with Brown in Los Angeles next week, spokesmen said Thursday.

Carter said he would concentrate on New Jersey and Ohio, which also have June 8 primaries.

Udall also indicated he will make major efforts in those two states — and did mention California — while Church is concentrating on the smaller primary states before June 8 to seek momentum for the California voting.

Meanwhile, the candidates were seeking votes in some of the states that are holding their primaries this Tuesday, in addition to states voting on June 8.

Both Carter and Church were scheduled to campaign in Oregon, but the former Georgia governor planned to fly later to San Francisco. Brown's schedule took him to Nevada, while Udall, who spent Thursday campaigning in Kentucky and New Jersey, listed a day in Washington, D.C., on his agenda. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was in his home state.

President Ford was scheduled to spend the day in Washington, too, while Ronald Reagan, challenging Ford for the Republican nomination, planned campaign stops in Tennessee and Arkansas.

About 18 per cent of all Democratic convention delegates will be chosen June 8, making it the biggest primary day in terms of numbers.

Delegates in New Jersey and Ohio will be selected on a winner-take-all basis at the district level, while California's delegation will be selected proportionally.

Carter, admitting Brown will get many of California's delegates, told an Oregon news conference Wednesday. "He will have to fight me for every one," Carter aides said he planned to spend at least $300,000 in the California fight. Udall said in a New Jersey campaign appearance Thursday that he plans to spend $150,000 to $200,000 of the federal matching funds he is due in that state. He added he would spend as many days seeking the 108 Jersey delegates as in search of the 152 Ohio delegates.

Rate Of Inflation Trending Upward?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite recent price fluctuations, government economists are holding to their prediction that over-all inflation this year will be near 6 per cent.

Although consumer prices so far have increased at a rate much less than 6 per cent, most economists think the inflation indices will begin showing a rising trend in months ahead.

The consumer price index for April was to be released today by the Labor Department, and several economists said it could show a small increase over the two-tenths of 1 per cent gained in March.

During the first three months of the year, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 2.9 per cent, a low rate that most economists believe could not be maintained for long.

Food prices actually declined by 2 per cent during the January-March period. The Agriculture Department this week had additional good news for consumers, saying the overall increase for food prices this year might be between 2 to 5 per cent, which would be the smallest annual increase in four years.

Fresh $1.6 Million Due For Berrien CETA Jobs

By JIM DELAND
Assistant City Editor

More than $1.6 million in federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds has become available for public service jobs in Berrien county, CETA Director Weldon Burden announced today.

But Burden cautioned that the funds would support less than half the jobs on the CETA payroll in Berrien county last October and said that there was no indication when more money might become available. "We know we have to cut down the number of jobs and the number of agencies getting CETA positions," Burden said. "No agency will get all the CETA positions it had last year and several probably won't get any at all."

Burden said the new allocation of $1,670,000 in Title 2 funds from the Department of Labor would support some 200 to 230 full-time jobs in Berrien county for a seven-month period from

July 1 through Jan. 31 of next year.

He said this compares with a total of 520 jobs in Berrien on the CETA payroll last Oct. 1 supported by funds from both Title 2 and Title 6 allocations. Title 2 funds are designed to provide transitional employment for unemployed or underemployed workers in areas designated by the Department of Labor as having significant unemployment of 6.5 per cent or more for three consecutive months.

Title 6 funds, Burden said, are emergency allocations for areas with even higher unemployment levels, and supported some 60 per cent of the CETA jobs in Berrien county last year.

Burden explained that the new Title 2 funds were authorized in an appropriations bill passed by Congress and signed by President Ford last month.

All previously-allocated county funds under both titles will be exhausted by the end of June, Burden said, and Congress has not yet approved continuation of Title 6 funding — a measure Ford has indicated he will veto.

"We have no idea about Title 6," Burden said. "The National Association of counties has advised us not to put any Title 6 funds in the budget before October, and there's no guarantee we'll get any then."

Burden said most agencies in Berrien county already have laid off their CETA employees because funds have run out and that he anticipated less than 90 CETA jobs in the entire county would run until the end of June. In distributing the new $1.6 million allocation, Burden said his office would start from scratch in evaluation of agencies and their applications for CETA funding.

He said his office yesterday sent proposals to 78 agencies who had CETA workers last year and that other public and private non-profit agencies wishing to request CETA funding should call 927-2476 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for information on application procedures. All applications must be submitted no later than Thursday, June 3, at the county CETA office, 145 West Main street, Benton Harbor, 49022.

Burden said screening of applications by the county CETA board's public service employment committee would begin June 8 and that he hoped the selection process would be completed by June 15 and that contracts would be out before July 1.

He said the Department of Labor last year directed the county to reduce the number of agencies receiving CETA funds from 78 to about 50 or 55, and that the present reduction in available funds could produce an even more drastic cut.

Burden added that CETA jobs must be distributed throughout the county according to a formula based on population and unemployment, which at present would mean a cut for every agency.

"Just because an agency had a whole bunch of CETA workers last year and did a terrific job doesn't mean they'll get the same number this year," he said.

Berrien Pulls Out Of Valuation Fight

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien county has dropped its fight with the State Tax Commission (STC) over increases tacked onto the county's 1975 equalized valuation.

The county board of commissioners voted 8 to 4 yesterday to withdraw Berrien's tax equalization appeal which had challenged a $39 million increase slapped onto the county's valuation last year by the STC.

In addition, commissioners noted the City of St. Joseph "has expressed a willingness" to dismiss its appeal against the county contingent upon the county's dismissal of its appeal. The county set St. Joseph's 1975 real estate valuation at $58,903,687, and the city had appealed that figure, claiming it deserved another $2,081,325 in valuation.

Voting against dropping the appeal were Commissioners Lad Stacey, Kenneth Wendzel, Rolland Oselka, and R.J. Burkholz. Voting to dismiss the appeal were Chairman Leslie Fischer, and Commissioners Edward Matix, Victor Greer, George Wyburn, Nancy Clark, Otto Gran, Frank Poorman, and Walter Heyn. Commissioner Bill Joseph of Benton Harbor was absent.

The board in April, 1975, voted 7 to 6 to knock a 4½ per cent inflation factor out of the real property valuation proposed by the county's equalization department. The STC later added $38 million (the 4½ per cent inflation figure) to the $58,903,687 figure adopted by the board.

In restoring the cutback, the STC also tacked on another $590,407 in real property and $203,656 in personal property valuations. Taxes were paid in 1975 at the levels adopted by the STC, although Berrien was fighting the additional sums and had hoped to give some kind of rebate to taxpayers if the county won its appeal.

The resolution which dismissed the appeal noted "the cost of refunding any benefit that might be obtained is likely to equal or exceed the value of the benefit itself."

The strongest opposition to the dismissal came from Wendzel and Stacey, with Wendzel labeling the dismissal "selling Berrien county taxpayers down the river."

"We're destroying what we stood for a year ago," Wendzel charged. "The equalization report was wrong. I can't believe the board would now turn around with its tail between its legs and bury this thing."

Noted Stacey: "The strong dictatorship of the STC is a constant thorn in our side. I think this is the state's plan (that the county would drop the challenge) by putting this off this far."

The county's appeal has been tied-up while the STC and the State Tax Tribunal, a new agency designed to hear tax appeals, fight over which organization has jurisdiction to hear the appeals. No action had been taken on the county's appeal.

Matix noted the STC had ordered all cities and townships to respond to the STC by June 3, with the local units represented by their own legal counsel, and not just one appeal by the county. "There's a question of benefits even if the appeal is won," he commented.

He added he felt any rebate "would be insignificant to the individual taxpayer."

Both Wendzel and Stacey both said they had not heard of any townships wishing to pull out of the appeal.

Fischer commented that commissioners voted as their constituents would have wanted them to vote, and added: "I feel the board has done the right thing" in dismissing the appeal.

Retail Prices Rise .4%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by the first rise in retail food costs in four months, consumer prices increased four-tenths of a per cent in April, the government said today.

The increase was the biggest price rise since January and was twice as large as the March increase of two-tenths of a per cent. However, it still was well within the Ford administration's prediction for an over-all 6 per cent increase in prices during all of 1978.

The Labor Department said the price of food rose six-tenths of a per cent during April, the first rise since a six-tenths of a per cent rise in December. Food prices had declined during the first three months of 1978 by a total of 2 per cent.

There were higher prices during April for fresh fruits and vegetables, coffee, pork, poultry and dairy products. The price of beef fell six-tenths of a per cent, but the decline was smaller than in the previous two months.

Tax Description Director Named

HAZEL C. SCHMIDT
Gets County Post

Hazel C. Schmidt, 33, has been appointed Berrien county tax description director, succeeding Michael Calender, who resigned in April.

Miss Schmidt, ofodus, began working for Berrien county in 1962 as a clerk in the tax description office. She served in other capacities with county departments until returning to the tax description office in 1970 as a draftsman, her most recent position.

She is a graduate of Coloma high school and attended Michigan State university for two years. Miss Schmidt's new salary is $12,000.

Tax description prepares and prints the assessment rolls for the 39 taxing units in the county, and also makes new descriptions of properties when deeds or land contracts require the splitting of present property.

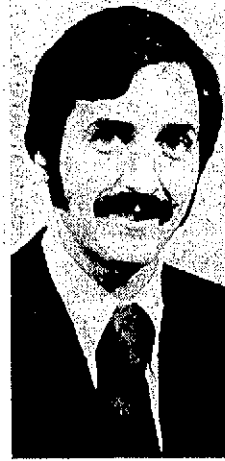

Fruit Firm Has New President

HARTFORD — Curtis Drake of Hartford was elected the new president of Shafer Lake Fruit, Inc., following the 14th annual meeting of the closely-held fruit marketing firm. Directors named him to succeed Arthur Dowd, also of Hartford, who has held the position the past three years.

Other officers elected to serve with Drake for the next year are: Stanley Dowd, vice president; Donald Drake, treasurer; and Myron Dowd, secretary-manager. The directors approved the promotion of Plant Manager Dale Drake, 28, Paw Paw, to assistant general manager, with the intention that he will succeed General Manager Myron Dowd. Myron Dowd, who has been general manager of the firm since its formation in 1962, said he intends to retire next year.

The firm has five stockholders, all members of the Dowd and Drake families. In other business at the annual meeting, it was reported that 1975 was a "good year", and that prospects for 1976 are "poor" because of heavy frost damage to fruit crops this spring. Bob Cornell of Hartford was continued as the firm's fieldman. The Shafer Lake Fruit plant is located east of Hartford on Red Arrow highway. In normal volume years, it packs and sells approximately 5,000 tons of fruit per season.

103,500 Signatures

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 103,500 signatures have been collected in support of a ban on throwaway bottles and cans, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs said Thursday. The MUCC, which is sponsoring the petition drive, said another 400,000 petition forms are still in circulation. The group needs 300,000 signatures by the June 1 deadline in order to put the question on the ballot. Gov. William Milliken was the first to sign the MUCC petition, though state groups have split over whether to support the ban. Supporters say a ban would cut litter, save money on litter pickup, save energy and conserve materials used to produce throwaway bottles and cans. "Under the proposal, consumers would pay deposits on returnable bottles and cans. Opponents say a ban on throwaways would eliminate high-paying jobs in the long run and save little energy."

MORE FEDERAL MONEY IS GOAL Berrien Appoints 18 To Panel

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday appointed 18 people to the county's new Overall Economic Development Planning committee, which county officials hope will be instrumental in bringing federal money into the county.

Commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the planning and special services committee, estimated Berrien may be eligible for about $1 million in economic development funds as a result of the new committee.

She noted economic planning previously had been a dual function, of the CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) board, but because of a recent U.S. Department of Labor directive, the authority was separated and the new committee created.

Charles Schrenk, a member of the committee and director of the economic development department for the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said the new committee will establish priorities for federal funding for economic development programs.

The committee will look at the county's economic development needs, update the development plan, and make recommendations to the county board. "It's laying a foundation for better cooperation between local agencies and the federal Economic Development Administration," he noted.

"It's the most organized effort to date to look at economic development" in Berrien county," Schrenk added.

Some of the eligible funding might include low-interest loans for expansion of industries, construction of buildings to be rented to industries, and a revolving loan program, Schrenk forecast.

The committee will also continue the planning functions in the economic area previously conducted by the CETA board, he said.

Named to the committee were: Walter Leatz and Loren Gerber, of Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co.; Drain Commissioner Carl Gnodtke; Fred Krause and William Warner of the county planning commission; and Frederick Under of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Also appointed were William Klinger, Niles Area Chamber of Commerce; Edgar Morris, Berrien health department; Thomas Sinn, regional planning commission; Donald Peterson, Chikaming township supervisor; Robert Alberts, First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan; and James Burnham, Niles businessman.

Others include John North, of Inter-City Bank; County Commissioners Bill Joseph and Rolland Oselka; Raymond Sexton, a realtor; and Richard Proud, of Buchanan community schools.

Mrs. Clark noted more people will be added to the committee at a later date.

In other business yesterday, the board:

—Granted an additional $10,000 to the Berrien citizens' grand jury for continuing the grand jury for at least two more months, according to Commissioner Frank Poorman. The board in February appropriated $17,000 to establish the grand jury, which was to run for six months. So far the grand jury has indicted 12 people, and charges have been dismissed against one.

—Agreed to share the cost to replace a bridge on Harner road near Naimd road in Pipestone township. The county, the county road commission, and the township will each pay $1,400.

—Endorsed a request from the City of Watervliet for the city to construct a bridge on Batternet street where it crosses Mill Creek. The present bridge has been condemned and the state ordered it replaced, according to commissioners.

—Joined with Cass and Van Buren counties to create a Human Resources commission to administer substance abuse services in the tri-county area.

Area Bank Workers Tested On Mock Robbery At Seminar

A robbery demonstration was a feature of a bank security seminar attended by more than 150 employees of banks in southwestern Michigan this week at Lake Michigan college.

The seminar was sponsored by Farmers and Merchants National bank and Inter-City bank in cooperation with the law enforcement training division of LMC.

The robbery demonstration was staged by Deis, Robert Massengale and Thomas Schneider of the Benton Harbor police department. People at the seminar then took an identification quiz on descriptions of the "bandits," and their method of operation.

Quiz answers were then compared with the "facts."

Guest speaker was Walter VonStraat, retired state police lieutenant and presently examiner of questioned documents for the Michigan Department of Social Services.

A film, "The Bank Robber and You," was shown. It was produced for security training by the Michigan Bankers association.

Co-chairmen of the seminar were Mrs. Sue Farmer, director of public relations for F&M, and Ralph Stanley, ICB security officer. Lt. Michael Devine represented LMC. It was the fifth annual seminar presented by F&M and ICB. Employees of other banks attending were from Peoples State, St. Joseph, First National of Southwestern Michigan, Niles, Community, Dowagiac, West Michigan State, Bangor, First National, Watervliet, Bank of Three Oaks, and Niles National Bank & Trust Co.

Second Republican Joins Race For Coloma Township Board

COLOMA — A second candidate for a two-year trustee post on the Coloma township board has filed for election.

Jacob Thar, of 4975 Red Arrow highway, Coloma, filed for the Republican nomination with Township Clerk John Ferris. Last week, another Republican candidate, William Kennedy, filed petitions for the same post. If neither withdraws, there will be a primary contest for the GOP nomination.

Thar, 37, is a general mechanic at the Clark Equipment company, Benton Harbor, and seeks public office for the first time.

A chief steward for Local 1290, UAW, Thar and his wife, Kathleen Ruby, have four children.

Both Thar and Kennedy seek the remaining two-year term of a four-year term of former Trustee John Ferris, who was appointed township clerk last November.

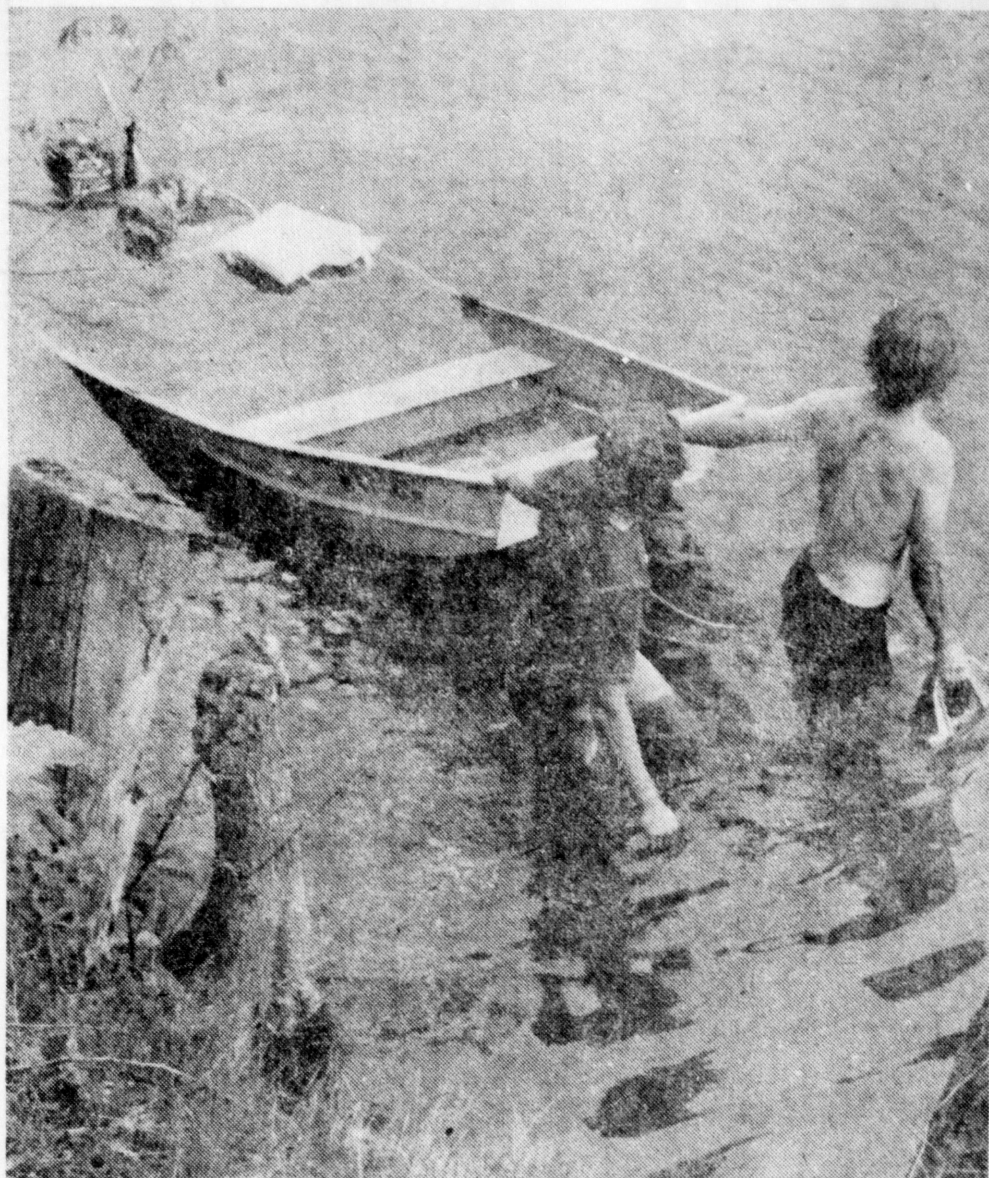

Filing deadline for all township offices is 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 1, at the township clerk's office.

Dad, Sons Saved From SJ River

South Berrien Bureau

BUCHANAN — Two employees of a marina just north of here rescued an Indiana man and his two small children after their boat overturned on the St. Joseph river yesterday. Buchanan police credited the quick action of Neil Coulston, 25, of Niles, and Gary Holstein, 21, of 114 Hamilton street, Buchanan, with saving the lives of the trio.

Police said Geordin Johnson, 53, of Valparaiso, Ind., was unable explain why his small motor boat overturned on the river just north of Buchanan shortly before noon yesterday.

Johnson said he, and his two sons Jimmy, 8, and Geordin IV, age 4, floated down river for over half a city block before Coulston and Holstein came to their rescue.

Johnson said he and his younger son were hanging on to one of the boat's floatable cushions, but the older boy had to swim. None of the three wore life jackets.

Coulston and Holstein are employees of Smitty's Marine, located off of Red Bud Trail just north of Buchanan.

Holstein said he and Coulston heard the two boys' cries for help and jumped into a boat to reach the trio floating down the river. He said Coulston jumped into the water to help Johnson get the two boys aboard the marina boat.

Police said Johnson and the two boys were shaken and chilled by the experience, but were not injured and did not require treatment. While the two boys huddled under blankets in a Buchanan police car, Holstein and Coulston retrieved Johnson's overturned boat and fishing tackle from the river.

Johnson said he and his two sons were on a fishing vacation and that he has fished and boated on the river for the past 10 years without incident. The three returned to a camper near the river where they are staying during their vacation.

tiated in January after former City Manager Charles Morrison's contract was not renewed.

Kesterke noted the new law also provides that petitions for recall of municipal officials are now to be filed with the county clerk's office. They were previously filed with the clerk where the recall was to take place.

At the county level, Kesterke explained, recall petitions for county commissioners would be filed with the county clerk's office, but petitions for all other county officials would be filed with the secretary of state's office.

Memorial, Mercy Spared Borrowing As Bill Passes

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Benton Harbor Mercy hospital will not have to borrow money to avoid a cash-flow shortage anticipated by hospital officials because of a State Senate bill passed Thursday which releases Medicaid payments.

C.T. Loftus, executive vice president, noted Mercy had not been paid Medicaid payments by the state for three weeks, resulting in a $150,000 deficit. Loftus said about 30 per cent of Mercy's revenue comes from Medicaid payments.

St. Joseph Memorial hospital was not in as tight a situation as Mercy since only about 10 per cent of its revenue comes from Medicaid, according to Robert Bradburn, hospital administrator. He said the state owes Memorial about $50,000 in Medicaid payments.

Both officials conceded that had the payments been held up much longer the hospitals may have been forced to borrow money to solve the cash-flow problem.

The bill, passed 32-4 by the Senate, allows the state to resume Medicaid reimbursements as part of a $99.9 million supplemental social services appropriation. The bill would fund programs at hospitals, nursing homes, doctors' offices, and home health care centers through June 30.

Passage of the bill gives the Department of Social Services the go-ahead to issue some $25 million in payments which had backed up as the legislature stalled the measure.

Earlier this week, several medical associations said some hospitals which serve the poor may be forced to close unless the state hastened the Medicaid payments which are included in the bill.

Briton Is Still Angered

LONDON (AP) — British playwright John Osborne looked back in anger at the United States Thursday after an eight-day visit and declared it "ludicrous, idiotic and plastic."

"They're so idiotic that it almost makes you wish that if there's a war the Russians will win," the 46-year-old author of "Look Back in Anger" told reporters at Heathrow airport.

"The place is filled with people utterly possessed of themselves," he said. "There are failures all over the place trying to make out they're successful."

"There's no conversation — not even gossip. The Americans don't even talk about what they've done and seen. It's unbelievable."

Osborne was among the "angry young men" of the British theater in the 1950s, and in 1961 bitterly attacked his homeland in an open letter titled "Damn You England."

The Daily Mail tabloid headlined its story on his latest outburst: "Damn you America, says John Osborne."

Osborne and his actress wife, Jill Bennett, 45, visited Los Angeles and New York.

She commented, "Over there they all seem so unreal, they all appeared to be frightened," and added:

"Los Angeles is a city without a center. You can't feel an outsider because there isn't any inside."

A graduate of St. Joseph high school and Western Michigan university, Taylor holds a law degree from Wayne State university and is a diplomate of the National College of the State Judiciary. He has been a lecturer and author for the National College of District Attorneys and the National District Attorneys' association since 1972, and has held several national and state offices in prosecution and judicial fields, he said. Fresh $1.6 Million Due For Berrien CETA Jobs

By JIM DeLAND
Assistant City Editor

More than $1.6 million in federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds has become available for public service jobs in Berrien county, CETA Director Weldon Burden announced today.

But Burden cautioned that the funds would support less than half the jobs on the CETA payroll in Berrien county last October and said that there was no indication when more money might become available. "We know we have to cut down the number of jobs and the number of agencies getting CETA positions," Burden said. "No agency will get all the CETA positions it had last year and several probably won't get any at all."

Burden said the new allocation of $1,670,000 in Title 2 funds from the Department of Labor would support some 200 to 230 full-time jobs in Berrien county for a seven-month period from

July 1 through Jan. 31 of next year.

He said this compares with a total of 520 jobs in Berrien on the CETA payroll last Oct. 1 supported by funds from both Title 2 and Title 6 allocations. Title 2 funds are designed to provide transitional employment for unemployed or underemployed workers in areas designated by the Department of Labor as having significant unemployment of 6.5 per cent or more for three consecutive months.

Title 6 funds, Burden said, are emergency allocations for areas with even higher unemployment levels, and supported some 60 per cent of the CETA jobs in Berrien county last year.

Burden explained that the new Title 2 funds were authorized in an appropriations bill passed by Congress and signed by President Ford last month.

All previously-allocated county funds under both titles will be exhausted by the end of June, Burden said, and Congress has not yet approved continuation of Title 6 funding — a measure Ford has indicated he will veto.

"We have no idea about Title 6," Burden said. "The National Association of counties has advised us not to put any Title 6 funds in the budget before October, and there's no guarantee we'll get any then."

Burden said most agencies in Berrien county already have laid off their CETA employees because funds have run out and that he anticipated less than 90 CETA jobs in the entire county would run until the end of June. In distributing the new $1.6 million allocation, Burden said his office would start from scratch in evaluation of agencies and their applications for CETA funding.

He said his office yesterday sent proposals to 78 agencies who had CETA workers last year and that other public and private non-profit agencies wishing to request CETA funding should call 927-2476 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for information on application procedures. All applications must be submitted no later than Thursday, June 3, at the county CETA office, 145 West Main street, Benton Harbor, 49022.

Burden said screening of applications by the county CETA board's public service employment committee would begin June 8 and that he hoped the selection process would be completed by June 15 and that contracts would be out before July 1.

He said the Department of Labor last year directed the county to reduce the number of agencies receiving CETA funds from 78 to about 50 or 55, and that the present reduction in available funds could produce an even more drastic cut.

Burden added that CETA jobs must be distributed throughout the county according to a formula based on population and unemployment, which at present would mean a cut for every agency.

"Just because an agency had a whole bunch of CETA workers last year and did a terrific job doesn't mean they'll get the same number this year," he said.

Berrien Pulls Out Of Valuation Fight

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien county has dropped its fight with the State Tax Commission (STC) over increases tacked onto the county's 1975 equalized valuation.

The county board of commissioners voted 8 to 4 yesterday to withdraw Berrien's tax equalization appeal which had challenged a $39 million increase slapped onto the county's valuation last year by the STC.

In addition, commissioners noted the City of St. Joseph "has expressed a willingness" to dismiss its appeal against the county contingent upon the county's dismissal of its appeal. The county set St. Joseph's 1975 real estate valuation at $56,903,687, and the city had appealed that figure, claiming it deserved another $2,681,326 in valuation.

Voting against dropping the appeal were Commissioners Lad Stacey, Kenneth Wendzel, Rolland Oselka, and R.J. Burkholz. Voting to dismiss the appeal were Chairman Leslie Fischer, and Commissioners Edward Mattix, Victor Greer, George Wyburn, Nancy Clark, Otto Grau, Frank Poorman, and Walter Heyn. Commissioner Bill Joseph of Benton Harbor was absent.

The board in April, 1975, voted 7 to 6 to knock a 4½ per cent inflation factor out of the real property valuation proposed by the county's equalization department. The STC later added $38 million (the 4½ per cent inflation figure) to the $818,212,762 figure adopted by the board.

In restoring the cutback, the STC also tacked on another $390,407 in real property and $203,656 in personal property valuations. Taxes were paid in 1975 at the levels adopted by the STC, although Berrien was fighting the additional sums and had hoped to give some kind of rebate to taxpayers if the county won its appeal.

The resolution which dismissed the appeal noted "the cost of refunding any benefit that might be obtained is likely to equal or exceed the value of the benefit itself."

The strongest opposition to the dismissal came from Wendzel and Stacey, with Wendzel labeling the dismissal "selling Berrien county taxpayers down the river."

"We're destroying what we stood for a year ago," Wendzel charged. "The equalization report was wrong. I can't believe the board would now turn around with its tail between its legs and bury this thing."

Noted Stacey: "The strong dictatorship of the STC is a constant thorn in our side. I think this is the state's plan (that the county would drop the challenge) by putting this off this far."

The county's appeal has been tied-up while the STC and the State Tax Tribunal, a new agency designed to hear tax appeals, fight over which organization has jurisdiction to hear the appeals. No action had been taken on the county's appeal.

Mattix noted the STC had ordered all cities and townships to respond to the STC by June 3, with the local units represented by their own legal counsel, and not just one appeal by the county. "There's a question of benefits even if the appeal is won," he commented.

He added he felt any rebate "would be insignificant to the individual taxpayer."

Both Wendzel and Stacey both said they had not heard of any townships wishing to pull out of the appeal.

Fischer commented that commissioners voted as their constituents would have wanted them to vote, and added: "I feel the board has done the right thing" in dismissing the appeal.

Retail Prices Rise .4%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by the first rise in retail food costs in four months, consumer prices increased four-tenths of a per cent in April, the government said today.

The increase was the biggest price rise since January and was twice as large as the March increase of two-tenths of a per cent. However, it still was well within the Ford administration's prediction for an over-all 6 per cent increase in prices during all of 1976.

The Labor Department said the price of food rose six-tenths of a per cent during April, the first rise since a six-tenths of a per cent rise in December. Food prices had declined during the first three months of 1976 by a total of 2 per cent.

There were higher prices during April for fresh fruits and vegetables, coffee, pork, poultry and dairy products. The price of beef fell six-tenths of a per cent, but the decline was smaller than in the previous two months.

Tax Description Director Named

HAZEL C. SCHMIDT
Gets County Post

Hazel C. Schmidt, 33, has been appointed Berrien county tax description director, succeeding Michael Callender, who resigned in April.

Miss Schmidt, of Sodus, began working for Berrien county in 1962 as a clerk in the tax description office. She served in other capacities with county departments until returning to the tax description office in 1970 as a draftsman, her most recent position.

She is a graduate of Coloma high school and attended Michigan State university for two years. Miss Schmidt's new salary is $12,000.

Tax description prepares and prints the assessment rolls for the 39 taxing units in the county, and also makes new descriptions of properties when deeds or land contracts require the splitting of present property.

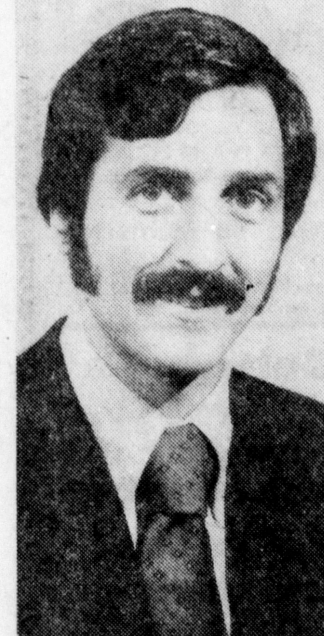

Fruit Firm Has New President

HARTFORD — Curis Drake of Hartford was elected the new president of Shafer Lake Fruit, Inc., following the 14th annual meeting of the closely-held fruit marketing firm. Directors named him to succeed Arthur Dowd, also of Hartford, who has held the position the past three years.

Other officers elected to serve with Drake for the next year

are: Stanley Dowd, vice president; Donald Drake, treasurer; and Myron Dowd, secretary-manager. The directors approved the promotion of Plant Manager Dale Drake, 28, Paw Paw, to assistant general manager, with the intention that he will succeed General Manager Myron Dowd. Myron Dowd, who has been general manager of the firm since its formation in 1962, said he intends to retire next year.

The firm has five stockholders, all members of the Dowd and Drake families. In other business at the annual meeting, it was reported that 1975 was a "good year", and that prospects for 1976 are "poor" because of heavy frost damage to fruit crops this spring. Bob Cornell of Hartford was continued as the firm's fieldman. The Shafer Lake Fruit plant is located east of Hartford on Red Arrow highway. In normal volume years, it packs and sells approximately 5,000 tons of fruit per season.

103,500 Signatures

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — More than 103,500 signatures have been collected in support of a ban on throwaway bottles and cans, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs said Thursday. The MUCC, which is sponsoring the petition drive, said another 400,000 petition forms are still in circulation. The group needs 300,000 signatures by the June 1 deadline in order to put the question on the ballot. Gov. William Milliken was the first to sign the MUCC petition, though state groups have split over whether to support the ban. Supporters say a ban would cut litter, save money on litter pickup, save energy and conserve materials used to produce throwaway bottles and cans. Under the proposal, consumers would pay deposits on returnable bottles and cans. Opponents say a ban on throwaways would eliminate high-paying jobs in the long run and save little energy.

MORE FEDERAL MONEY IS GOAL Berrien Appoints 18 To Panel

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday appointed 18 people to the county's new Overall Economic Development Planning committee, which county officials hope will be instrumental in bringing federal money into the county. Commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the planning and social services committee, estimated Berrien may be eligible for about $1 million in economic development funds as a result of the new committee.

She noted economic planning previously had been a dual function of the CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) board, but because of a recent U.S. Department of Labor directive, the authority was separated and the new committee created.

Charles Schrenk, a member of the committee and director of the economic development department for the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, said the new committee will establish priorities for federal funding for economic development programs.

The committee will look at the county's economic development needs, update the development plan, and make recommendations to the county board. "It's laying a foundation for better cooperation between local agencies and the federal Economic Development Administration," he noted.

"It's the most organized effort to date to look at economic development in Berrien county," Schrenk added.

Some of the eligible funding might include low-interest loans for expansion of industries, construction of buildings to be rented to industries, and a revolving loan program, Schrenk forecasted.

The committee will also continue the planning functions in the economic area previously conducted by the CETA board, he said.

Named to the committee were: Walter Leatz and Loren Gerber, of Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co.; Drain Commissioner Carl Gnodtke; Fred Krause and William Womer of the county planning commission; and Fredrick Udem of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Also appointed were William Klinger, Niles Area Chamber of Commerce; Edgar Morris, Berrien health department; Thomas Sinn, regional planning commission; Donald Peterson, Chikaming township supervisor; Robert Alberts, First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan; and James Burnham, Niles businessman.

Others include John North, of Inter-City Bank; County Commissioner Bill Joseph and Rolland Oselka; Raymond Sexton, a realtor; and Richard Proud, of Buchanan community schools.

Mrs. Clark noted more people will be added to the committee at a later date.

In other business yesterday, the board:

—Granted an additional $10,000 to the Berrien citizens' grand jury for continuing the grand jury for at least two more months, according to Commissioner Frank Poorman. The board in February appropriated $17,000 to establish the grand jury, which was to run for six months. So far the grand jury has indicted 12 people, and charges have been dismissed against one.

—Agreed to share the cost to replace a bridge on Harner road near Naomi road in Pipestone township. The county, the county road commission, and the township will each pay $3,400.

—Endorsed a request from the City of Watervliet for the city to construct a bridge on Butternut street where it crosses Mill Creek. The present bridge has been condemned and the state ordered it replaced, according to commissioners.

—Joined with Cass and Van Buren counties to create a Human Resources commission to administer substance abuse services in the tri-county area.

Area Bank Workers Tested On Mock Robbery At Seminar

A robbery demonstration was a feature of a bank security seminar attended by more than 150 employees of banks in southwestern Michigan this week at Lake Michigan college.

The seminar was sponsored by Farmers and Merchants National bank and Inter-City bank in cooperation with the law enforcement training division of LMC.

The robbery demonstration was staged by Dets. Robert Massengale and Thomas Schadler of the Benton Harbor police department. People at the seminar then took an identification quiz on descriptions of the "bandits," and their method of operation.

Quiz answers were then compared with the "facts."

Guest speaker was Walter VonStraat, retired state police lieutenant and presently examiner of questioned documents for the Michigan Department of Social Services.

A film, "The Bank Robber and You," was shown. It was produced for security training by the Michigan Bankers association.

Co-chairmen of the seminar were Mrs. Sue Farmer, director of public relations for F&M, and Ralph Stanley, ICB security officer. Lt. Michael Devine represented LMC. It was the fifth annual seminar presented by F&M and ICB. Employees of other banks attending were from Peoples State, St. Joseph, First National of Southwestern Michigan, Niles, Community, Dowagiac, West Michigan State, Bangor, First National, Watervliet, Bank of Three Oaks, and Niles National Bank & Trust Co.

Second Republican Joins Race For Coloma Township Board

COLOMA — A second candidate for a two-year trustee post on the Coloma township board has filed for election.

Jacob Thar, of 4975 Red Arrow highway, Coloma, filed for the Republican nomination with Township Clerk John Ferris. Last week, another Republican candidate, William Kennedy, filed petitions for the same post. If neither withdraws, there will be a primary contest for the GOP nomination.

Thar, 37, is a general mechanic at the Clark Equipment company, Benton Harbor, and seeks public office for the first time.

children.

Both Thar and Kennedy seek the remaining two-year term of a four-year term of former Trustee John Ferris, who was appointed township clerk last November.

Filing deadline for all township offices is 4 p.m., Tuesday, June 1, at the township clerk's office.

Phillies Hand Seaver Another Loss Thornton Rips Cubs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
MONTREAL (AP) — Andre Thornton, playing his first game for Montreal after being acquired from Chicago, drilled a two-run homer to spark the Expos to a 3-0 victory over the Cubs Thursday night.

Thornton, who came to Montreal on Monday for pitcher Steve Renko and outfielder Larry Bittner, was a first baseman for Chicago, but played right field for the first time since 1973, when he was in the minors.

Woodie Fryman, 5-2, needed eighth-inning relief help from Dale Murray. Chicago had runners on second and third with two out after singles by Jose Cardenal and Jerry Morales, plus an error when Murray took over. Murray got Bittner, a pinch-hitter, to ground out.

Fryman gave up seven hits, walked two and struck out seven in his 72-3 innings. Murray picked up his third save in completing the shutout.

The Expos scored their final run in the eighth on a single by Tim Foli after Larry Parrish walked and stolen second.

Hey, Tom Seaver, where's that Cy Young-winning form?

"I'm just not being aggressive enough," says the righthander.

Seaver's lack of aggression is making pacifists out of the New York Mets. The high-salaried right-hander has lost three straight games, including Thursday's 5-3 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Since Seaver has turned from hawk to dove, the Mets have been tailing off — losing seven of their last nine decisions.

The Phillies even teed off on Seaver's best pitches. Mike Schmidt hit a strong Seaver curve ball over the fence.

"It was a good curve ball, down and away," said a disconsolate Seaver, now 4-3.

In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1; the San Francisco Giants nudged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Atlanta Braves 3-2.

The Phillies jumped on Seaver for four runs in the first inning, two on Greg Luzinski's double, and held on to beat New York behind Jim Lonborg and Tug McGraw. Dave Kingman of the Mets also belted a home run, his 15th of the season, to keep abreast of Schmidt in the home run race.

The unbeaten Lonborg scattered nine hits in 6½ innings to pick up his sixth victory of the season. McGraw, the one-time ace of the Mets' relief corps, pitched one-hit, three-strikeout ball for the final 2½ innings to get his fourth save of the season.

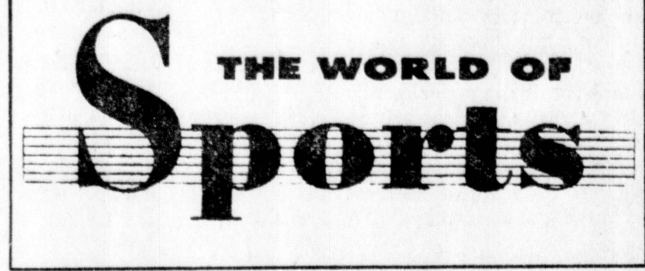

Mike Tyson's two-run single capped a four-run first inning and sent St. Louis over Pittsburgh. Right-hander John Denny, 2-2, scattered 11 Pittsburgh hits — nine singles and two doubles — in registering his first complete game of the season.

Gary Matthews' sacrifice fly in the eighth inning scored rookie Larry Herndon, giving San Francisco its victory over Cincinnati and ending the Giants' four-game losing streak. The Giants, who had lost 19 of their last 23 games, collected 17 hits, but only one was for extra bases — a double by Willie Montanez which did not figure in the scoring.

Joe Niekro and Ken Forsch combined to pitch a four-hitter and Forsch drove in the winning run with an eighth-inning single as Houston beat San Diego. Niekro went the first six innings but had to be removed from the game after he was shaken up in a home plate collision with the Padres' Willie Davis.

Forsch came on to handle the Padres over the final three innings and record his eighth save of the year. The only hit he surrendered was Dave Winfield's fifth home run of the season in the bottom of the ninth.

Steve Garvey lined a single to left with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning, scoring Bill Buckner from second base and giving Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. The Dodgers' third straight triumph and eighth in their last 10 games moved them 1½ games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League West.

Promotional Firm On Shaky Ground Deal Worked Out For Fight

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer
MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — The figures are usually millions when Muhammad Ali boxes, but the German promotional firm whose financial unsoundness almost led to the cancellation of Ali's fight Tuesday with Richard Dunn of England was born only three months ago with a declared capital of $8,000.

It took the same firm — Promot, GMBH — only $150,000 dollars in "up front" cash a month later to convince Herbert Muhammad, Ali's manager, to go ahead with plans for the fight here, an informed source said.

"The money was an unusually small amount for this kind of thing," the source went on, "but Herbert took it. It got him in with people he knew nothing about, but the feeling was that if it's German it's probably solid."

On Thursday, the solidity of the deal had crumbled to the point where Robert Arum, the American co-promoter who sold the Ali-Dunn package to the National Broadcasting Company, said the fight was close to collapse because the Germans had not come up with $225,000 due Ali.

The sources said Ali and Herbert Muhammad had the choice of keeping the $150,000 in cash and foregoing the rest of their $1.65 million purse or waiving a part of the money owed them.

Eventually, a deal was worked out in which the outstanding sum, equivalent to the amount Ali was estimated to have to pay in German taxes, was reduced to $160,000 after consultation with German tax officials. Promot signed a statement that it would pay the money and Ali was left about $65,000 short.

"It would not have hurt me none to go home," Ali said, possibly thinking that the $1.65 million seemed insignificant alongside the $6 million he stands to gain boxing against the Japanese wrestler in Tokyo next month and the $9 million he'll get for fighting Ken Norton in Yankee Stadium in September.

The important thing in Munich, Ali said, was that "I got into $20 million condition

Ali's German bedfellows are nearly invisible. Walter Settele, a tax accountant who negotiated for Promot, has said its backers are people who prefer to stay out of the limelight.

Uli Kaiser, a German newspaperman hired to promote the fight, said he was employed by an intermediary who told him on three occasions that it could not say who the fight backers were.

The intermediary, a public relations firm specializing in sports, dropped Promot on Wednesday when it said it received only half its fees.

Bell Named Top Athlete

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Tailback Gordon Bell, who out-gained Ohio State's Archie Griffin in the Big Ten last football season with 1,388 yards rushing, has been named the University of Michigan's senior athlete of the year.

Bell won out over captain Wayne Britt of the basketball team and Dick Walterhouse of the baseball team.

The award, from the Undergraduate M Club, was presented at a banquet Wednesday. Michigan coaches from various sports also were honored.

Bell, of Troy, Ohio, has been drafted by the New York Giants of the National Football League. He scored 14 touchdowns last season has 29 in his career. He rushed for 2,600 career yards, second best in Wolverine history.

Chief Grid Coach Quits

DOWAGIAC — Lou Famiano, Dowagiac's football coach for the past three years, has taken the head football job at LaPorte, Ind.

Famiano posted a 17-10 mark in three years at Dowagiac and never had a losing season. His 1975 team was co-Blossomland conference champions.

"It's a tremendous challenge," Famiano said. "The program at LaPorte wants to be built. It's dying to be built. They gave me a real nice package money wise, quite a bit more than I'm making here."

"I feel I gave Dowagiac three solid years and now it's time to move on to a new challenge."

Yaz Lets Bat Do Hitting

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Carl Yastrzemski had his hands up, but he did his hitting with a bat and left the punching to others.

After a bench-clearing sixth-inning brawl that featured Boston's Carlton Fisk and Bill Lee against New York's Lou Piniella and Craig Nettles, Yastrzemski went to work. He slammed a tie-breaking two-run homer in the eighth inning and another two-run shot in the ninth as the Red Sox waltzed to an 8-2 victory over the Yankees Thursday night.

Coupled with the three home runs Yaz walloped against Detroit one night earlier, it gave him a major league record-tying five in two games. It was the first such feat in the American League since New York's Tony Lazzeri did it 40 years ago.

According to Yastrzemski, it also woke the Red Sox up.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City Royals whipped the Oakland A's 8-4, the California Angels downed the Texas Rangers 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox edged the Minnesota Twins 3-2. Baltimore, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

Baserunner Piniella and catcher Fisk battled to a draw after a collision at the plate, although Piniella suffered an injury to his right ring finger and went for X rays. Nettles, however, emerged with a clean decision over Lee and the Red Sox left-hander suffered a serious injury to his pitching shoulder that will sideline him indefinitely.

Triples by Fred Patek and George Brett keyed a five-run seventh inning as Kansas City whipped Oakland and plunged the A's seven games behind the Royals in the American League West.

West.

The A's took a 4-2 lead in the top of the seventh on Don Baylor's second solo home run of the game and Phil Garner's RBI double. The Royals then batted around.

Andy Etchebarren's two-run double capped a three-run eighth inning that propelled California over Texas. The Rangers had rallied from an early 3-0 deficit to tie the game but Rusty Torres walked and Bobby Bonds singled for the third time to open the eighth before Bruce Bochte singled home Torres.

Texas starter Gaylord Perry was replaced by Steve Foucault, who gave up a sacrifice before issuing an intentional pass to load the bases. Etchebarren's double drove home the final two runs.

Rich Coggins, Chet Lemon and Jack Brohamer each drove in a run and Rich Gossage scattered seven hits to lead the Chicago White Sox to victory.

Gossage, 2-3, hurled his fourth complete game. Both triumphs have come against the Twins.

He held a 3-1 lead going into the seventh inning, then Dan Ford doubled and scored on a pinch-single by Tony Oliva to close the gap.

The victory was third straight for the White Sox and their fourth in the last five games.

Bo's Surgery Called Success

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler was reported doing "as well as possible" following six hours of open heart surgery Thursday, hospital officials say.

Surgeons at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor completed four coronary bypasses on the 47-year-old Schembechler. The surgery bypasses blocked coronary arteries and increases the supply of blood to the heart.

Attending physicians called the operation "very successful."

Following the surgery, a hospital spokeswoman said Schembechler was "in surgical intensive care and doing as well as possible. The initial post-operative stages are successful."

Doctors say the normal risk period and the period of the most discomfort for such operations are usually the first 72 hours.

Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham, who was at the hospital with Schembechler's wife and mother, said the coach would probably remain hospitalized for 10 or 12 days. Schembechler had been told the recovery period would be approximately six weeks.

"The operation started a little after eight in the morning and he was out of the operating room about two in the afternoon," Canham said. "The doctor I talked to said it was a very successful operation and a very necessary operation."

"The doctors had it diagnosed correctly. He did have the blockage that Dr. (Rudy) Reichert said he had from the very beginning."

EMU Takes Shaky MAC Track Lead

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan's regular season dual rout of Eastern Michigan, both coaches agree, could play a large role in settling the Mid-American Conference track title Saturday.

"It's tremendous for us," said Western Michigan Coach Jack Shaw of the 96-67 win. "Our kids are beginning to believe. They don't hold them in awe like they used to."

Bob Parks, the Eastern Michigan mentor, agreed, conceding, "I'm not sure our kids believe they can win it after getting beaten that badly."

Then Parks turned optimistic with: "If all three teams (Western, Eastern and defending champion Kent State) run absolutely super performances, we will win it."

Still, Eastern Michigan piled up 13 points in Thursday's only final, the six-mile run. Western Michigan was third with six points, two behind Bowling Green. Kent State failed to score.

To Shaw, that was a moral victory. "Eastern already started to screw up. I figured them for a while lot more points than they got. And I figured us for two," he said.

Dave Smith kept his six-mile title for Eastern, but his time of 20 minutes, 20.3 seconds was considerably under his 1975 MAC record of 23:30.2.

Tim Zimbaugh of Bowling Green rallied for second place in 23:32.2. Ted Furrer of Western Michigan took third in 24:37.2.

Heading into today's final five decathlon events, favored Jim Howell of Ball State owned a 3,560-3,495 point lead over Herb Davis of Miami. Dale DeBruin of Western Michigan, the 1975 champion, was in contention, third with 3,497 points.

In tennis, Miami took its first step toward its third successive team title although the Redskins shared the early lead with Toledo. Both had 10 points, two more than Bowling Green and Ohio University.

However, the Redskins moved five of six singles players into today's semifinals, headed by No. 1 division choice, Steve Kendall.

Kendall, a junior from Short Hills, N.J., won the No. 3 title the last two years. He eliminated Gary Scher of Kent State 6-1, 6-2 in his lone test Thursday.

Tony Lamerato of Western Michigan, ruler of No. 1 singles in 1974 and 1975, breezed by Steve Navarro of Ohio University 6-2, 6-2. Lamerato lost a regular season match to Kendall and is second seeded.

The 72-hole golf tournament resumed with the third round over Hueston Wood's par-72, 7,200-yard layout. Northern Illinois was in command with a leading midway total of 749 to 754 for Western Michigan.

The Huskies' 1975 medalist, Mick Solt, owned a five-shot bulge over Mike Hurley of Western Michigan. Solt had 137, Hurley 142.

Competition in the three sports runs through Saturday.

Cardinals Stay Atop SAC Race

Darkness helped Bloomingdale hold on to the Southwestern Athletic conference baseball lead Thursday afternoon.

The Cardinals topped host Martin 5-1 in the first game of a doubleheader but the second contest was suspended in the ninth inning because of darkness, tied at 2-2.

In other conference games, Decatur remained in second place with a 7-3 win over Marietta at the Raiders' field and Golbes beat Lawton 7-4 at Lawton.

Bloomingdale scored five unearned runs in the third inning to overcome a 2-0 deficit. The Clippers, now 5-3 in the SAC, pitched a pair of runs in the seventh and had the tying and winning runs on base but Tim Hult struck out Robert Mandenberg and cut down John Yendeville who was attempting to steal home.

Pat Barnes tossed a six-hitter and got the win for the Cards, now 8-1 in the conference. Russ Jarvis took the loss.

The second game will not be finished unless the league championship is involved. Hult is the pitcher of record for the Cards and Jerry Curry went all nine innings for Martin.

Winning pitcher Jim Overley and Kurt Wiese combined for a five-hitter, striking out 12 and walking three, for the Raiders. Al Kent took the loss.

Wiese, who is now batting .300, had a pair of singles and Mike High drove in two Raiders runs with a single and a triple. Decatur is now 11-2 overall.

Pat Walburn cracked a two-run homer to help Golbes up its league mark to 4-7. Teammate Brian Clement went three-for-four, all the hits being singles.

The Tigers scored three runs in the first inning and put the contest away with three tallies in the fourth stanza.

Hull's Late Goal Keys Jet Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Winnipeg emerged from an 18-day hibernation Thursday night to beat Houston in the first game of their World Hockey Association championship series but the Jets' Anders Hedberg say the game could have gone either way.

"They could have scored the winning goal just as easy as we could," said Hedberg, who scored two goals in the Jets' pulsating 4-1 victory over the defending WHA World Cup champions.

"It was a good close hockey game. We just managed to score at the right time."

Hedberg meant that the Jets' Bobby Hull scored at the right time.

"The Aeros had surged back to tie the game at 3-3 at 46 seconds of the final period and the game appeared headed for overtime when Hull took the puck after a faceoff in the Aeros' end and blasted home the clincher at 16:43.

"The victory gives the Jets a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with the second game scheduled here Sunday. Games Three and Four will be in Winnipeg Tuesday and Thursday.

"I got the faceoff from Alf (Nilsson) on the right side and I got it off quickly," Hull said of his winning shot. "It wasn't a hard shot but (Aeros goalie Ron Grahame) had trouble with it for some reason."

Watervliet Posts Win

HARTFORD — Spurred by a triple play, Watervliet moved into second place in the Red Arrow baseball race Thursday with a 5-1 win over Hartford here.

Second baseman Mike Marvin turned in the fielding gem in the first inning. With Jim Paskel on third and Dave Gailhouse on second, Gary Fernham hit a line drive which appeared to be headed up the middle for a hit. Marvin made a backhanded stab of the ball, step on second to double up Gailhouse and then threw to third to complete the triple play.

Rick Sawyer and winning pitcher Rick Sabadin belted home runs for Watervliet, which upped its league record to 4-1 and overall mark to 11-5.

Dave Gailhouse slugged a homer and Dave Sexton added a two-run double for Hartford, now 4-5 in Red Arrow play and 4-9 overall.

Andretti To Challenge Top Speed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mario Andretti is expected to challenge Johnny Rutherford's pole position-winning speed of 188.567 miles an hour when the final weekend of qualification for the May 30 Indianapolis 500 begins Saturday morning.

Janet Guthrie, meanwhile, seemed almost in need of a miracle to get her speed up within reasonable striking distance for a spot in the 35-car lineup.

Andretti, with a reputation as an outstanding qualifier, has already topped 188 m.p.h. in practice in his McLaren and has consistently been the fastest of the two dozen or so cars still hoping to fight their way into the lineup in trials Saturday and Sunday.

"It's fun to run for the pole and have the fastest car," Andretti said after turning in the quickest practice run Thursday. "But I had a commitment to Formula 1 last weekend, so I'm just going to have to be satisfied with getting in the field and doing well in the race."

"If this was the first weekend of qualifying, I would really hang it out and go for the pole. But now it doesn't mean anything, except maybe in your pride. We'll just have to see what happens. I'll do what is comfortable, without taking unnecessary chances — with myself or the equipment."

Andretti said the extra week of practice, which he might not have gotten if he had qualified the first weekend, has resulted in some discoveries that may help build even more speed.

"I feel like I'll be able to race real hard in the race itself," Andretti added. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Andretti set the pace Thursday with a top speed of 186.529 m.p.h., which he said was not a "flat out" lap.

Miss Guthrie managed only 168.094 m.p.h. and had various minor problems.

Hartford Woman Stars

Laury Ward Keys MSU To National Title

EAST LANSING — Laury Ward of Hartford played a key role in helping Michigan State capture the national championship in the Women's College Softball World Series last weekend at Omaha, Neb.

Laury, a senior at MSU, got the winning hit for the Spartans in their 3-0 win over Northern Colorado Sunday in the championship game.

With the game scoreless in the sixth, Laury punched a two-out, bases-loaded single to drive in two runs. MSU added another run in the inning for the final margin.

The Spartans finished 5-0 in the double-elimination tourney with Laury collecting five hits in 13 plate appearances.

"I was really excited about the winning the title," exclaimed Laury, the starting left-fielder. "I guess it's the first championship for women's athletics at State. And like it's the first national championship for MSU in a long time."

Laury ended with a .350 batting average for the season as MSU posted a 24-4 overall mark while winning the Michigan Women's softball conference crown.

Laury has played three years for the Spartans, missing only her freshman year when she was cut from the team.

"As a freshman I didn't have that much experience and the competition was really good," stated Laury. "But I practiced hard and made the team the next year."

Laury has one year of eligibility left and plans to play again next year.

Laury, who got interested in softball by playing baseball with her older brothers Ron and Rick, competed for Hartford high school as a senior but played only about three games as girls' softball was just getting started.

She is a real baseball fan and she had the thrill of meeting former Tiger star Al Kaline at Tiger Stadium when she was a senior at Hartford.

Laury is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward of Hartford.

Vanderbush Blanks Brandywine

Bucks Capture Crown

Buchanan coach Don Hecklinski believes his baseball team is just beginning to reach its peak.

And Thursday night the Bucks may have done just that. Combining the brilliant four-hit pitching of Walt Vanderbush with sparkling defense and timely hitting, Buchanan clinched its second straight Blossomland baseball title with a 6-0 win over Brandywine.

The win, the Bucks' eighth straight, upped Buchanan's league mark to 12-1 and overall record to 14-6. Not even River Valley, which boasts a 10-3 slate after a 9-2 win Thursday over Cassopolis, can catch the Bucks.

In Thursday's other two Blossomland games, Lakeshore got by Edwardsburg 5-1 and Dowagiac nipped Coloma 4-2.

"It was our best defensive game all year," Hecklinski beamed. "Pitching wise, fielding and offensively, we're just starting to peak. The kids are starting to perform."

Hecklinski was especially pleased with the work of Walt Vanderbush, who raised his league record to 8-0.

"Walt is consistently getting the ball over the plate," he said. "He's become a total pitcher and now is also becoming consistent."

Vanderbush fanned 12 and walked just two in his dazzling performance. The senior righthander has now struck out 113 batters in 54 league innings.

Celts Don't Scare Suns

NBA Title Series Starts Sunday

PHOENIX (AP) — Phoenix Coach John MacLeod says his Suns aren't scared of big, bad Boston, even though the Celtics have been National Basketball Association champions a dozen times.

"I don't think our players will be awed," MacLeod said. "They have a lot of respect for Boston — we all do — but our guys feel we have a good ball club."

"And they realize the importance of staying with what we've been doing the last month and a half or so."

The Suns scheduled a brief shooting workout today before heading for Boston, where the opening game of their best-of-seven NBA championship series will be played Sunday. Game Two also will be in Boston, next Thursday, before the teams come here for Games Three and Four May 30 and June 2.

The upstart Suns, who stunned defending champion Golden State in their Western Conference playoff series, are counting on their bench to help them against the Celtics, especially forward Keith Erickson, guard Dick Van Arsdale and center Dennis Awtry.

"When Boston goes to its bench, it has to come in with inexperience for the most part," said Phoenix assistant coach Al Bianchi.

"When we go to our bench, we come in with an 11-year veteran in Van Arsdale, an Erickson (11-year veteran), an Awtry (six-year veteran)."

Phoenix was beaten four times in four games with the Celtics during the regular season. Boston won 114-100 and 122-102 at home, and took the Suns 112-106 and 109-108 in Phoenix. MacLeod doesn't expect any new twists from Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn.

"I know they'll press us full-court with their guards, and their forwards will be pressing," MacLeod said. "It'll be a matter of our being patient and not allowing Boston to dictate the pace of the game."

Blaney Files For Another Term

FRANK BLANEY
Seeks re-election

PAW PAW — Veteran Van Buren county Register of Deeds Frank Blaney announced today he will seek re-election.

Blaney, 77, a Republican, has held the post since 1948.

"If I am nominated and re-elected, I promise the people the same efficient, courteous, friendly service I have rendered in the past," he said.

Blaney served two terms on the Covert school board in the late 1940's and is a member of the Congregational church and Masonic Lodge in Covert. He is also secretary of the Sault Trail chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Blaney and his wife, Marjorie, live at route 1, Lawton. They have two married daughters.

JAMES W. NARREGAN
Has two objectives

Decaturite Vies For Prosecutor

DECATUR — James W. Narregan of Decatur has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Van Buren county prosecuting attorney.

Narregan, 34, is a life resident of Van Buren county, and is currently assistant Kalamazoo county prosecuting attorney.

Narregan, a Decatur high school graduate, earned a bachelor of science degree from Ferris State college, and received his law degree from Detroit College of Law. He taught chemistry at Paw Paw high school from 1955 to 1958.

From 1960 to 1968, Narregan served in the U.S. Army as a captain in the Green Berets. During a tour of duty in Vietnam, Narregan said he received numerous awards and decorations, including the Combat Infantry badge, three Bronze Stars, and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry.

Currently, he is assistant director of the Priority Prosecution program in Kalamazoo county. This federally funded program is designed to identify and place in priority the prosecution of the county's hard core criminal element. It is one of only thirteen such programs in the United States, he said.

Narregan lives at 440 Austin boulevard in Decatur. He is a bachelor. In announcing his candidacy, Narregan identified two major objectives of his campaign:

"In Van Buren county there is a backlog of over 200 cases awaiting trial. This figure is indicative of the dramatic increase in the county's felony rate and obviously the only long-range solution to the problem is another circuit court judge and additional prosecutorial staff to cope with this ever increasing caseload.

"However, it is imperative that each of these pending cases be evaluated and the most serious cases made a priority so that habitual offenders and those charged with violent crimes do not escape their day in court for lack of speedy trial or other due process considerations."

Narregan added he intends to target the illicit drug traffic in Van Buren county.

"My single biggest concern is the drug traffic in Michigan which seems to be permeating our streets and school systems in the smaller rural areas such as Van Buren county."

"It is no longer a 'big city' problem."

Paw Paw Lake Weed Control Bidders Are Only $350 Apart

COLOMA — Two bids within $350 of each other for weed control of Paw Paw lake this summer were opened yesterday by the Paw Paw Lake Improvement board.

One bid ($32,385) by Pinecrest Industries, Galien, was for chemical treatment of the lake and the other bid ($32,724) by Bertuca Contractors Ltd., Coloma, was for cutting and harvesting of the weeds.

Back in April, Pinecrest bid $58,900 for the job and Bertuca $30,000 on different specifications.

The new bids, under different specifications, for treatment of 281 acres of the 1,000-plus-acre lake are to be reviewed by Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, prior to the association's awarding of a contract. That decision could come Monday, May 24, at 3 p.m. during an association meeting at the Coloma township hall.

Under the new specifications, according to a Barger Engineering spokesman, weed control in the lake for the summer will be the total responsibility of the contractor, no matter how many treatments are needed.

The Barger spokesman said that Pinecrest's initial bid was for two full treatments. Under the new specifications, one treatment would be required, plus any other treatments that are needed on portions of the 281-acres of the lake containing weeds.

Last month three bids were rejected by the lake board, and specifications were redrawn to include the Bertuca's "weed harvesting" method. Modern Aquatic Weed Control, Grand Rapids, did not re-submit a bid. Robert Jackson, lakeboard chairman, said the new bids were "well within what the board's estimated cost of the project should run."

He said hopefully the contract can be awarded at Monday's meeting so weed removal can begin by June 1.

Cutting Health Care Costs

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers has announced plans for a joint experimental program with the Big Three automakers and Blue Cross-Blue Shield which could cut health care costs by up to 25 per cent. UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone said the experimental program would involve obtaining a second doctor's opinion on elective surgery. The program would involve reviewing the need for surgery, the cost and the length of hospitalization. Bluestone said the auto companies would pay for the second doctor's opinion. The auto makers have indicated the cost of health care will be a key issue during this summer's contract talks. Spokesmen for the firms said they were all working on developing the project. "If we join together, we can get reduction in the inflationary trend of health care without putting more of a burden on the worker," Bluestone said. He said a similar program on the East Coast resulted in reductions of between 11 and 25 per cent in the cost of elective surgery.

Gnodtke Files For Drain Post

CARL F. GNODTKE
Announces candidacy

Incumbent Carl F. Gnodtke has announced his candidacy for Berrien county drain commissioner on the Republican ticket.

Gnodtke, 40, of Sawyer, was appointed earlier this year to fill the unexpired term of former Drain Commissioner Harry Nye, who died Jan. 1 while working on a tractor at the Nye residence.

Gnodtke served as a county commissioner for seven years, four of them as chairman of the committee on drains. He's a Berrien county native, and has served on the Wessau township board of trustees, the township's zoning board of appeals, and is a former director of the Galien River Soil Conservation district.

He is married and has five children.

The House Refused

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House refused Thursday to consider a spending bill for the departments of State Police and Military Affairs that is $6 million over the governor's proposal. The House voted against adopting a House Appropriations Committee substitute for the original budget bill introduced on Gov. William Milliken's behalf. Milliken originally asked for a total general fund appropriation of $71.9 million for the two departments, compared to $77.9 million from the general fund recommended in the House substitute.

Garbage Tax Clears House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to help financially troubled Detroit get an extra $15 million was sent to the Senate Thursday.

The House voted 80-18 against reconsidering its approval of a bill allowing the city to levy a three-mill property tax to pay for garbage collection and disposal.

GUERRILLAS KILL 6 BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Communist guerrillas killed six Thai policemen in an ambush on the border with Laos.

In 1973, Jack Horn insured his house with State Farm for $40,000.

In 1975, when the Omaha tornado blew it away, State Farm paid him $52,200.

In just two years, State Farm's automatic inflation coverage meant an additional $12,200 to help him rebuild at today's prices.

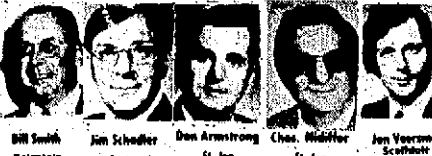

State Farm's automatic inflation coverage means that the price of labor and building materials had been going up. But in the aftermath of the tornado—when the cost of rebuilding was so high—Jack's house had gone up 30% in two years. I couldn't believe it.

Fortunately, I had the Inflation Coverage feature added to my policy. It automatically adjusts my coverage to keep pace with the rising cost of labor and materials. So when the time came to rebuild, I found I had the extra $12,200 I needed to get my house back to the way it was before the tornado.

State Farm's automatic inflation coverage is a feature that automatically adjusts your coverage to keep pace with the rising cost of labor and materials. So when the time comes to rebuild, you'll have the extra money you need to get your house back to the way it was before the disaster.

EMU Takes Shaky MAC Track Lead

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan's regular season dual rout of Eastern Michigan, both coaches agree, could play a large role in settling the Mid-American Conference track title Saturday.

"It's tremendous for us," said Western Michigan Coach Jack Shaw of the 96-67 walloping. "Our kids are beginning to believe. They don't hold them in awe like they used to."

Bob Parks, the Eastern Michigan mentor, agreed, conceding, "I'm not sure our kids believe they can win it after getting beaten that badly."

Then Parks turned optimistic with: "If all three teams (Western, Eastern and defending champion Kent State) run absolutely super performances, we will win it."

Still, Eastern Michigan piled up 13 points in Thursday's only final, the six-mile run. Western Michigan was third with six points, two behind Bowling Green. Kent State failed to score.

To Shaw, that was a moral victory. "Eastern already started to screw up. I figured them for a whole lot more points than they got. And I figured us for two," he said.

Dave Smith kept his six-mile title for Eastern, but his time of 29 minutes, 20.3 seconds was considerably under his 1975 MAC record of 28:30.2.

Tim Zimbaugh of Bowling Green rallied for second place in 29:32.2. Ted Farmer of Western Michigan took third in 29:37.2.

Heading into today's final five decathlon events, favored Jim Howell of Ball State owned a 3,566-3,495 point lead over Herb Davis of Miami. Dale DeBruin of Western Michigan, the 1975 champion, was in contention, third with 3,487 points.

In tennis, Miami took its first step toward its third successive team title although the Redskins shared the early lead with Toledo. Both had 10 points, two more than Bowling Green and Ohio University.

However, the Redskins moved five of six singles players into today's semifinals, headed by No. 1 division choice, Steve Kendall.

Kendall, a junior from Short Hills, N.J., won the No. 3 title the last two years. He eliminated Gary Scher of Kent State 6-1, 6-2 in his lone test Thursday.

Tony Lamerato of Western Michigan, ruler of No. 1 singles in 1974 and 1975, breezed by Steve Navarro of Ohio University 6-2, 6-2. Lamerato lost a regular season match to Kendall and is second seeded.

The 72-hole golf tournament resumed with the third round over Hueston Wood's par-72, 7,200-yard layout. Northern Illinois was in command with a leading midway total of 749 to 759 for Western Michigan.

The Huskies' 1975 medalist, Mick Soli, owned a five-shot bulge over Mike Hurley of Western Michigan. Soli had 137, Hurley 142.

Competition in the three sports runs through Saturday.

Watervliet Posts Win

HARTFORD — Sparked by a triple play, Watervliet moved into second place in the Red Arrow baseball race Thursday with a 5-4 win over Hartford here.

Second baseman Mike Marvin turned in the fielding gem in the first inning. With Jim Paskel on third and Dave Gailhouse on second, Gary Fernham hit a line drive which appeared to be headed up the middle for a hit. Marvin made a backhanded stab of the ball, step on second to double up Gailhouse and then threw to third to complete the triple play.

Rick Sawyer and winning pitcher Rick Sabadin belted home runs for Watervliet, which upped its league record to 9-4 and overall mark to 11-5.

Dave Gailhouse slugged a homer and Dave Sexton added a two-run double for Hartford, now 4-8 in Red Arrow play and 4-9 overall.

Andretti To Challenge Top Speed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mario Andretti is expected to challenge Johnny Rutherford's pole position-winning speed of 188.957 miles an hour when the final weekend of qualification for the May 30 Indianapolis 500 begins Saturday morning.

Janet Guthrie, meanwhile, seemed almost in need of a miracle to get her speed up within reasonable striking distance for a spot in the 33-car lineup.

Andretti, with a reputation as an outstanding qualifier, has already topped 188 m.p.h. in practice in his McLaren and has consistently been the fastest of the two dozen or so cars still hoping to fight their way into the lineup in trials Saturday and Sunday.

"It's fun to run for the pole and have the fastest car," Andretti said after turning in the quickest practice run Thursday. "But I had a commitment to Formula 1 last weekend, so I'm just going to have to be satisfied with getting in the field and doing well in the race.

"If this was the first weekend of qualifying, I would really hang it out and go for the pole. But now it doesn't mean anything, except maybe to your pride. We'll just have to see what happens. I'll do what is comfortable, without taking unnecessary chances — with myself or the equipment."

Andretti said the extra week of practice, which he might not have gotten if he had qualified the first weekend, has resulted in some discoveries that may help build even more speed.

"I feel like I'll be able to race real hard in the race itself," Andretti added. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Andretti set the pace Thursday with a top speed of 185.529 m.p.h., which he said was not a "flat out" lap.

Miss Guthrie managed only 168.004 m.p.h. and had various minor problems.

Cardinals Stay Atop SAC Race

Darkness helped Bloomingdale hold on to the Southwestern Athletic conference baseball lead Thursday afternoon.

The Cardinals topped host Martin 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader but the second contest was suspended in the ninth inning because of darkness, tied at 2-2.

In other conference games, Decatur remained in second place with a 7-3 win over Marcellus at the Raiders' field and Gobles beat Lawton 7-4 at Lawton.

Pat Barnes tossed a six-hitter and got the win for the Cards, now 8-1 in the conference. Russ Jarvis took the loss.

The second game will not be finished unless the league championship is involved. Hoyt is the pitcher of record for the Cards and Jerry Curry went all nine innings for Martin.

Winning pitcher Jim Overley and Kurt Wiese combined for a five-hitter, striking out 12 and walking three, for the Raiders. Al Kent took the loss.

Wiese, who is now batting .500, had a pair of singles and Mike High drove in two Raider runs with a single and a triple. Decatur is now 11-2 overall.

Pat Walburn cracked a two-run homer to help Gobles up its league mark to 4-7. Teammate Brian Clement went three-for-four, all the hits being singles.

The Tigers scored three runs in the first inning and put the contest away with three tallies in the fourth stanza.

Hull's Late Goal Keys Jet Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Winnipeg emerged from an 18-day hibernation Thursday night to beat Houston in the first game of their World Hockey Association championship series but the Jets' Anders Hedberg say the game could have gone either way.

"They could have scored the winning goal just as easy as we could," said Hedberg, who scored two goals in the Jets' pulsating 4-3 victory over the defending WHA World Cup champions.

"It was a good close hockey game. We just managed to score at the right time."

The Aeros had surged back to tie the game at 3-3 at 46 seconds of the final period and the game appeared headed for overtime when Hull took the puck after a faceoff in the Aeros' end and blasted home the clincher at 16:43.

The victory gives the Jets a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with the second game scheduled here Sunday. Games Three and Four will be in Winnipeg Tuesday and Thursday.

"I got the faceoff from Ulf (Nilsson) on the right side and I got it off quickly," Hull said of his winning shot. "It wasn't a hard shot but (Aeros goalie Ron) Grahame had trouble with it for some reason."

Run Of Problems Causes Cherry Tree Shortage

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

The shortage of Montmorency cherry trees can be traced to "a run of problems" facing nurserymen and the effects of mechanical harvesting, Nurseryman Wally Heuser says.

The owner of Hilltop Orchards and Nurseries said this week that he has had trouble filling the demand for Montmorency trees for five years.

Nurserymen will eventually catch up and meet the strong demand, but Heuser doesn't know when.

The current shortage is untimely for Hart-Shelby tart growers, who are suffering the effects of an ice storm that broke down tart trees, Heuser noted.

"Several years ago you couldn't give away tart cherry trees," he said, "and then cherry shaking came along." Shaking caught on because some farmers preferred machines to harvest workers, he explained.

After a few years, it became apparent that shaking was causing damage to tart trees, shortening tree life. Growers then started new tart plantings, and the demand that has yet to be filled was created, said Heuser. Coincidentally, the nation's seedling growers in Oregon and Washington went through a number of poor seasons when "very bad stands" were grown, the Hartford nurseryman continued. Nurserymen got fewer tart seedlings than they wanted.

And nurserymen around the country had labor problems, so that when the Western-grown seedlings were budied at individual nurseries, fewer of the grafts took, said Heuser.

Heuser said that the percentage of grafts that take is a mirror of the quality of the workers. That percentage has been going down, he said.

Although nurserymen would like to double or triple the production of Montmorency, the problems that Heuser mentioned prohibit it, he said.

Grafting has to be done within a 10 to 14 day period in the fall, and "you can only do so much," said Heuser, one of the largest tart tree producers in Michigan.

Commercial cherry growers have to wait one to one and a half years to receive an order of Montmorency trees, he said.

The Central Michigan growers whose orchards were badly damaged will have to push out trees and spend two or three years preparing the soil for the new trees, he noted.

U.S. Agriculture Policy Again A Debate Topic

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another round of debate is developing over U.S. agricultural policy as farmers move rapidly toward what could be record grain crops in 1976 and a potential buildup of surpluses by this time next year.

For the first time since early 1972, farmers and some of their spokesmen express fear that huge crops of wheat and corn might lead to depressed prices and another era of burdensome surpluses which plagued them so long before.

The Ford administration, led by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, is firmly committed to a "market-oriented" farm economy in which full production and thriving export markets are seen as the main ingredients.

But given good weather, the Agriculture Department sees a possibility of a significant buildup in "carryover" grain reserves by the time the 1977 harvest is ready. A wheat crop of two billion bushels and a corn harvest of 6.4 billion, for example, are possible and would mean substantially larger stockpiles a year from now.

The situation at that time, of course, could be dramatically different. Drought could hit the corn belt this summer and reduce the grain supply. Crops overseas, including those in the Soviet Union, might be short again and put another big drain on U.S. supplies.

But farmers, the grain industry, farm organizations and some members of Congress are concerned that the policies which appear to have worked fairly well the past few years are not necessarily good enough for the future.

The Congressional Budget Office, in a recent report, said the current policy set forth by the Ford administration and authorized by the Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, includes four basic goals:

— Maximum reliance on the market to allocate production resources and the flow of agricultural commodities to domestic and international markets.

— High levels of agricultural exports.

— No government-held reserves.

"Underlying these objectives is the expectation that the United States could return to a surplus position in grains if exports were not actively sought or if government price incentives encouraged excess production," the report said.

For many years prior to 1972, grain reserves were relatively large and the government was in the business of paying farmers to reduce their crops. It was a buyer's market and foreign countries knew that the U.S. supply was available when needed to fill in occasional production gaps.

But short crops in much of the world in 1972, including the Soviet Union, triggered an unprecedented period of exports. The mountains of surplus grain held by the government vanished. It was a seller's market and even Food for Peace assistance to needy countries was trimmed because the United States did not have so much to give away.

The report by the Congressional Budget Office noted other effects:

Farm income soared to record levels, particularly for grain producers who found it much more profitable to sell their commodities for cash than to feed it to animals; federal farm payments dropped sharply from $4 billion annually to about $900 million in just a few years; and the U.S. trade balance improved substantially because of the record exports.

Against those benefits, the report said, "food prices rose by over one-third between 1971 and 1974, food aid shipments were reduced to a fraction of earlier levels, and domestic commodity markets and prices became characterized by substantial instability and uncertainty."

Looking ahead, the report said that considering future trends and the likelihood that other nations will not change their farm policies much, it appears that "continuation of current policy would place the United States in a position of continuing to bear a disproportionate share of the shocks and adjustments in balancing world food supply and demand."

One of the most controversial issues involved grain reserves. As the report noted, the administration opposes having the government own large stocks. Butz speaks out consistently in favor of keeping grain in the hands of farmers and the private trade.

The report, while not endorsing or rejecting government-owned grain reserves, includes such a system among options it said might be considered.

Here are some of the report's observations:

— "Grain reserves, whether domestic or international, would probably lower total farm income more than would current policy."

— "In periods of tight supplies or strong demand, stocks would be released when prices rise beyond a specified level, retarding further price rises."

— "Though it might be possible to devise a system whereby the private sector would hold these reserves, they would probably have to be government-held or controlled. When stocks were being accumulated or released, some form of international trade intervention might be required."

Aid For Weather-Beaten Farmers

Prevented planting payments and disaster payments will be available again this year to any farmer who, because of poor planting weather, is unable to plant a crop or harvests a low yield.

The director of the Berrien office of the United States Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service, Milton Francis, said that farmers here are behind in planting because of this spring's cold, wet weather.

Farmers who cannot, because of weather, plant enough acreage to fill their ASC allotments are eligible for a prevented planting payment, Francis explained. For unplanted, allotted acreage, farmers are eligible for 76 cents a bushel of wheat, 52 cents a bushel of corn and 43 cents a bushel of barley.

Farmers who can't plant corn by June 10 have five days from that date to request the payments, Francis said.

If a farmer can change his plans and plant soybeans in the field intended for growing corn, he must wait until June 20 to seek the request, provided he couldn't get the soybeans planted. Payments will be made only on unused land — no substitute crop can be planted that season, Francis said.

Farmers who are forced to plant late, and suffer low yields, may be eligible for disaster payments in the same per-bushel amounts — 76 cents for wheat, 52 cents for corn and 43 cents for barley.

Blueberry Growers Hire Aide

JOHN SHELFORD

John Shelford, a former sales representative for an agricultural chemical company in the Northeastern United States, has been named assistant manager of the Michigan Blueberry Growers Association.

Shelford is a graduate of Cornell University with degrees in agricultural economics and business management.

He, his wife and their three children will settle in South Haven.

Farmers Urged To Finish Cost-Share Conservation Work

Cost-share agreements made under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) may be cancelled if farmers ignore completion deadlines, Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said.

Berrien received a cost-share allotment of $60,551, Francis said, of which $57,030 has been promised to operators of 129 farms.

About 125 cost-share for conservation practice requests were denied due to shortage of funds or impracticality of the practice for the farm, he added. The following requests have been approved:

Sixteen permanent seedlings on 187 acres; seven tree plantings with 5,025 trees; one timberland improvement on four acres; three farm ponds; six erosion control structures; 11 sod waterways; two open drainage ditches; 22 tile drains; 46 plantings of winter cover on 2,786 acres; 12 lining practices and three animal waste storages.

Deadlines for each farm vary, Francis said.

Grape Conversion Guide Published

A 20-page booklet that shows how vineyards can be converted to other varieties without losing any production time has been published by Dr. Keith Kimball, Cornell university research associate.

The "Kimball Method" of vineyard conversion was first explained to Southwestern Michigan growers at a grape meeting in December of 1974.

Kimball then said that the conversion method was based on "ridiculous little details, all of which must be followed for success," and the booklet has 35 photographs to show every detail of the plan.

He developed the technique so that growers could convert existing Concord grape vineyards to the new French hybrid wine varieties. A few Michigan growers have tried the conversion.

Titled "Converting Mature Vineyards to Other Varieties," it costs $1 and can be ordered from the New York State Agricultural Experiment station, Geneva, N.Y., 14456.

Touchdown Was Timely

CENTERVILLE, Wis. (AP) — The pilot of a light aircraft made an emergency landing on a western Wisconsin farm Thursday night, moments before the craft burst aflame and exploded. The Piper Cub plane was piloted by Jack Harkness, Alto, Mich., and carried two unidentified passengers. Authorities said Harkness reported the engine was running roughly and smoke was trailing from the ship before he set it down about 8 p.m. on the Wendell Hilton farm about 1 1/2 miles from Centerville. Harkness and his passengers escaped injury. The trio was enroute from Flint, Mich., to Minneapolis when the mechanical difficulties developed.

Gnodtke Files For Drain Post

CARL F. GNODTKE
Announces candidacy

Incumbent Carl F. Gnodtke has announced his candidacy for Berrien county drain commissioner on the Republican ticket.

Gnodtke, 40, of Sawyer, was appointed earlier this year to fill the unexpired term of former Drain Commissioner Harry Nye, who died Jan. 1 while working on a tractor at the Nye residence.

Gnodtke served as a county commissioner for seven years, four of them as chairman of the subcommittee on drains. He's a Berrien county native, and has served on the Weesaw township board of trustees, the township's zoning board of appeals, and is a former director of the Galien River Soil Conservation district.

He is married and has five children.

The House Refused

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The House refused Thursday to consider a spending bill for the departments of State Police and Military Affairs that is $6 million over the governor's proposal. The House voted against adopting a House Appropriations Committee substitute for the original budget bill introduced on Gov. William Milliken's behalf. Milliken originally asked for a total general fund appropriation of $71.9 million for the two departments, compared to $77.9 million from the general fund recommended in the House substitute.

Decaturite Vies For Prosecutor

DECATUR — James W. Narregan of Decatur has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Van Buren county prosecuting attorney. Narregan, 34, is a life resident of Van Buren county, and is currently assistant Kalamazoo county prosecuting attorney.

Narregan, a Decatur high school graduate, earned a bachelor of science degree from Ferris State college, and received his law degree from Detroit College of Law. He taught chemistry at Paw Paw high school from 1965 to 1966.

From 1966 to 1969, Narregan served in the U.S. Army as a captain in the Green Berets. During a tour of duty in Vietnam, Narregan said he received numerous awards and decorations, including the Combat Infantry badge, three Bronze Stars, and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry.

Currently, he is assistant director of the Priority Prosecution program in Kalamazoo county. This federally funded program is designed to identify and place in priority the prosecution of the county's hard core criminal element. It is one of only thirteen such programs in the United States, he said.

Narregan lives at 440 Austin boulevard in Decatur. He is a bachelor. In announcing his candidacy, Narregan identified two major objectives of his campaign:

"In Van Buren county there is a backlog of over 200 cases awaiting trial. This figure is indicative of the dramatic increase in the county's felony rate and obviously the only long-range solution to the problem is another circuit court judge and additional prosecutorial staff to cope with this ever increasing caseload.

"However, it is imperative that each of these pending cases be evaluated and the most serious cases made a priority so that habitual offenders and those charged with violent crimes do not escape their day in court for lack of speedy trial or other due process considerations."

Narregan added he intends to target the illicit drug traffic in Van Buren county.

"My single biggest concern is the drug traffic in Michigan which seems to be permeating our streets and school systems in the smaller rural areas such as Van Buren county.

"It is no longer a 'big city' problem."

Cutting Health Care Costs

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers has announced plans for a joint experimental program with the Big Three automakers and Blue Cross-Blue Shield which could cut health care costs by up to 25 per cent. UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone said the experimental program would involve obtaining a second doctor's opinion on elective surgery. The program would involve reviewing the need for surgery, the cost and the length of hospitalization. Bluestone said the auto companies would pay for the second doctors opinions. The auto makers have indicated the cost of health care will be a key issue during this summer's contract talks. Spokesmen for the firms said they were all working on developing the project. "If we join together, we can get reduction in the inflationary trend of health care without putting more of a burden on the worker," Bluestone said. He said a similar program on the East Coast resulted in reductions of between 11 and 25 per cent in the cost of elective surgery.

Paw Paw Lake Weed Control Bidders Are Only $350 Apart

COLOMA — Two bids within $350 of each other for weed control of Paw Paw lake this summer were opened yesterday by the Paw Paw Lake Improvement board.

One bid ($32,395) by Pinecrest Industries, Galien, was for chemical treatment of the lake and the other bid ($32,724) by Bertuca Contractors Ltd., Coloma, was for cutting and harvesting of the weeds.

Back in April, Pinecrest bid $58,900 for the job and Bertuca $30,000 on different specifications.

The new bids, under different specifications, for treatment of 281 acres of the 1,000-plus-acre lake are to be reviewed by Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, prior to the association's awarding of a contract. That decision could come Monday, May 24, at 3 p.m. during an association meeting at the Coloma township hall.

Under the new specifications, according to a Barger Engineering spokesman, weed control in the lake for the summer will be the total responsibility of the contractor, no matter how many treatments are needed.

The Barger spokesman said that Pinecrest's initial bid was for two full treatments. Under

Garbage Tax Clears House

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation to help financially troubled Detroit get an extra $15 million was sent to the Senate Thursday.

The House voted 80-18 against reconsidering its approval of a bill allowing the city to levy a three-mill property tax to pay for garbage collection and disposal.

GUERRILLAS KILL 6

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Communist guerrillas killed six Thai policemen in an ambush on the border with Laos.

In 1973, Jack Horn insured his house with State Farm for $40,000.

In 1975, when the Omaha tornado blew it away, State Farm paid him $52,200.

In just two years, State Farm's automatic Inflation Coverage meant an additional $12,200 to help him rebuild at today's prices.

State Farm policyholder, Jack Horn, "I knew the price of labor and building materials had been going up. But in the aftermath of the tornado—when I found that the replacement cost of my house had gone up 20% in two years, I couldn't rebuild it. Fortunately, I had the Inflation Coverage feature added onto my State Farm Homeowners Policy on the advice of my agent. At the time I had been keeping pace with the rising building costs automatically. As it turns out, the Inflation Coverage had increased my policy over $12,000 in a little over two years. I don't know where I would be without it. I guess I'd be trying to rebuild a $52,000 house with $40,000 of insurance."

Freeway Crash Ends In Arrest

A Coloma man was arrested by state police of the Benton Harbor post late Thursday on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants after an accident on I-94 near the Pipestone road interchange, Benton township.

Booked at the Berrien county jail after treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, for apparently minor injuries was Ronald Lee Marks, 36, route 1, box 161, East Center street.

Troopers said the pickup truck driven by Marks struck a guard rail at the overpass above Penn Central railroad tracks and went off the freeway about 11 p.m. No other vehicles were involved in the accident, troopers reported.

motion to dismiss the charge because it was determined to be a civil matter. The motion was granted by Hammond.

In another accident Thursday, Benton Harbor police investigated a two-car collision that resulted in an apparently minor injury to one of the drivers.

Police identified the injured driver as Eva Thompson Gorman, 27, Benton Harbor, who was released after treatment at Mercy hospital. The other driver was identified as Charles T. Griffin, 17, of 2091 Spruce lane, Stevensville. He was unhurt in the 3:10 p.m. accident and police ticketed him for disregarding a red traffic signal. The accident occurred at the intersection of Britain avenue and Broadway.

Free Tuition For Indians?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill which would provide free tuition for American Indians in Michigan's public colleges and universities is nearing final approval in the Michigan Legislature. The bill won approval in the state Senate Thursday on a vote of 31-4 and returned to the House for agreement in minor amendments. Supporters of the bill said the guarantee of free tuition for Michigan Indians would provide an incentive to finish high school. It would give them state-paid tuition in community colleges, junior colleges or universities. A student would have to be academically qualified and a resident of the state for at least 18 months to receive the grant. Sen. Gary Corbin, D-Clio, who managed the bill in the Senate, said it would only affect 50 to 80 Indian students presently. He said two-thirds of all Indians — there are roughly 30,000 in Michigan — are high school dropouts. Opponents claimed the state cannot afford the added cost of the bill — expected to be some $50,000 a year or more.

NEWS OF THE FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Covering The Greatest Diversified Fruit Producing Area In America

LOCAL-STATE
NATIONALRun Of Problems Causes
Cherry Tree ShortageBy NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

The shortage of Montmorency cherry trees can be traced to "a run of problems" facing nurserymen and the effects of mechanical harvesting, Nurseryman Wally Heuser says.

The owner of Hilltop Orchards and Nurseries said this week that he has had trouble filling the demand for Montmorency trees for five years.

Nurserymen will eventually catch up and meet the strong demand, but Heuser doesn't know when.

The current shortage is untimely for Hart-Shelby tart growers, who are suffering the effects of an ice storm that broke down tart trees, Heuser noted.

"Several years ago you couldn't give away tart cherry trees," he said, "and then cherry shaking came along." Shaking caught on because some farmers preferred machines to harvest workers, he explained.

After a few years, it became apparent that shaking was causing damage to tart trees, shortening tree life. Growers then started new tart plantings, and the demand that has yet to be filled was created, said Heuser. Coincidentally, the nation's seedling growers in Oregon and Washington went through a number of poor seasons when "very bad stands" were grown, the Hartford nurseryman continued. Nurserymen got fewer tart seedlings than they wanted.

And nurserymen around the country had labor problems, so that when the Western-grown seedlings were budded at individual nurseries, fewer of the grafts took, said Heuser.

Heuser said that the percentage of grafts that take is a mirror of the quality of the workers. That percentage has been going down, he said.

Although nurserymen would like to double or triple the production of Montmorency, the problems that Heuser mentioned prohibit it, he said.

Grafting has to be done within a 10 to 14 day period in the fall, and "you can only do so much," said Heuser, one of the largest tart tree producers in Michigan.

Commercial cherry growers have to wait one to one and a half years to receive an order of Montmorency trees, he said.

The Central Michigan growers whose orchards were

U.S. Agriculture
Policy Again A Debate TopicBy DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another round of debate is developing over U.S. agricultural policy as farmers move rapidly toward what could be record grain crops in 1976 and a potential buildup of surpluses by this time next year.

For the first time since early 1972, farmers and some of their spokesmen express fear that huge crops of wheat and corn might lead to depressed prices and another era of burdensome surpluses which plagued them so long before.

The Ford administration, led by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, is firmly committed to a "market-oriented" farm economy in which full production and thriving export markets are seen as the main ingredients.

But given good weather, the Agriculture Department sees a possibility of a significant buildup in "carryover" grain reserves by the time the 1977 harvests are ready. A wheat crop of two billion bushels and a corn harvest of 6.4 billion, for example, are possible and would mean substantially larger stockpiles a year from now.

The situation at that time, of course, could be dramatically different. Drought could hit the corn belt this summer and reduce the grain supply. Crops overseas, including those in the Soviet Union, might be short again and put another big drain on U.S. supplies.

But farmers, the grain industry, farm organizations and some members of Congress are concerned that the policies which appear to have worked fairly well the past few years are not necessarily good enough for the future.

The Congressional Budget Office, in a recent report, said the current policy set forth by the Ford administration and authorized by the Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, includes four basic goals:

- Maximum reliance on the market to allocate production resources and the flow of agricultural commodities to domestic and international markets.
- High levels of agricultural exports.
- Unrestricted production to assure adequate supplies of food and fiber for domestic and foreign users.
- No government-held reserves.

"Underlying these objectives is the expectation that the United States could return to a surplus position in grains if exports were not actively sought or if government price incentives encouraged excess production," the report said.

For many years prior to 1972, grain reserves were relatively large and the government was in the business of paying farmers to reduce their crops. It was a buyer's market and foreign countries knew that the U.S. supply was available when needed to fill in occasional production gaps.

But short crops in much of the world in 1972, including the Soviet Union, triggered an unprecedented period of exports. The mountains of surplus grain held by the government vanished. It was a seller's market and even Food for Peace assistance to needy countries was trimmed because the United States did not have so much to give away.

The report by the Congressional Budget Office noted other effects:

Farm income soared to record levels, particularly for grain producers who found it much more profitable to sell their commodities for cash than to feed it to animals; federal farm payments dropped sharply from $4 billion annually to about $600 million in just a few years; and the U.S. trade balance improved substantially because of the record exports.

Against those benefits, the report said, "food prices rose by over one-third between 1971 and 1974, food aid shipments were reduced to a fraction of earlier levels, and domestic commodity markets and prices became characterized by substantial instability and uncertainty."

Looking ahead, the report said that considering future trends and the likelihood that other nations will not change their farm policies much, it appears that "continuation of current policy would place the United States in a position of continuing to bear a disproportionate share of the shocks and adjustments in balancing world food supply and demand."

One of the most controversial issues involved grain reserves. As the report noted, the administration opposes having the government own large stocks. Butz speaks out consistently in favor of keeping grain in the hands of farmers and the private trade.

The report, while not endorsing or rejecting government-owned grain reserves, includes such a system among options it said might be considered.

Here are some of the report's observations:

- "Grain reserves, whether domestic or international, would probably lower total farm income more than would current policy."
- "In periods of tight supplies or strong demand, stocks would be released when prices rise beyond a specified level, retarding further price rises."
- "Though it might be possible to devise a system whereby the private sector would hold these reserves, they would probably have to be government-held or controlled. When stocks were being accumulated or released, some form of international trade intervention might be required."

Farmers Urged To Finish Cost-Share
Conservation Work

Cost-Share agreements made under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) may be cancelled if farmers ignore completion deadlines, Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said.

Berrien received a cost-share allocation of $60,561, Francis said, of which $57,030 has been promised to operators of 129 farms.

About 125 cost-share for conservation practice requests were denied due to shortage of funds or impracticability of the practice for the farm, he added.

The following requests have been approved:

Sixteen permanent seedings on 187 acres; seven tree plantings with 5,025 trees; one timberland improvement on four acres; three farm ponds; six erosion control structures; 11 sod waterways; two open drainage ditches; 22 tile drains; 46 plantings of winter cover on 2,786 acres; 12 liming practices and three animal waste storages.

Deadlines for each farm vary, Francis said.

Grape Conversion
Guide Published

A 20-page booklet that shows how vineyards can be converted to other varieties without losing any production time has been published by Dr. Keith Kimball, Cornell university research associate.

The "Kimball Method" of vineyard conversion was first explained to Southwestern Michigan growers at a grape meeting in December of 1974.

Kimball then said that the conversion method was based on "ridiculous little details, all of which must be followed for success," and the booklet has 35 photographs to show every detail of the plan.

He developed the technique so that growers could convert existing Concord grape vineyards to the new French hybrid wine varieties. A few Michigan growers have tried the conversion.

Titled "Converting Mature Vineyards to Other Varieties," it costs $1 and can be ordered from the New York State Agricultural Experiment station, Geneva, N.Y., 14456.

Aid For Weather-Beaten Farmers

Prevented planting payments and disaster payments will be available again this year to any farmer who, because of poor planting weather, is unable to plant a crop or harvests a low yield.

The director of the Berrien office of the United States Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service, Milton Francis, said that farmers here are behind in planting because of this spring's cold, wet weather.

Farmers who cannot, because of weather, plant enough acreage to fill their ASC allotments are eligible for a prevented planting payment, Francis explained. For unplanted, allotted acreage, farmers are eligible for 76 cents a bushel of wheat, 52 cents a bushel of corn and 43 cents a bushel of barley.

Farmers who can't plant corn by June 10 have five days from that date to request the payments, Francis said.

If a farmer can change his plans and plant soybeans in the field intended for growing corn, he must wait until June 20 to seek the request, provided he couldn't get the soybeans planted. Payments will be made only on unused land — no substitute crop can be planted that season, Francis said.

Farmers who are forced to plant late, and suffer low yields, may be eligible for disaster payments in the same per-bushel amounts — 76 cents for wheat, 52 cents for corn and 43 cents for barley.

Michigan Mink Production
Off 16 Per Cent Last Year

Mink farmers produced 114,000 pelts in Michigan during 1975, 16 per cent below 1974 production, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

In 1975 the number of Michigan mink ranches continued to decline by dropping 19 per cent from 43 to 35 ranches, the service pointed out.

Females bred to produce kits in 1976 are estimated at 30,500, a 10 per cent decline from 1975. All colors of females bred decreased, except white females which remained the same as the previous year.

In 1975 standard color pelts again comprised the majority with 27.7 per cent of the total. Pastel colors followed with 18.6 per cent of all pelts. Demi-buff, pearl and violet colors trailed with 14.9, 14.6 and 9.1 per cent of production, respectively.

Slaying Suspect Is Bound Over

A 26-year-old Benton Harbor woman was bound over from Berrien Fifth District court to circuit court yesterday on an open charge of murder in connection with the stabbing death of a man on May 9.

Also in Fifth District court yesterday four other people were bound over to circuit court, one demanded examination, 10 were sentenced and a charge was dismissed against one.

Bound over on the murder charge was Diane Theresa Torrence, 26, of 132 North Crystal avenue. She remained jailed without bond. She is charged with murder in connection with the stabbing death of James A. Roseburgh, 41, of the same address.

Also bound over to circuit court were:

Michael G. Henderson, 22, of 2015 Hatch, Benton township, on a charge of armed robbery. He remained jailed in lieu of $50,000 bond. He is accused of robbing Earl Sill of money, a gun and bullets May 8 in Benton township.

Robert J. Bilthouse, 22, and John L. Vanderra, 23, both of Wheaton, Ill., on charges of possession with intent to deliver marijuana May 7 in Stevensville. They remained free on $6,000 bond each.

Leon S. Jackson, 31, of Waukegan, Ill., on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon May 7 in Lincoln township. He waived preliminary examination and was jailed in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Demanding examination was: Oscar Beechem, 34, who listed addresses of 525 Empire, 965 McAllister, both Benton Harbor, and Houston, Texas, on a charge of insufficient funds' check over $50. He remained jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Sentenced were: Mike Morrison, 24, of Kalamazoo, $152 for disorderly person May 9 in Stevensville.

Archie C. Reeves, 24, of 790 Pipestone, Benton Harbor, 90 days in jail for fleeing a police officer Feb. 11 in Benton township.

Charlie R. Taylor, 26, of 810 Weld, Benton Harbor, $75 for assault and battery upon Sally Taylor Dec. 12 in Benton Harbor.

Jarrell W. Hart, 42, route 2, Red Arrow highway, Benton Harbor, $152 or 30 days for reckless driving May 9 in Benton township. Sentenced for the following violations were:

Impaired driving: Jerry Jardine, 24, Michigan City, Ind., (second offense), $250; Leroy D. Scharaswak, 27, Holland, $200; Harry G. Rose, 41, route 1, Date road, Baroda, $152; Allan R. Fanslau, 24, of 532 Ridgeway, St. Joseph, $100.

Use of marijuana: Marcia J. Benson, 18, route 1, Painter School road, Berrien Center, and Dennis J. Finehout, 21, of 3336 Eaman road, both $50.

A charge of larceny over $100 (airplane engine parts) at the Oseka airport, Three Oaks township, was dismissed against James R. Smith, 32, of 206 South Elm, Three Oaks. Judge John T. Hammond said the prosecutor's office made a motion to dismiss the charge because it was determined to be a civil matter. The motion was granted by Hammond.

Freeway Crash Ends In Arrest

A Coloma man was arrested by state police of the Benton Harbor post late Thursday on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants after an accident on I-94 near the Pipestone road interchange, Benton township.

Booked at the Berrien county jail after treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, for apparently minor injuries was Ronald Lee Marks, 36, route 1, box 161, East Center street.

Troopers said the pickup truck driven by Marks struck a guard rail at the overpass above Penn Central railroad tracks and went off the freeway about 11 p.m. No other vehicles were involved in the accident, troopers reported.

In another accident Thursday, Benton Harbor police investigated a two-car collision that resulted in an apparently minor injury to one of the drivers.

Police identified the injured driver as Eva Thompson Gorman, 27, Benton Harbor, who was released after treatment at Mercy hospital. The other driver was identified as Charles T. Griffin, 17, of 2091 Spruce lane, Stevensville. He was unhurt in the 3:10 p.m. accident and police ticketed him for disregarding a red traffic signal. The accident occurred at the intersection of Britain avenue and Broadway.

Free Tuition For Indians?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill which would provide free tuition for American Indians in Michigan's public colleges and universities is nearing final approval in the Michigan Legislature. The bill won approval in the state Senate Thursday on a vote of 31-4 and returned to the House for agreement in minor amendments. Supporters of the bill said the guarantee of free tuition for Michigan Indians would provide an incentive to finish high school. It would give them state-paid tuition in community colleges, junior colleges colleges or universities. A student would have to be academically qualified and a resident of the state for at least 18 months to receive the grant. Sen. Gary Corbin, D-Clio, who managed the bill in the Senate, said it would affect 50 to 80 Indian students presently. He said two-thirds of all Indians — there are roughly 30,000 in Michigan — are high school dropouts. Opponents claimed the state cannot afford the added cost of the bill — expected to be some $50,000 a year or more.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp rise in the nation's basic money supply sent stock prices generally lower today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off more than a point at the opening, and losers took a slight lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market appeared to be reacting to the sharp $2 billion rise in the basic money supply reported by the Federal Reserve as the market was closing on Thursday. There was concern that the increase could spell an impending rise in various interest rates.

Partly countering that news however, was Citibank's announcement today it is keeping its prime rate unchanged at 8 1/2 percent, the prevailing rate at the nation's commercial banks.

Also on the relatively positive side, the government reported that consumer prices rose at a 4.8 percent annual rate in April.

Among today's prices, General Motors dropped 3/4 to 70, Burroughs was off 3/4 at 99 1/4, and Digital Equipment declined 1 1/2 to 165 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 8.37 to 897.37.

Stocks rising in price outnumbered losers by a 9-5 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Consumers Aids Atom Ban Foes

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. said today it has contributed $9,000 to a committee opposing proposed curbs on nuclear generating plants in California.

A Consumers spokesman said the firm made two $4,500 cash gifts and also sent a similar letter to 3,000 to 4,000 Consumers' stockholders who live in California. It estimated the mailing cost at a bit under $1,000.

Detroit Edison said it made no cash contribution but did send material to 10,000 Edison stockholders who live in California. It said the material was made part of a regular mailing so the extra cost to the firm was only $59.28.

Observers said a number of utility companies across the nation have followed similar practices in efforts to get a vote rejecting the nuclear issue which will be on the California primary ballot June 8.

The utilities said that if the referendum passes, no additional nuclear plants could be built in California and existing plants would gradually have to close down.

A Consumers spokesman said it had joined the fight because "the fact is the entire nuclear industry is going to be affected by the fight... If they are successful out there, it is going to have a domino effect."

Consumers and Edison said in opposing the referendum that, if passed, it would put strict limits on the operation of nuclear plants.

They said similar proposals are being pushed by other groups in other states.

AAA Sales Group Sues Insurer

DETROIT (AP) — A group of salesmen filed a $20 million suit Thursday claiming the firm which handles insurance for the Automobile Club of Michigan withheld their commissions.

Eleven individual salesmen and the Michigan AAA Sales Association Inc. filed the class action suit in Wayne County Circuit Court against Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange.

The suit claims the insurance exchange "systematically and intentionally" denied commissions by altering sales territories, discriminating against certain salesmen and other practices.

The suit contends the company used bookkeeping procedures to skim off five to 10 percent of the firm's more than one million policies without paying salesmen their commissions.

According to the salesmen's attorney, Robert McWhorter, the Michigan AAA Sales Association was formed two years ago to negotiate with the exchange. McWhorter said the insurance company has refused to recognize the sales association as a representative for the salesmen.

McWhorter said he represents a majority of the association's 400 to 500 salesmen.

A spokeswoman said the Auto Club had not seen the suit and could not comment on it.

"Our business practices have always been and are geared to serve both employees, and members and insured fairly," the spokeswoman said.

Protecting Against Soaring Auto Repair Costs

We purchase nearly 10 million new private passenger cars each year at a cost of more than $25 billion. We buy about 12 million used cars each year at a cost of more than $16 billion. Our total repair and maintenance costs exceed $33 billion annually.

Also, more and more of us, concerned about high auto prices, perplexing safety regulations and other problems, are keeping our old cars longer — meaning more trips to the repair shop.

The No. 1 consumer complaint in the U.S. today is auto repairs — and understandably indeed.

To dramatize the high cost of these repairs, the American Mutual Insurance Alliance had an independent consultant compute what it would have cost to have a repair garage put together a totally demountable 1976 Chevrolet Impala using new parts, with a factory price of $4,438.20. The put-together cost: $20,770!

Nobody would pay more than $20,000 to rebuild a total wreck — and the same principle applies to less severe crashes.

If, for instance, the car were damaged 10 per cent in a crash, the repair bill would not be $443 (10 per cent of the retail price of $4,438) but more like $2,000 (10 per cent of $20,000). The result, says AMIA, is that crash damage to parts representing less than one-fourth of the car's value comes out to a "total loss." Repairs would cost more than the crash value of the car.

Other makes or models reveal a similar pattern — one more reason it costs so much to insure today's cars.

State laws outlawing unfair claims settlement practices would be one breakthrough (toward reform) — and in date, 26 states have passed legislation particularly involving personal injury claims. (Details were in yesterday's column.)

These new regulations also spell out other consumer safeguards, the AMIA says, which forbid the company to require you to travel unreasonably either to inspect any replacement vehicle or to obtain a repair estimate or to have your car repaired at a specific repair shop. Also two states — New York and New Jersey — require the insurance company to guarantee your repairs if you take your car to a shop the company recommends.

If a company engages in any of these unfair claim practices, it will be prohibited from doing business in states where the

Boys Seen Near Site Of 2 Fires

Benton Harbor firemen answered alarms twice Thursday within three hours at the same vacant apartment house and said both fires appeared to have been deliberately set.

Firemen extinguished the first fire at 448 Maple street when they were called about 10:35 a.m. Firemen reported the fire was started in a couch in the upper apartment and it spread to the ceiling and attic. A blaze reported about 1:25 p.m. brought firemen back to the house where they extinguished a large fire in the rear area.

Firemen said neighbors in the area reported seeing two boys run from the house shortly before the second fire. The vacant apartment house is owned by Lydia Boettcher and Alfred Boettcher, 664 Broadway, firemen said.

Business Tax Eyed By Panel

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 10-member joint committee working with business representatives will investigate whether the new Single Business Tax has created big winners — and big losers.

The new tax, adopted last year, replaced eight taxes with a flat 2.35 per cent tax on wages, sales and other factors.

Formation of the committee was announced Thursday. Representatives of small businesses told a public hearing earlier this month the new tax has increased their bills by as much as 1,000 per cent. They also said the tax has switched the tax burden in Michigan from big industries to small firms and partnerships.

"The small business people are upset and angry and need off. The shift from large industry to small business was too great," said state Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee. He said it's impossible to have legislation as sweeping as the Single Business Tax without inequities, and predicted it will be several years before they are removed.

"There were big winners and big losers and the big winners aren't complaining. The big losers are," he added.

Michigan Man Gets Wisconsin Investment Job

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin agency in charge of investing state employee pension funds has chosen a Detroit bank vice president as its executive director.

The Wisconsin Investment Board said Wednesday that James M. LeFleur, 38, of the National Bank of Detroit's trust division was chosen from among 100 applicants.

He would be in charge of state retirement investments worth about $3.2 billion.

Pound Dips
Then Rises

LONDON (AP) — The pound slid to a new low of 1.7862 against the U.S. dollar when foreign exchange markets opened today, but later dragged itself back to 1.7900. This still was more than 1½ cents down on Thursday night's close of 1.8060. Dealers said there was persistent selling from many overseas financial centers. One reason given for the increasing strength of the dollar against the pound was the expectation of higher interest rates in the United States following the release of figures showing a sharp rise in the U.S. money supply. London stock exchange concern that the Bank of England would have to follow suit if U.S. rates rise was reflected in early losses in government securities.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Prices Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp rise in the nation's basic money supply sent stock prices generally lower today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off more than a point at the opening, and losers took a slight lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market appeared to be reacting to the sharp, $2 billion rise in the basic money supply reported by the Federal Reserve as the market was closing on Thursday. There was concern that the increase could spell an impending rise in various interest rates.

Partly countering that news however, was Citibank's announcement as the market opened today it is keeping its prime rate unchanged at 6 1/2 per cent, the prevailing rate at the nation's commercial banks.

Also on the relatively positive side, the government reported that consumer prices rose at a 4.8 per cent annual rate in April.

Among today's prices, General Motors dropped 3/4 to 70, Burroughs was off 3/4 at 99 3/4, and Digital Equipment declined 1 1/2 to 169 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 8.37 to 997.27.

Stocks rising in price outnumbered losers by a 9-5 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Big Board volume increased to 22.56 million shares, up from 18.45 million on Wednesday.

Consumers Aids Atom Ban Foes

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. said today it has contributed $9,000 to a committee opposing proposed curbs on nuclear generating plants in California.

A Consumers' spokesman said the firm made two $4,500 cash gifts and also sent a special letter to 3,000 to 4,000 Consumers' stockholders who live in California. It estimated the mailing cost at a bit under $1,000.

Detroit Edison said it made no cash contribution but did send material to 10,000 Edison stockholders who live in California. It said the material was made part of a regular mailing so the extra cost to the firm was only $59.28.

Observers said a number of utility companies across the nation have followed similar practices in efforts to get a vote rejecting the nuclear issue which will be on the California primary ballot June 8.

The utilities said that if the referendum passes, no additional nuclear plants could be built in California and existing plants would gradually have to close down.

A Consumers spokesman said it had joined the fight because "the fact is the entire nuclear industry is going to be affected by the fight...If they are successful out there, it is going to have a domino effect."

Consumers and Edison said in opposing the referendum that, if passed, it would put strict limits on the operation of nuclear plants.

They said similar proposals are being pushed by other groups in other states.

PROTECTING AGAINST SOARING AUTO REPAIR COSTS

We purchase nearly 10 million new private passenger cars each year at a cost of more than $25 billion. We buy about 12 million used cars each year at a cost of more than $16 billion. Our total repair and maintenance costs exceed $33 billion annually.

Also, more and more of us, concerned about high auto prices, perplexing safety regulations and other problems, are keeping our old cars longer — meaning more trips to the repair shop.

The No. 1 consumer complaint in the U.S. today is auto repairs — and understandably indeed.

To dramatize the high cost of these repairs, the American Mutual Insurance Alliance had an independent consultant compute what it would have cost to have a repair garage put together a totally demolished 1976 Chevrolet Impala using new parts, with a factory price of $4,438.20. The put-together cost: $20,778!

Nobody would pay more than $20,000 to rebuild a total wreck — and the same principle applies to less severe crashes.

If, for instance, the car were damaged 10 per cent in a crash, the repair bill would not be $443 (10 per cent of the retail price of $4,438) but more like $2,000 (10 per cent of $20,000). The result, says AMIA, is that crash damage to parts representing less than one-fourth of the car's value comes out to a "total loss." Repairs would cost more than the crash value of the car.

Other makes or models reveal a similar pattern — one more reason it costs so much to insure today's cars.

State laws outlawing unfair claims settlement practices would be one breakthrough toward reform — and to date, 26 states have passed legislation particularly involving personal injury claims. (Details were in yesterday's column.)

These new regulations also spell out other consumer safeguards, the AMIA says, which forbid the company to require you to travel unreasonably either to inspect any replacement vehicle or to obtain a repair estimate or to have your car repaired at a specific repair shop. Also two states — New York and New Jersey — require the insurance company to guarantee your repairs if you take your car to a shop the company recommends.

If a company engages in any of these unfair claim practices, it will be prohibited from doing business in states where the

AAA Sales Group Sues Insurer

DETROIT (AP) — A group of salesmen filed a $20 million suit Thursday claiming the firm which handles insurance for the Automobile Club of Michigan withheld their commissions.

Eleven individual salesmen and the Michigan AAA Sales Association Inc. filed the class action suit in Wayne County Circuit Court against Detroit Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange.

The suit claims the insurance exchange "systematically and intentionally" denied commissions by altering sales territories, discriminating against certain salesmen and other practices.

The suit contends the company used bookkeeping procedures to skim off five to 10 per cent of the firm's more than one million policies without paying salesmen their commissions.

According to the salesmen's attorney, Robert McWhorter, the Michigan AAA Sales Association was formed two years ago to negotiate with the exchange. McWhorter said the insurance company has refused to recognize the sales association as a representative for the salesmen.

McWhorter said he represents a majority of the association's 400 to 600 salesmen.

A spokeswoman said the Auto Club had not seen the suit and could not comment on it.

"Our business practices have always been and are geared to serve both employees, and members and insured fairly," the spokeswoman said.

Boys Seen Near Site Of 2 Fires

Benton Harbor firemen answered alarms twice Thursday within three hours at the same vacant apartment house and said both fires appeared to have been deliberately set.

Firemen extinguished the first fire at 449 Maple street when they were called about 10:35 a.m. Firemen reported the fire was started in a couch in the upper apartment and it spread to the ceiling and attic. A blaze reported about 1:25 p.m. brought firemen back to the house where they extinguished a large fire in the roof area.

Firemen said neighbors in the area reported seeing two boys run from the house shortly before the second fire. The vacant apartment house is owned by Lydia Boettcher and Alfred Boettcher, 664 Broadway, firemen said.

Joins Amnesty Plea

MOSCOW (AP) — Physicist Andrei Sakharov, winner of the Nobel peace prize, has joined the chairman of the Moscow branch of Amnesty International in support of a group formed here last week to report on alleged violations of civil rights in the Soviet Union.

Business Tax Eyed By Panel

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 10-member joint committee working with business representatives will investigate whether the new Single Business Tax has created big winners — and big losers.

The new tax, adopted last year, replaced eight taxes with a flat 2.35 per cent tax on wages, sales and other factors.

Formation of the committee was announced Thursday. Representatives of small businesses told a public hearing earlier this month the new tax has increased their bills by as much as 1,000 per cent. They also said the tax has switched the tax burden in Michigan from big industries to small firms and partnerships.

"The small business people are upset and angry and need off. The shift from large industry to small business was too great," said state Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee. He said it's impossible to have legislation as sweeping as the Single Business Tax without inequities, and predicted it will be several years before they are removed.

"There were big winners and big losers and the big winners aren't complaining. The big losers are," he added.

Michigan Man Gets Wisconsin Investment Job

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin agency in charge of investing state employee pension funds has chosen a Detroit bank vice president as its executive director.

The Wisconsin Investment Board said Wednesday that James M. LeFleur, 38, of the National Bank of Detroit's trust division was chosen from among 100 applicants.

He would be in charge of state retirement investments worth about $3.2 billion.

Howard Serves New Summonses

For the second time in four weeks, Jesse W. Howard of Union Pier has served notice on Berrien county commissioners and other county officials that he is suing them in U.S. District court for alleged hiring practices.

The summonses which Howard served yesterday were for the same suit for which he served summonses in April. Those summonses were insufficient because a copy of the complaint was not attached to them, so defendants were not required to appear in court, according to Asst. Prosecutor John Bruha.

Complaints attached to the summonses served yesterday differ from earlier charges made by Howard.

Charges in the complaint are discrimination against blacks and people with Spanish surnames. Howard had charged earlier the discrimination was that he wasn't hired by the sheriff's department because he is black.

No monetary damages are asked in Howard's suit, but a temporary injunction is sought against discriminatory hiring practices and a recruiting program to attract minorities.

Bruha said the prosecutor's office will represent all county officials in the case.

Bruha said Howard served new summonses on County Coordinator Roger Petrie and Personnel Director Robert Little last week and that he has filed a separate suit against Berrien Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell and Undersheriff Edward Sanders, who also have been served with summonses.

He said he could not comment on the latter suit until he had an opportunity to study the complaint.

THE DOCKET Benton Man Arrested

Benton Harbor police Thursday arrested Harvey Alexander Jr., 34, of 378 Bridgman avenue, Benton township, on a warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon.

He was booked at the Berrien county jail. The warrant alleges Alexander fired a shot in the home of his estranged wife, Burnette, 121 Sherman court, Benton Harbor, last November.

Benton Harbor police investigated the theft of auto parts from a car on the lot at Ned Gates Chevrolet, Inc., 300 West Britain avenue, Wednesday. Thomas Orr, body shop manager, told police a 1970 Lincoln Continental was found jacked up and a tire, rim, hubcap and fender skirt missing. The items were valued at $93.

Benton township police said a .38 caliber pistol, valued at $100, was reported stolen Thursday from a desk at Crawford Auto Sales, 1326 Territorial road.

A Benton township man was arrested by township police late Thursday on a charge of entering a Fairplain home without permission.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Bernard Billups, 19, of 386 Clardelle drive. Police said the incident occurred about 11:30 p.m. at the residence of Sue Dragomir, 1645 Colfax avenue.

A young Benton township man and juvenile boy were arrested early today by township police on charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle, the semi-truck of Stan Truax, Holt, Mich.

Police said the incident occurred about 12:20 a.m. at the Famous X-Way Service station, 1880 East Napier avenue. Booked at the Berrien county jail was Brian Keith Penn, 18, of 1553 East Empire avenue. The 16-year-old juvenile was released to his mother pending petitioning to juvenile court. Police reported nothing was stolen from the truck.
